Segregation Poverty And Mortality In Urban African Americans:

Segregation, Poverty, and Mortality in Urban African Americans Anthony P. Polednak, 1997 This book brings together the results of several studies examining mortality rates for African Americans in selected U S urban areas in relation to both social class and the degree of black white residential segregation Regional Cultures and Mortality in America

Stephen J. Kunitz, 2015 Examines how state government policies and their historic beginnings have present day effects on their residents political lives and on population health especially for marginalized groups Brookings-Wharton Papers on Urban Affairs: 2000 William G. Gale, Janet Rothenberg Pack, 2010-12-01 Designed to reach a wide audience of scholars and policymakers the Brookings Wharton Papers on Urban Affairs 2000 is an annual series that serves as a forum for cutting edge accessible research on urban policy The editors seek to integrate broader research into the urban policy discussion by bringing urban studies scholars together with economists and researchers studying subjects with important urban implications The six papers in this inaugural volume are divided into two sections The first three assess the state of urban research and policy The others address important aspects of the urban economy education racial segregation and federal housing policies Black Women's Health Hope Landrine, Elizabeth A. Klonoff, 2014-10-13 In this special issue top researchers from a diversity of disciplines provide an overview of and insights into the major social cultural and structural variables that play a role in Black women s poor health and differential morbidity and mortality The articles focus on the major threats to Black women s health such as diabetes obesity cancer violence and AIDS and utilize a wide range of qualitative and quantitative methods from medicine psychology sociology and feminist analysis Among the articles are An examination of the role of Black women s cultural and ethnomedical beliefs in their use of cancer screening by Laurie Hoffman Goetz and Sherry Mills of the National Cancer Institute An empirical analysis of Black women s utilization of health services entailing more than 18 000 women by Lonnie Snowden and his colleagues at the University of California Berkeley Center for Mental Health Services Research A comprehensive review and empirical analysis of the role of violence in Black women s health by Nancy Felipe Russo Arizona State University Mary Koss University of Arizona and Gwen Keita APA Office on Women An empirical investigation of the role of social and contextual variables in HIV risk among low income Black women by Kathleen Sikkema Timothy Heckman and Jeffrey Kelly of the Center for AIDS Intervention Research Medical College of Wisconsin Other articles include comprehensive and critical analyses and reviews of diabetes breast cancer risk perceptions and obesity among Black women as well as analyses of Black women s exclusion from research in medicine women s health health psychology and behavioral medicine The first issue of any psychology journal to be devoted to the health of Black women this special issue is a step in the direction of redressing the long overdue neglect of Black women s health It provides a cogent overview of the state of Black women s health numerous empirical investigations and clear suggestions for future research Issues in Health and Health Care Related to Race/Ethnicity, Immigration, SES

and Gender Jennie Jacobs Kronenfeld, 2012-09-03 The 30th Anniversary volume of Research in the Sociology of Health Care looks at the important links between major social factors and health and health care The four main factors analysed in the book are race ethnicity immigration Socioeconomic Status SES and gender Embodying Inequality Nancy Krieger, 2016-12-05 To advance the epidemiological analysis of social inequalities in health and of the ways in which population distributions of disease disability and death reflect embodied expressions of social inequality this volume draws on articles published in the International Journal of Health Services between 1990 and 2000 Framed by ecosocial theory it employs ecosocial constructs of embodiment pathways of embodiment cumulative interplay of exposure susceptibility and resistance across the lifecourse and accountability and agency to address the question and who and what drives current and changing patterns of social inequalities in health Handbook of African American Health Jessica M. Ramos, 2011-03-18 With a focus on how to improve the effectiveness and cultural competence of clinical services and research this authoritative volume synthesizes current knowledge on both the physical and psychological health of African Americans today In chapters that follow a consistent format for easy reference leading scholars from a broad range of disciplines review risk and protective factors for specific health conditions and identify what works what doesn't work and what might work i.e. practices requiring further research in clinical practice with African Americans Historical sociocultural and economic factors that affect the quality and utilization of health care services in African American communities are examined in depth Evidence based ways to draw on individual family and community strengths in prevention and treatment are highlighted throughout Winner American Journal of Nursing Book of the Year Award Encyclopedia of Anthropology H. James Birx, 2006 Focuses on physical social and applied anthropology archaeology linguistics and symbolic communication Topics include hominid evolution primate behaviour genetics ancient civilizations cross cultural studies and social theories Gender, Ethnicity, and Health Research Sana Loue, 2007-05-08 Health researchers routinely evaluate health and illness across subgroups defined by their sex gender ethnicity and race All too often these classifications are proffered as an explanation for any differences that may be detected for example in access to care frequency of disease or response to treatment Relatively few researchers however have examined what these classifications mean on a theoretical level or in the context of their own research Assume for example that a researcher concludes from his or her data that African Americans utilize certain surgical procedures less frequently than whites This conclusion may mean little without an examination of the various underlying issues Is there such a construct as race at all How were whites and African Americans classified as such Does this finding reflect inappropriate overutilization of the specific procedures among whites or inappropriate underutilization among African Americans To what extent are socioeconomic status and method of payment related to the less frequent use Are there differences in the manner in which health care providers present the various treatment options to whites and to African Americans that could account for these differences in utilization Are there differences in health care seeking and health care preferences between the two groups that would explain the difference in utilization Is the racial classification a surrogate measure for another variable that has remained unidentified and unmeasured All too often unfortunately such issues are ignored or lightly dismissed with an entreaty for additional research Reducing Adolescent Risk Daniel

Romer, 2003-04-01 What an extraordinary volume This book brings together current research integrating adolescent risk and protection across a wide range of topics and disciplines It is a major contribution to the field Robert Wm Blum MD MPH PhD Professor and Director Center for Adolescent Health and Development University of Minnesota This book is clearly the best source now available on the topic of adolescent risk taking and its prevention With chapters written by the very best people in the field describing the latest thinking and findings it is an essential guide and resource for prevention researchers and program developers Bruce Simons Morton EdD MPH Chief Prevention Research Branch Division of Epidemiology Statistics and Prevention Research National Institute of Child Health and Human Development This report shines a bright light on the road our nation has taken to improve adolescent health the approaching fork and the path most likely to attain our destination Lloyd J Kolbe PhD Director Division of Adolescent and School Health U S Centers for Disease Control And Prevention Reducing Adolescent Risk Toward an Integrated Approach weaves together current research findings with prevailing prevention strategies to shed further light on the developmental pathways leading to a variety of interrelated adolescent risk behaviors In doing so the authors skillfully make the case for more integrated policy approaches and for comprehensive programming at the community level that both recognizes the connections between risk behaviors and maximizes young people s positive potential Karen Pittman Executive Director The Forum for Youth Investment President Impact Strategies Inc Many risk behaviors have common developmental pathways However most prevention strategies approach adolescent risk behaviors as individual problems requiring separate solutions This policy of treating one behavior at a time encourages a fractured approach to adolescent health Reducing Adolescent Risk Toward an Integrated Approach focuses on common influences that result in a number of interrelated risk behaviors in order to design more unified comprehensive prevention strategies Edited by Daniel Romer this book summarizes presentations and discussions held at the Adolescent Risk Communication Institute of the University of Pennsylvania Annenberg Public Policy Center Concentrating on common causes for varied risk behaviors a group of leading researchers and intervention specialists from different health traditions synthesize current knowledge about risks to adolescent health in several areas including drugs and alcohol tobacco unprotected sex suicide and depression and gambling Promoting healthy adolescent development this innovative volume includes Results of the National Risk Survey Contributions from experts on adolescent decision making and problem solving Research agendas for programs that reduce multiple risks Potential intervention strategies to reduce more than one risk at a time Major findings from the conference that should be pursued in future research Primarily intended for graduate students scholars and researchers in psychology sociology social work and public health Reducing Adolescent Risk is also an
