Cecil, 2018-07-31 Excerpt from Life of Robert Marquis of Salisbury Vol 3 So many years have intervened since the publication of the first two volumes of this book that the correction of errors contained in them must appear hopelessly belated But one or two mistakes to which my attention has been called must be mentioned for the acquittal of my historical conscience The suggestion vol I Page 27 that the great Darwin in his old age lost his appreciation of the beauties of nature was founded upon a single sentence in his autobiography As his pleasure in beautiful scenery remained in fact peculiarly strong up to the end it has been pointed out to me that the false impression left by this passage in the context in which it stands ought to be corrected In several passages in the second volume Count Andrassy is described as the Austrian Chancellor He never bore that title but was simply known as the Foreign Minister of the Empire throughout these years of office About the Publisher
