The Development

of the Family and Marriage in Europe Jack Goody, 1983-07-07 Around 300 A D European patterns of marriage and kinship were turned on their head What had previously been the norm marriage to close kin became the new taboo The same applied to adoption the obligation of a man to marry his brother s widow and a number of other central practices With these changes Christian Europe broke radically from its own past and established practices which diverged markedly from those of the Middle East North Africa and Asia In this highly original and far reaching work Jack Goody argues that from the fourth century there developed in the northern Mediterranean a distinctive but not undifferentiated kinship system whose growth can be attributed to the role of the Church in acquiring property formerly held by domestic groups He suggests that the early Church faced with the need to provide for people who had left their kin to devote themselves to the life of the Church regulated the rules of marriage so that wealth could be channelled away from the family and into the Church Thus the Church became an interitor acquiring vast tracts of property through the alienation of familial rights At the same time the structure of domestic life was changed dramatically the Church placing more emphasis on individual wishes on conjugality and on spiritual rather than natural kinship Tracing the consequences of this change through to the present day Jack Goody challenges some fundamental assumptions about the making of western society and provides an alternative focus for future study of the European family kinship structures and marriage patterns The questions he raises will provoke much interest and discussion amongst anthropologists sociologists and historians

in the Bible and in Early Rabbinic Collections Samuel Greengus, 2011-10-04 The remarkable discovery of ancient Near Eastern law collections or codes beginning with the Laws of Hammurabi and followed by many other collections in decades following opened a new window upon biblical law This volume seeks to examine within a single study all of the biblical laws that are similar in content with ancient Near Eastern laws from Sumer Babylonia Assyria and Hatti The book also examines a small but important group of early rabbinic laws from postbiblical times that exhibit significant similarities with laws found in the ancient Near Eastern collections or codes This later group of laws although absent from the Bible are nevertheless of comparable antiquity The presentation focuses on the actual law statements preserved in these ancient law codes The discussion then adds narratives records and reports of legal actions from ancient sources outside the laws all of which relate to the formal law statements The discourse is non polemical in tone and does not seek to revisit all theories and interpretations The format allows readers including those who are new to the subject of biblical law to engage the primary sources on their own
