Marrow Of The Nation:

Marrow of the Nation Andrew D. Morris, Morris/Alter, 2004 By 1907 staff at the Tianjin YMCA were rallying their Chinese charges with the cry When will China be able to send a winning athlete to the Olympic contests When will China be able to invite all the world to Peking for an International Olympic contest Nearly a century later on the eve of China's first ever Olympic games this innovative book shows for the first time how sporting culture and ideology played a crucial role in the making of the modern nation state in Republican China A landmark work on the history of sport in China Marrow of the Nation tells the dramatic story of how Olympic style competitions and ball games as well as militarized forms of training associated with the West and Japan were adapted to become an integral part of the modern Chinese experience The Creation of Wing Chun Benjamin N. Judkins, Jon Nielson, 2015-07-21 Looks at southern Chinese martial arts traditions and how they have become important to local identity and narratives of resistance This book explores the social history of southern Chinese martial arts and their contemporary importance to local identity and narratives of resistance Hong Kong's Bruce Lee ushered the Chinese martial arts onto an international stage in the 1970s Lee's teacher Ip Man master of Wing Chun Kung Fu has recently emerged as a highly visible symbol of southern Chinese identity and pride Benjamin N Judkins and Jon Nielson examine the emergence of Wing Chun to reveal how this body of social practices developed and why individuals continue to turn to the martial arts as they navigate the challenges of a rapidly evolving environment After surveying the development of hand combat traditions in Guangdong Province from roughly the start of the nineteenth century until 1949 the authors turn to Wing Chun noting its development the changing social attitudes towards this practice over time and its ultimate emergence as a global art form Sport, Nationalism and Orientalism Fan Hong, 2013-09-13

The first book to focus solely on the Asian Games this is an analysis of the Oriental rival to the Olympics in terms of its geopolitical economic sociological historical racial and aesthetic context looking at its birth growth and maturation from 1913 up until 2006 Written by a team of international scholars this is a collection of original research and first hand material from archives across Asia which addresses a number of issues central to notions of nationalism and Orientalism in sport including the relationship between the Asian Games and the Olympic Games the challenge the Asian Games present to Western forces such as the IOC and international sports federations politics power structure and struggle in the Asian Games nationalism and cultural identity the relationship between Orientalism Globalism and the Asian Games commercialisation of the Asian Games the contribution modern sport makes to social development in Asia the future of the Asian Games This book was previously published as a special issue of Sport in Society Chinese Martial Arts Peter A. Lorge, 2011-12-05 In the global world of the twenty first century martial arts are practised for self defense and sporting purposes only However for thousands of years they were a central feature of military practice in China and essential for the smooth functioning of society This book which opens with an intriguing account of the very first female martial artist charts the history of combat and fighting techniques in China from the Bronze Age to the present This broad panorama affords fascinating glimpses into the transformation of martial skills techniques and weaponry against the background of Chinese history the rise and fall of empires their governments and their armies Quotations from literature and poetry and the stories of individual warriors infuse the narrative offering personal reflections on prowess in the battlefield and techniques of engagement This is an engaging and readable introduction to the authentic history of Chinese martial arts

Mapping an Empire of American Sport Mark Dyreson, J.A. Mangan, Roberta J. Park, 2013-09-13 Since the mid nineteenth century the United States has used sport as a vehicle for spreading its influence and extending its power especially in the Western Hemisphere and around the Pacific Rim but also in every corner of the rest of the world Through modern sport in general and through American pastimes such as baseball basketball and the American variant of football in particular the U S has sought to Americanize the globe s masses in a long series of both domestic and foreign campaigns Sport played roles in American programs of cultural economic and political expansion Sport also contributed to American efforts to assimilate immigrant populations Even in American games such as baseball and football sport has also served as an agent of resistance to American imperial designs among the nations of the Western hemisphere and the Pacific Rim As the twenty first century begins sport continues to shape American visions of a global empire as well as framing resistance to American imperial designs Mapping an Empire of American Sport chronicles the dynamic tensions in the role of sport as an element in both the expansion of and the resistance to American power and in sport s dual role as an instrument for assimilation and adaptation This book was published as a special issue of the International Journal of the History of Sport

Christianity and the Transformation of Physical Education and Sport in China Huijie Zhang, Fan Hong, Fuhua Huang, 2017-07-14 Modern physical education and sport in China are not products of indigenous Chinese culture Traditional Chinese culture linked strenuous physical activities to low class and status Modern Western PE and sport were introduced to China by Western Christian missionaries and directors of the Young Men s Christian Association and grew from a tool for Christian evangelism to an important tool for Chinese nation building This book examines this process of transformation of Chinese attitudes toward PE and sport using the concepts of cultural imperialism and nationalism as a lens to understand how a Western cultural import became a modernization tool for the Chinese state

Behind the Gate Fabio Lanza, 2010 Through an investigation of 20th century Chinese student protest Lanza considers the marriage of the cultural and the political the intellectual and the quotidian that occurred during the May Fourth movement along with its rearticulation in subsequent protest

Beijing 2008: Preparing for Glory J.A. Mangan, Dong Jinxia, 2013-09-13 Beijing 2008 Preparing for Glory Chinese Challenge in the Chinese Century brings together international scholars with an interest in sport and politics and sinologists with an interest in China past present and future to explore global reaction to the Beijing Olympics China s anticipated moment of glory on the world stage The Beijing Olympics was first and foremost a political act of assertion It was also a statement of national intent the culmination of ideological effort going back to 1949 and the outcome of political social cultural and economic change From the moment of the birth of the New China sport has been viewed as a means of internal and external projection illustrating the capacity of the system and people to more than hold their own with those of other nations In short sport has been the chosen stage on which the Chinese perform in pursuit of world recognition respect and esteem This assertion is not hard to understand China s century of humiliation at the hands of first the West and then Japan remains a traumatic experience Beijing 2008 was to assist the restoration of China s national self esteem He Zhenliang Chairman of the IOC Commission for the Culture of Olympic Education has remarked pointedly that the most significant outcome of the Beijing Games will be the elevation of the self confidence and sense of pride of the Chinese people Beijing 2008 was an act of political self renewal on the world stage This Collection demonstrates that sport is inseparable from politics This book was previously published as a special issue of the International Journal of the History of Sport Sport and Nationalism in China Zhouxiang Lu,Fan Hong,2013-10-30 This book examines the relationships between sport nationalism and nation building in China By exploring the last 150 years of Chinese history it offers unparalleled depth and breadth of coverage and provides a clear grasp of Chinese sports nationalism from both macro and micro perspectives Beginning with a discussion on the role of sport in the Qing Dynasty s Self Strengthening Movement 1861 1895 the book examines how sport contributed to the shaping of the early forms of Chinese nationalism in the late 19th century It identifies and defines the core functions of sport in the Chinese Nationalist Revolution which successfully transformed China from a culturally bound empire to a modern nation state in 1911 The following section on the Republic of China Era 1912 1949 explores the interactions between sport and the construction of Chinese nationalism and national consciousness illustrating how sport played its part in the building of the newly established nation state Moving on to the Communist China Era 1949 present the book scans the whole spectrum of both modern and contemporary Chinese nationalism and interprets the most important issues on the course of China s nation building explaining why sport is so tightly bound up with nationalism and patriotism and how sport became an essential part of nationalists politicians and educationalists strategy to revive the Chinese nation The Making of a Family Saga Jin Feng,2010-07-02 The institutional history of Ginling College is arguably a family history Ginling a Christian women s college in Nanjing founded by Western missionaries saw itself as a family The school s leaders built on the Confucian ideal to envision a feminized Christian family one that would spread Christianity and uplift the family that was the Chinese nation Exploring the various incarnations of the trope of the Ginling family Jin Feng takes a microscopic view by emphasizing personal subjective perspectives from the written and oral records of the Chinese and American women who created and sustained the school Even when using more seemingly ordinary official documents Feng seeks to shed light on the motives and dynamic interactions that created them and the impact they had on individual lives Using this perspective Feng questions the standard characterization of missionary higher education as simply Western cultural imperialism to show a process of influence and cultural exchange The

Congressional Record United States. Congress,1998 Atlas of Hematologic Neoplasms Tsieh Sun,2009-06-12 Due to its rapid development in recent years hematopathology has become a very complicated discipline The current development is mainly in two aspects the new classification of lymphomas and leukemias and the new techniques The Revised European American Classification of Lymphoid Neoplasms REAL classification and the World Health Organization WHO classification of hematologic neoplasms require not only morphologic criteria but also immunophenotyping and molecular genetics for the diagnosis of hematologic tumors Immunophenotyping is performed by either flow cytometry or immunohistochemistry There are many new monoclonal antibodies and new equipments accumulated in recent years that make immunophenotyping more or more accurate and helpful There are even more new techniques invented in recent years in the field of molecular genetics In cytogenetics the conventional karyotype is supplemented and partly replaced by the fluorescence in situ hybridization FISH technique The current development of gene expression profiling is even more powerful in terms of subtyping the hematologic tumors which may help guiding the treatment and predict the prognosis In molecular biology the tedious Southern blotting technique is largely replaced by polymerase chain reaction PCR The recent development in reverse transcriptase PCR and quantitative PCR makes these techniques even more versatile Because of these new developments hematopathology has become too complicated to handle by a general pathologist Many hospitals have to hire a newly trained hematopathologist to oversee peripheral blood bone marrow and lymph node examinations These young hematopathologists are geared to the new techniques but most of them are inexperienced in morphology No matter how well trained a hematopathologist is he or she still needs to see enough cases so that they can recognize the morphology and use the new techniques to substantiate the diagnosis In other words morphology is still the basis for the diagnosis of lymphomas and leukemias Therefore a good color atlas is the most helpful tool for these young hematopathologists and for the surgical pathologists who may encounter a few cases of hematologic tumors from time to time In a busy daily practice it is difficult to refer to a comprehensive hematologic textbook all the time There are a few hematologic color atlases on the market to show the morphology of the normal blood cells and hematologic tumor cells These books are helpful but not enough because tumor cell morphology is variable from case to case and different kinds of tumor cells may look alike and need to be differentiated by other parameters The best way to learn morphology is through the format of clinical case study This format is also consistent with the daily practice of hematopathologists and with the pattern in all the specialty board examinations Therefore it is a good learning tool for the pathology residents hematology fellows as well as medical students This proposed book will present 83 clinical cases with clinical history morphology of the original specimen and a list of differential diagnoses This is followed by further testing with pictures to show the test results At the end a correct diagnosis is rendered with subsequent brief discussion on how the diagnosis is achieved A few useful references will be cited and a table will be provided for differential diagnosis in some cases The major emphasis is the provision of 500 color photos of peripheral blood smears bone marrow aspirates core biopsy lymph node biopsy and biopsies of other solid organs that are involved with lymphomas and leukemias Pictures of other diagnostic parameters such as flow cytometric histograms immunohistochemical stains cytogenetic karyotypes fluorescence in situ hybridization and polymerase chain reaction will also be included A comprehensive approach with consideration of clinical morphologic immunophenotypic and molecular genetic aspects is the best way to achieve a correct diagnosis After reading this book the reader will learn to make a diagnosis not only based on the morphology alone but also in conjunction with other parameters
