Planning Singapore Stephen Hamnett, Belinda Yuen, 2019-05-08 Two hundred years ago Sir Stamford Raffles established the modern settlement of Singapore with the intent of seeing it become a great commercial emporium and fulcrum But by the time independence was achieved in 1965 the city faced daunting problems of housing shortage slums and high unemployment Since then Singapore has become one of the richest countries on earth providing in Sir Peter Hall's words perhaps the most extraordinary case of economic development in the history of the world The story of Singapore's remarkable achievements in the first half century after its independence is now widely known In Planning Singapore The Experimental City Stephen Hamnett and Belinda Yuen have brought together a set of chapters on Singapore's planning achievements aspirations and challenges which are united in their focus on what might happen next in the planning of the island state Chapters range over Singapore's planning system innovation and future economy housing biodiversity water and waste climate change transport and the potential transferability of Singapore's planning knowledge A key question is whether the planning approaches which have served Singapore so well until now will suffice to meet the emerging challenges of a changing global economy demographic shifts new technologies and the existential threat of climate change Singapore as a global city is becoming more unequal and more diverse This has the potential to weaken the social compact which has largely existed since independence and to undermine the social resilience undoubtedly needed to cope with the shocks and disruptions of the twenty first century The book concludes however that Singapore is better placed than most to respond to the challenges which it will certainly face thanks to its outstanding systems of planning and implementation a proven capacity to experiment and a highly developed ability to adapt quickly purposefully and pragmatically to changing circumstances

Toward a Better Future Fredriksen Birger, Sing Kong Lee, Chor Boon Goh, 2008-04-18 Toward a Better Future provides a comprehensive analysis of education development in Singapore since 1965 giving particular attention to the strategic management that has enabled Singapore to transform its education and training system from one similar to that of many Sub Saharan African countries four decades ago into one of the world's best performing systems It is one of a pair of concurrently published books presenting materials originally developed for a 2006 study tour to Singapore and Vietnam for senior education officials from Cameroon Ethiopia Ghana Lesotho Madagascar and Mozambique The second book An African Exploration of the East Asian Education Experience presents five country studies as well as regional comparative analyses highlighting insights gained during the study tour and putting them in the context of Sub Saharan Africa Together the two books aim to foster knowledge exchange between Sub Saharan African and East Asian countries on good practices in the design and implementation of education policies and programs By facilitating the cross country fertilization of ideas between two regions with relatively limited contact in the past these books fill a clear gap in the current literature on development practice in education

Managing Global Risks in the Urban Age Yee-Kuang Heng, 2016-03-03 The first full length exposition of what it terms a global city global risks nexus this volume crosses disciplinary boundaries to draw upon research from Security Studies Geography Sociology and Urban Studies Innovative in its approach integrating theories about Global Cities with those positing a Global Risk Society Yee Kuang Heng positions this research in the midst of two concurrent global trends that will gain more significance in coming years The world is experiencing the consequences of not only rapid globalisation but also urbanization In 2008 the UN declared that more than half the world's population was now urban At the same time highly connected global cities like New York London Tokyo and Singapore also face rapidly spreading global risks such as pandemics and financial crises Unique in developing a typology of global risks that threaten a global city like Singapore beyond its Asian focus the book also draws out thematic and policy lessons pertinent to other global cities Global cities do not simply materialize They are dependent on a range of stakeholders at various levels that produce and re produce its command and control capabilities in the face of global risks Singapore's experiences managing global risks in the financial aviation and maritime domains are common concerns shared by many countries and cities that have or aspire to develop similar critical infrastructure

Contractual Procedures in the Construction Industry Allan Ashworth, Srinath Perera, 2018-03-13 Contractual Procedures in the Construction Industry 7th edition aims to provide students with a comprehensive understanding of the subject and reinforces the changes that are taking place within the construction industry. The book looks at contract law within the context of construction contracts; it examines the different procurement routes that have evolved over time and the particular aspects relating to design and construction; lean methods of construction and the advantages and disadvantages of PFI, PPP and its variants. It covers the development of partnering, supply chain management, design and build, and the way that the clients and professions have adapted to change in the procurement of buildings and engineering projects. This book is an indispensable companion for students taking undergraduate courses in Building and Surveying, Quantity Surveying, Construction Management and Project Management. It is also suitable for students on HND/C courses in Building and Construction Management as well as foundation degree courses in Building and Construction Management. Key features of the new edition include: A revised chapter covering the concept of value for money in line with the greater emphasis on added value throughout the industry today. A new chapter covering developments in information technology applications, building information modelling, blockchains, data analytics, smart contracts and others, and construction procurement. Deeper coverage of the strategies that need to be considered in respect of contract selection. Improved discussion of sustainability and the increasing importance of resilience in the built environment. Concise descriptions of some of the more important construction case laws.

New Horizons for a Data-Driven Economy José María Cavanillas, Edward Curry, Wolfgang Wahlster, 2016-04-04. In this book, readers will find technological discussions on the existing and emerging technologies across the different stages of the big data value chain. They will learn about legal aspects of big data, the social impact, and about education needs and requirements. And they will discover the business perspective and how big data technology can be exploited to deliver value within different sectors of the economy. The book is structured in four parts: Part I: The Big Data Opportunity explores the value potential of big data with a particular focus on the European context. It also describes the legal, business, and social dimensions that need to be addressed and briefly introduces the European Commission's BIG project. Part II: The Big Data Value Chain details the complete big data lifecycle from a technical point of view, ranging from data acquisition, analysis, curation, and storage to data usage and exploitation. Next, Part III: Usage and Exploitation of Big Data illustrates the value creation possibilities of big data applications in various sectors, including industry, healthcare, finance, energy, media, and public services. Finally, Part IV: A Roadmap for Big Data Research identifies and prioritizes the cross-sectorial requirements for big data research and outlines the most urgent and challenging technological, economic, political, and societal issues for big data in Europe. This compendium summarizes more than two years of work performed by a leading group of major European research centers and industries in the context of the BIG project. It brings together research findings, forecasts, and estimates related to this challenging technological context that is becoming the major axis of the new digitally transformed business environment.

The Economic Growth of Singapore W. G. Huff, 1997-08-13. This book provides a comprehensive overview of the economic development of Singapore easily the leading commercial and financial centre in Southeast Asia throughout the twentieth century This development has been based on a strategic location at the crossroads of Asia a free trade economy and a dynamic entrepreneurial tradition Initial twentieth century economic success was linked to a group of legendary Chinese entrepreneurs but by mid century independent Singapore looked to multinational enterprise to deliver economic growth Nonetheless exports of manufactures accounted for only part of Singaporean expansion and by the 1980s Singapore was a major international financial centre and leading world exporter of commercial services Throughout this study Dr Huff assesses the interaction of government policy and market forces and places the transformation of the Singaporean economy in the context of both development theory and experience elsewhere in East Asia      Digital Economy Report 2024 United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD),2024-07-10 The Digital Economy Report 2024 turns the attention to the environmental footprint of digitalization The Report discusses environmental impacts along the life cycle of digital devices and information and communications technology infrastructure with regard to raw material extraction and processing manufacturing distribution use and the end of life phase The direct effects on natural resources including transition minerals energy and water as well as greenhouse gas emissions and waste related pollution can be said to constitute the environmental footprint of the ICT sector There are also indirect environmental effects from the use of digital technologies and services in different sectors of the economy and the Report includes a dedicated chapter on e commerce The report underlines the need to maximize the positive impact of digitalization while minimizing the negative impacts on environmental sustainability      Economic growth and development in Singapore Peter Wilson,2002-10-29 In this book Gavin Peebles and Peter Wilson offer an historical overview of the rapid growth and development of the Singapore economy detailing the institutions and policies which have made this growth possible They examine the current state of the economy and its future in terms of prospective growth and structural change
