Cultural Exchange in German Literature Eleoma Joshua, Robert Vilain, 2007 The influence of foreign cultures on German literature and other cultural productions since the 18th century The Edinburgh German Yearbook is devoted to German Studies in an international context It publishes original English and German language contributions on a wide range of topics from scholars around the world Each volume is based on a single broad theme the first includes papers from the highly successful conference Kennst du das Land Cultural Exchange in German Literature held in Edinburgh in December 2006 supplemented by additional essays The conviction that German culture and the German spirit are triumphantly unique has played a notorious role in Germany's history It is nonetheless acknowledged that German literature has been significantly influenced by non German sources and the search for what is unique about Germany and German literature must incorporate an awareness of these This volume provides a wide ranging investigation into how German literature from the 18th century to the present day reflects interactions between German and non German cultures Alongside theoretical and historical reflections on the nature of cultural exchange contributions explore literary reception the boundaries of and movement between cultures and Germany's literary political cultural and religious relations with both near neighbors and far flung cultural interlocutors Contributors Christian Moser Birgit Tautz Silvia Horsch Eleoma Joshua Gauthi Kristmannsson Sabine Wilke Daniela Krümer Jon Hughes Thomas Martinec Margaret Litter Lyn Marven Dirk Göttsche Susanne Kord Eleoma Joshua is Lecturer in German at Edinburgh University Robert Vilain is Professor of German and Comparative Literature at Royal Holloway University of London The journal's General Editor is Sarah Colvin Professor of German at Edinburgh University

Generational Shifts in Contemporary German Culture Laurel Cohen-Pfister, Susanne Veas-Gulani, 2010 The concept of the generation in today's German culture and literature and its role in German identity In the debates since 1945 on German history and culture the concept of generations has become ever more prominent Recent and ongoing shifts in how the various generations are seen and see themselves in relation to history and to each other have taken on key importance in contemporary German cultural studies The seismic events of twentieth century German history are no longer solely first generational lived experiences but are also historical moments seen through the eyes of successor generations The generation seen as a category of memory thus holds a key to major shifts in German identity The changing generational perspectives of German writers and filmmakers not only reflect but also influence these trends exposing both the expected differences between generational views and unexpected continuities Moreover as younger artists reframe recent history older generations like the 1968ers are also contributing to these shifts by reassessing their own experiences and cultural contributions This volume of new essays applies current discourse on generations in German culture to contemporary works dealing with major sociohistorical events since the Nazi period Contributors Svea Br unert Laurel Cohen Pfister Friederike Eigler Thomas C Fox Katharina Gerstenberger Erin McGlothlin Brad Prager Ilka Rasch Susanne Rinner Caroline Schaumann Maria Stehle Reinhild Steingr ver Susanne Vees Gulani Laurel Cohen Pfister is Associate Professor of German at Gettysburg College and Susanne Vees Gulani is Assistant Professor of German and Comparative Literature at Case Western Reserve University Berlin - The Symphony Continues Carol Anne Costabile-Heming, Rachel J. Halverson, Kristie A. Foell, 2013-02-18 The sudden fall of the Berlin Wall is one of the defining images of the late twentieth century The subsequent unification of Germany and the decision to return Berlin to its status as capital has made the constant changes within the city a matter of public interest It also offered Berlin the opportunity to create a new image for itself one that can serve as a counterbalance to the politically charged recent history of Berlin as the capital of Nazi Germany and former East Berlin as the capital of the German Democratic Republic Poised between capitalist Western Europe and the former communist powers in Eastern Europe Berlin occupies a fascinating geopolitical space This anthology presents a unique glimpse into the various constituencies that make up Berlin and that impact the city s challenges and promises New Perspectives on Imagology, 2022-11-14 With this volume the editors Katharina Edtstadler Sandra Folie and Gianna Zocco propose an extension of the traditional conception of imagology as a theory and method for studying the cultural construction and literary representation of national usually European characters Consisting of an instructive introduction and 21 articles the book relates this sub field of comparative literature to contemporary political developments and enriches it with new interdisciplinary transnational intersectional and intermedial perspectives The contributions offer 1 a reconsideration and update of the field s methods genres and theoretical frames 2 trans post national migratory and marginalized perspectives beyond the European nation state 3 insights into geopolitical dichotomies such as Orient Occident 4 intersectional approaches considering the entanglements of national images with notions of age class gender sexuality and ethnicity race 5 investigations of the role of national images in visual narratives and music The Persistence of Racialization Luz Angélica Kirschner, 2024-10-18 The Persistence of Racialization Literature Gender and Ethnicity represents an attempt at unpacking the legacy of modern ideas of race initiated and established during the conquest of the Americas and their current relevance for literary criticism of ethnic writing also known as minority writing The book challenges ideas of a post racial globalized world to question the tendency to devalue ethnic literary writing in general and ethnic women s productions in particular by questioning reductive literary criticism of ethnic writing that perpetuates bias against ethnic writing and its authors By advocating for a decolonial literary imagination the book urges literary critics of ethnic writing to consider the complexities of modern race and its enduring impact on contemporary social and cultural narratives Updated literary analyses of Jewish Argentine Turkish German and Chinese American women writers encourage literary critics of ethnic writing to explore alternative transnational frameworks that prioritize equity diversity and social justice The Cambridge Companion to the Literature of Berlin Andrew J. Webber, 2017-02-27 This collection of essays by international specialists in the literature of Berlin provides a lively and stimulating account of writing in and about the city in the modern period The first eight chapters chart key chronological developments from 1750 to the present day while subsequent chapters focus on Berlin drama and poetry in the twentieth century and explore a set of key identity questions ethnicity migration gender writing by women and sexuality queer writing Each chapter provides an informative overview along with closer readings of exemplary texts The volume is designed to be accessible for readers seeking an introduction to the literature of Berlin while also providing new perspectives for those already familiar with the topic With a particular focus on the turbulent twentieth century the account of Berlin's literary production is set against broader cultural and political developments in one of the most fascinating of global cities

Imagining Europe: Memory, Visions, and Counter-Narratives Lars Klein, Martin Tamcke, 2015 In the course of the so called economic and financial crisis from 2008 onwards there has been a fierce debate about the role and purpose of the European Union It was led in politics and the media just as in academia The economic usefulness of the Euro has been discussed and the political implications of a fostered European unification Most often the state of Europeanization has been presented as being without alternatives no Europe without Greece no Euro without Greece no way back to the nation state in its old form As a result the debate on Europe was largely narrowed down to the very questions of the immediate crisis namely economics and finance Only a few voices held that the crisis in fact was one of politics not of economics And only late did politicians mention again that Europe is more than the EU Alternative views of Europe however were scarce and often presented full of consequences It thus came without much surprise that the lacking imaginative power of politicians as well as intellectuals was criticized The idea for this volume sprang from that situation The editors invited scholars from various disciplines to present them with ways of imagining Europe that go beyond the rather limited view of EU institutions How was how is Europe imagined Which memories are evoked which visions explicated Which counter narratives to prominent discourses are there The Novel in German since 1990 Stuart Taberner, 2011-09-01 Diversity is one of the defining characteristics of contemporary German language literature not just in terms of the variety of authors writing in German today but also in relation to theme form technique and style However common themes emerge the Nazi past transnationalism globalisation migration religion and ethnicity gender and sexuality and identity This book presents the novel in German since 1990 through a set of close readings both of international bestsellers including Daniel Kehlmann's Measuring the World and W G Sebald's Austerlitz and of less familiar but important texts such as Yad Kara's Selam Berlin Each novel discussed in the volume has been chosen on account of its aesthetic quality its impact and its representativeness the authors featured among them Nobel Prize winners G nter Grass Elfriede Jelinek and Herta M ller demonstrate the energy and quality of contemporary writing in German Modern European Borders in Fiction Andrew Hammond, 2025-09-18 There are few features of the contemporary world more significant than national and regional borders In modern Europe the practices of human division have defined the continent from the early years of the Cold War to the present barriers of Fortress Europe whose exposure of irregular migrants to trafficking discrimination and deportation is rarely absent from the daily news Modern European Borders in Fiction offers a comprehensive study of literary responses to the topic Through reference to over 600 novels and short stories Andrew Hammond analyses the wide ranging engagement of post 1945 novelists with the ideologies processes and effects of territorialisation as well as the related issues of military conflict migration populism nationalism and regionalism Among the topics under study are the ideological divisions of the Cold War the closed societies of totalitarian communism the labour migrations of the 1950s and 1960s the tightening of border controls from the 1970s the twenty first century war on migration the official restrictions on borderland communities the conflicts in Bosnia Georgia and Ukraine and the patterns of social segregation that have marked the continent from the Second World War to the present Drawing on theoretical work in the social sciences and the humanities this is a ground breaking contribution to European literary studies establishing the importance of continental border writing and opening up fresh avenues for decolonised teaching and research
