Marketing Without Advertising:

Marketing Without Advertising Michael Phillips, Salli Raspberry, 2001 Marketing without Advertising Emilio Morales, Joseph Scarpaci, 2011-12-21 In 1993 in order to stop an economic freefall on the island of Cuba Fidel Castro's government reluctantly instituted a series of reforms to compensate for the demise of foreign aid from Moscow. These policies ushered in a broad spectrum of national and international consumer products and services previously unknown to islanders. In a few short years Cubans were seeing foreign brands among consumer durables and a broad array of logos brought in by tourists. Today nearly two decades into these limited market reforms no systematic research has explored consumer brand awareness among 11 millions Cubans living just 90 miles from the United States. The paucity of academic research stems from the challenges of conducting public consumer opinion and official state policy contends that consumer wants and needs are satisfied by either a series of generic and Cuban made brands or by independent entrepreneurs who provide brandless products and services. Marketing without Advertising analyzes the role narratives and behaviour of consumption in Cuba since 1959. It documents how consumer behaviour has changed since the pre revolutionary period with special focus on the early 1990s. The book documents the shift from moral based rewards in the early years of the Revolution to the rise of material based incentives. Cubans have long been exposed to foreign mass media in the form of movies, music, videos, cable television shows. Although the Internet is highly regulated the Cuban Diaspora in exile brings back clothing, personal care products, electronic goods and magazines that increase the awareness of brand logos, jingles, products and services. These and related findings from the authors primary research are ripe with marketing implications such as substitution effects, price elasticity, latent demand for certain products and services and consumer behaviour. Marketing

Without Money Jessie Paul, 2021-12-30 Marketing does not entail a private conversation with a customer. Rather it is more like a loud communication in the middle of a crowded park where passers by and interested parties feel free to jump in. So how do you then engage with customers in a crowded marketplace as other challenges such as diminishing marketing spend and maximising the return on the marketing investment continue to plague marketers and leaders? But you need not worry. Help is at hand now. Marketing without Money is packed with tried and tested tools and techniques that have successfully worked. Bundled with the author's unique Branding House approach it takes you through the process of building your brand. It is loaded with insights from business leaders, DIY charts, tables and pull outs, frugal tips, examples and anecdotes for sharpening your marketing messaging. So grab a copy of Marketing without Money and win in your marketplace.

Aesthetics and the Revolutionary City James Clifford Kent, 2018-09-22 Aesthetics and the Revolutionary City engages in alternative ways of reading foreign visual representations of Havana through analysis of advertising images, documentary films and photographic texts. It explores key narratives relating to the projection of different Havana imaginaries and focuses on a range of themes including pre revolutionary Cuba, the dream of revolution and the metaphor of the city frozen in time.

The book also synthesizes contemporary debates regarding the notion of Havana as a real and imagined city space and fleshes out its theoretical insights with a series of stand alone important case studies linked to the representation of the Cuban capital in the Western imaginary The interpretations in the book bring into focus a range of critical historical moments in Cuban history including the Cuban Revolution and the Special Period and consider the ways in which they have been projected in advertising documentary film and photography outside the island
