Sturdy, 1995 This comprehensive survey of the members of France's Academie des Sciences to the 1750s takes up the challenge to search for a way to connect history of science with social and cultural history at the bottom the level of the scientists rather than at the top the level of philosophical debate about science and culture T L Hankins In Defence of Biography the Use of Biography in the History of Science in History of Science 17 1979 1 16 The book focuses primarily on the academicians themselves and although it has much to say about the Academie as an institution it does so in the light of the changing positions which the academicians occupied in the social hierarchy of early modern France It explores the implications of those changes for the development of the Academie down to the mid 1700s and it argues that throughout this period the the relationship which the Academie had with the Bourbon regime and with French society in general was governed governed to a large extent by the personal circumstances of the academicians      Three Worlds of Collective Human Experience: Individual Life, Social Change, and Human Evolution Victor N. families and family theories have changed over the last 70 years as well as where family scholarship is headed Family Ambiguity and Domestic Violence in Asia Maznah Mohamad, Saskia E Wieringa, 2013-06-06 This book revisits the issue of Domestic Violence DV in Asia by exploring the question of family ambiguity and interrogating DV's relationship between concept law and strategy Comparative experiences in the Asian context enable an examination of the effectiveness of family regulations and laws in diverse national cultural and religious settings Key questions relate to the limits and relevance of the human rights discourse in resolving family conflicts the extent to which power and control in intimate relationships can actually be regulated by a set of inanimate homogeneous and uniform policies and legislations and how the state relates to the family as an ambiguous unit given state rules of governance that perpetuate unequal gender relations Many of the difficulties in understanding DV have sprung from the fact that the family unit is ambiguous When the state intervenes e.g reproductive health the family is treated as a public concern yet with respect to individual human multicultural rights the family is considered a private domain Complications and contradictions arise with regard to different legislative religious practices across Asia for example the enforcement of Sharia technocratic imperatives with regard to demographic goals of marriage and reproduction and state interference of gender imbalances and inequality The politics and culture around DV is thus a mirror of modern day Family State collusion which sustains rather than curtails discrimination based on sexuality and gender This book views gender inequality for instance in relation to heteronormativity as the fundamental basis of intimate violence rather than violence as a generic and neutral phenomenon requiring generic solutions It offers new theoretical insights to the conceptualisation of the family culture and law with respect to DV And it provides reasoned new perspectives on the effectiveness inadequacy of present policies laws and enforcement strategies against domestic violence in Asia

Bahr,2009-03-16 Much academic writing on families reflects the ideal of non involvement and distanced subject matter Toward More Family Centered Family Sciences suggests that the family sciences in their effort to be scientific have perpetuated this distance between researcher and subject to the detriment of both The authors argue that family and kinship ties are transcendent ties boundary crossing in numerous ways They place an emphasis on family love in contrast and in addition to romantic love and criticize current approaches for neglecting the importance of transcendent concepts such as love commitment respect and sacrifice in the development and well being of family structures Drawing from insights both inside and outside of academia the authors seek to reincorporate transcendent concepts into the study of the family as a unit of society They argue for a more collaborative family centered family science and offer recommendations for how family researchers might work to change the scientific monologue about families to a systemic dialogue with families
