Maroon Narrative:

The Maroon Narrative Cynthia James, 2002 This book analyzes the concept of the maroon to provide a better understanding of Caribbean literature Communities in Contemporary Anglophone Caribbean Short Stories Lucy Evans, 2014 This book explores representations of community in Anglophone Caribbean short story collections and cycles of the late twentieth and early twenty first century A History of the Literature of the U.S. South: Volume 1 Harilaos Stecopoulos, 2021-05-20 A History of the Literature of the U S South provides scholars with a dynamic and heterogeneous examination of southern writing from John Smith to Natasha Trethewey Eschewing a master narrative limited to predictable authors and titles the anthology adopts a variegated approach that emphasizes the cultural and political tensions crucial to the making of this regional literature Certain chapters focus on major white writers e g Thomas Jefferson William Faulkner the Agrarians Cormac McCarthy but a substantial portion of the work foregrounds the achievements of African American writers like Frederick Douglass Zora Neale Hurston and Sarah Wright to address the multiracial and transnational dimensions of this literary formation Theoretically informed and historically aware the volume s contributors collectively demonstrate how southern literature constitutes an aesthetic cultural and political field that richly repays examination from a variety of critical perspectives The Slave in the Swamp William Tynes Cowa, 2013-09-13 First Published in 2005 In 19th century plantation literature the runaway slave in the swamp was a recurring bogey man whose presence challenged myths of the plantation system By escaping to the swamps with its wild and threatening connotations the runaway gained an invisibility that was more threatening to the institution than open rebellion In part the proslavery plantation novel served to transform that image of the free slave in the swamp from its untouchable abstract state to a form that could be possessed understood and controlled Essentially writers defending the institution would conjure forth the rebellious image in order to dispel it safely Under a Black Star Amari Johnson, 2025-06-24 Uncovering the spirit of freedom and self determination in New Orleans In Under a Black Star Amari Johnson explores what he defines as the maroon impulse among the BlackStar Community in the Algiers neighborhood of New Orleans This community sought autonomy for Black people facing systemic marginalization through denied employment insufficient education and a housing crisis following Hurricane Katrina establishing initiatives such as Kamali Academy a homeschool collective and BlackStar Books and Caff a bookstore and gathering place Instead of appealing to the city they built the community they desired by employing legacies of marronage disengagement flight and reengagement An active participant in the physical and ideological development of these autonomous spaces Johnson provides nuanced insights into the community s work toward liberation and self determination Demonstrating that marronage is a cultural tradition throughout the African Diaspora he focuses on the transtemporal maroon process to show how it is central to the pursuit of autonomy community and freedom From the swamps of southeastern Louisiana across urban obstacles and into BlackStar s creative spaces Johnson s path leads him to ask How did the New Orleans community mobilize the tradition of marronage to create autonomous spaces amid gentrification What forms might the maroon impulse take in the twenty first century This dynamic ethnographic memoir ultimately illuminates marronage as a potent form of liberatory potential offering strategies for similar communities across the country and around the world

Scotland and the Caribbean, c.1740-1833 Michael Morris, 2015-03-12 This book participates in the modern recovery of the memory of the long forgotten relationship between Scotland and the Caribbean Drawing on theoretical paradigms of world literature and transnationalism it argues that Caribbean slavery profoundly shaped Scotland's economic social and cultural development and draws out the implications for current debates on Scotland's national narratives of identity Eighteenth to nineteenth century Scottish writers are re examined in this new light Morris explores the ways that discourses of improvement in both Scotland and the Caribbean are mediated by the modes of pastoral and georgic which struggle to explain and contain the labour conditions of agricultural labourers both free and enslaved The ambivalent relationship of Scottish writers including Robert Burns to questions around abolition allows fresh perspectives on the era Furthermore Morris considers the origins of a hybrid Scottish Creole identity through two nineteenth century figures Robert Wedderburn and Mary Seacole The final chapter moves forward to consider the implications for post devolution post referendum Scotland Underpinning this investigation is the conviction that collective memory is a key feature which shapes behaviour and beliefs in the present the recovery of the memory of slavery is performed here in the interests of social justice in the present
