Steven Bernard Leikin, 2005 An exploration of the ideological conflicts and practical experiences of late nineteenth century American workers who pursued cooperation as an alternative to competitive capitalism Between 1865 and 1890 in the aftermath of the Civil War virtually every important American labor reform organization advocated cooperation over competitive capitalism and several thousand cooperatives opened for business during this era The men and women who built cooperatives were practical reformers and they established businesses to stabilize their work lives families and communities Yet they were also utopians envisioning a world free from conflict where workers would receive the full value of their labor and freely exercise democratic citizenship in the political and economic realms Their visions of cooperation though were riddled with hierarchical notions of race gender and skill that gave little specific guidance for running a cooperative The Practical Utopians closely examines the experiences of working men and women as they built their cooperatives contested the meanings of cooperation and reconciled the realities of the marketplace with their various and often conflicting conceptions of democratic participation Steve Leikin provides new theories and examples of the failure and successes of the cooperative movement including how the Gilded Age s most powerful labor organization the Knights of Labor collapsed in the face of the expanding industrial economy Dealing with a critically important yet largely ignored aspect of working class life during the late nineteenth century The Practical Utopians brings crucial aspects of the cooperative movement to light and is a necessary study for all scholars of history labor history and political science The American Cooperator [devoted to the Ideals of a Cooperative Commonwealth]. Remaking the Rural South Robert Hunt Ferguson, 2018-01-15 This is the first book length study of Delta Cooperative Farm 1936 42 and its descendant Providence Farm 1938 56 The two intentional communities drew on internationalist practices of cooperative communalism and pragmatically challenged Jim Crow segregation and plantation labor In the winter of 1936 two dozen black and white ex sharecropping families settled on some two thousand acres in the rural Mississippi Delta one of the most insular and oppressive regions in the nation Thus began a twenty year experiment across two communities in interracialism Christian socialism cooperative farming and civil and economic activism Robert Hunt Ferguson recalls the genesis of Delta and Providence how they were modeled after cooperative farms in Japan and Soviet Russia and how they rose in reaction to the exploitation of small scale dispossessed farmers Although the staff volunteers and residents were very much everyday people a mix of Christian socialists political leftists union organizers and sharecroppers the farms had the backing of such leading figures as philanthropist Sherwood Eddy who purchased the land and educator Charles Spurgeon Johnson and theologian Reinhold Niebuhr who served as trustees On these farms residents developed a cooperative economy operated a desegregated health clinic held interracial church services and labor union meetings and managed a credit union Ferguson tells how a variety of factors related to World War II forced the closing of Delta while Providence finally succumbed to economic boycotts and outside threats from white racists Remaking the Rural

South shows how a small group of committed people challenged hegemonic social and economic structures by going about their daily routines Far from living in a closed society activists at Delta and Providence engaged in a local movement with national and international roots and consequences Altruism and Beyond Oded Stark,1999-10-07 Revised updated and in paperback studies altruistic and nonaltruistic motives for transfers between families and groups A Marriage Made in Heaven Eucharist and Marital Communion: Catholic for a Reason III Kimberly Hahn,2006-03-01 Kimberly Hahn looks at these two great Sacraments the Eucharist and Marriage complement and relate to one another Each aims at union and communion with the spouse either our human spouse through whom we dedicate ourselves to our Lord or our divine Spouse who comes to us at every Mass Hahn walks us through the marriage ceremony the nuptial Mass and explains how the love that is expressed through marriage is both fulfilled and supported by the Love that is expressed in the Eucharist As she concludes Our reception of our spouse enriches our life giving love our reception of our Lord in the Eucharist makes our love fruitful Sex and the Marriage Covenant John Kippley,2014-01-23 The thesis of this book is that God intends that sexual intercourse should be at least implicitly a renewal of the marriage covenant From this it follows that the marriage covenant provides the criterion to evaluate the morality of every sexual act Thus the title Sex and the Marriage Covenant is an appropriate description of the book s contents Marriage comes into being by a couple unreservedly entering God s covenant of marriage contraceptive intercourse contradicts the very essence of the marriage covenant From these considerations Kippley developed the covenant theology of sexuality described in this book Agriculture, Rural Development, and Related Agencies Appropriations United States. Bond of Love: Catholic Teaching on Marriage & Sexual Ethics Willem Jacobus Cardinal Eijk, 2025-09-10 Contemporary attitudes toward marriage family life and human sexuality have undergone profound changes since the mid twentieth century spurred by a host of social and cultural factors Large segments of the population in the West now hold views on marriage and sexual ethics that are very different from the values and norms taught by the Church Indeed Catholic teaching on the truth of marriage and human sexuality is open to strong criticism including among groups of Catholics and seems at best poorly understood In The Bond of Love Willem Jacobus Cardinal Eijk provides a comprehensive and unflinching account of the Church s teaching on marriage and sexual ethics dispelling misconceptions and elucidating its truth with grace and clarity As he demonstrates far from being a set of arbitrary rules that constrain human freedom this teaching is instead a deep wisdom for human flourishing anchored in the truth of God and man divinely revealed within Scripture Tradition and the Gospel Eijk first locates Catholic teaching on marriage and sexuality in relation to the currently dominant views in Western society He follows this with an exposition of the fundamental starting point of the Church s teaching on the nature of marriage and sexuality rooted in theological anthropology Next discussed is the virtue of chastity the integration of the sexual faculties into the personality and what it requires of both married and unmarried persons The volume concludes by addressing practices and circumstances that violate the essence of marriage This powerful witness to the truth and beauty of Catholic teaching on marriage and sexual ethics is a vital resource for pastors teachers and all of the Church s faithful striving to live in the love and communion that is grounded in Christ The New East ,1918
