Martianus Capella and the Seven Liberal Arts William Harris Stahl, 1971 The Liberal Arts Tradition Bruce A. Kimball, 2010-05-13 Ranging from Plato in antiquity to Martha Nussbaum in the present era the authors of the seventy readings included in The Liberal Arts Tradition present significant and exemplary views addressing liberal arts education over the course of its history particularly in the United States Most of the documents are newly translated or no longer available in print Arranged chronologically each selection is accompanied by an informative introduction and extensive explanatory notes discussing its place within the liberal arts tradition Based upon the author's twenty five years of experience leading seminars concerning the history of liberal education this collection presents a uniquely comprehensive and salient set of documents while incorporating the neglected portrayal and discussion of women within the history of the liberal arts Embodiments of Will Michael Frampton, 2008 This book examines the two chief anatomical and physiological embodiment theories of voluntary animal motion which I call the cardiosinew and cerebroneuromuscular theories of motion from the time of Aristotle 384 322 B C to that of Mondino d'Ald 1326 The study of animal motion commenced with the ancient Greek natural scientist Aristotle who wrote the monograph On the motion of animals De motu animalium Subsequent inquiries into voluntary animal motion may be found in a variety of Greek Latin and Arabic compendia commentaries and encyclopedias throughout the ancient and medieval periods The motion of animals was considered relevant to natural philosophers and theologians investigating the nature of the soul and to physicians seeking to discover the causes of disorders of voluntary movement such as epilepsy and tetany The book fills a gap in the scholarly literature concerned with pre modern studies of the anatomical and physiological mechanisms of will and bodily movement The

Chr tien de Troyes s reference to Macrobius on the art of description is indicative of the link between the vernacular literary tradition of rewriting and the Latin tradition of imitation Crucial to this study are writings that bridge the span between elementary school exercises in imitation and the masterpieces of the art in Latin and French The book follows the development of the medieval art of imitation through Macrobius and commentaries on Horace s Art of Poetry and then applies it to the interpretation of works on the Trojan War consent in love and marriage and lyric and vernacular insertions Cytherica

Josef Chytry,2005 Cytherica boldly introduces a new faculty of thought called cytherics to contemporary academic discursivities It defines cytherics as the sighting and siting of an aesthetic erotic or aphrodisian environment Building on the furthest extensions of aesthetics since the eighteenth century cytherics develops both the aesthetic political and aesthetic erotic dimensions of the aesthetic tradition to formulate exciting new responses to the pressing issues of contemporary societies While drawing richly on the background of German and European Hellenism this book provides valuable new insights for those working in the areas of the aesthetic political critical theory postmodernist discursivities and dialectical speculation The Anatomy of Myth Michael W. Herren,2017 The Anatomy of Myth is a comprehensive study of the methods of interpreting authoritative myths from the Presocratic philosophers to the Neoplatonists and their adoption by the Church Fathers

Theophany Hilary Anne-Marie Mooney, 2009 Hilary Anne Marie Mooney investigates the notion of theophany in the writings of the early medieval thinker Johannes Scottus Eriugena. She focuses on the creative impulses which he draws from the Scripture and she investigates the influence of theological and philosophical thinkers of the first six Christian centuries on Eriugena. The author considers those passages of Eriugena's writings in which the precise term theophany is used as well as other passages in which the term does not occur but which are nonetheless imbued with the notion of a theophanic appearing of God. These traces of theophanic understanding of the revealing of God are considered within Eriugena's oeuvre as a whole including his biblical commentaries. In her study the author maintains that a theophanic structure characterized by four recurring facets may be unearthed in Eriugena's theology of the revealing of God. In the various contexts within which he writes about this divine revealing in his theology of creation, his anthropology, his account of the relationship between human beings and God as seen from the perspective of a Christian spirituality, it is the notion of theophany which he uses to illuminate the relationship between that which is created and its creator. In doing so he bequeaths a rich theological analysis of the appearing of God to subsequent generations of theologians and shows himself to be both a coherent and creative thinker.
