Marxism and Art Maynard Solomon, 1979 Marxism and Art is a book of basic readings in Marxist criticism and aesthetics Maynard Solomon through his selections and critical introductions shows connections between the arts and society between imagination and history and between art and revolution He selects from thirty six authors to reveal the range of opinion from dogma to heresy beginning with excerpts from the works of Marx and Engels that are pertinent to an understanding of Marxist philosophy The book traverses a wide range of subjects from the origins of art to the nature of creativity the aesthetic experience the dialectics of consciousness the psychology of art and the evolution of art forms The sources of art in ritual in the labor process in the play drive and in social conflict are explored Mao Zedong's "Talks at the Yan'an Conference on Literature and Art" Bonnie McDougall, 2020-06-01 The writings of Mao Zedong have been circulated throughout the world more widely perhaps than those of any other single person this century The Talks at the Yan'an Conference on Literature and Art has occupied a prominent position among his many works and has been the subject of intense scrutiny both within and outside China This text has undoubted importance to modern Chinese literature and history

In particular it reveals Mao's views on such questions as the relationship between writers or works of literature and their audience or the nature and value of different kinds of literary products. In this translation and commentary Bonnie S McDougall finds that Mao was in fact ahead of many of his critics in the West and his Chinese contemporaries in his discussion of literary issues. Unlike the majority of modern Chinese writers deeply influenced by Western theories of literature and society including Marxism, Mao remained close to traditional patterns of thought and avoided the often mechanical or narrowly literal interpretations that were the hallmark of Western schools current in China in the early twentieth century. Many of the detailed discussions on the Talks in the West have been concerned with their political and historical significance. However, since Mao is a literary figure of some importance in twentieth century China, McDougall finds it worthwhile to follow up his published remarks on the nature and source of literature and the means of its evaluation. By better understanding the complex and revolutionary ideas contained in the Talks, McDougall suggests we may acquire the necessary analytical tools for a more fruitful investigation into contemporary Chinese literature.

Marx & Engels on Literature & Art Karl Marx, Friedrich Engels, 1973 Marxism and Literature Raymond Williams, 1977-11-10 This classic study examines the place of literature within Marxist cultural theory and offers an assessment of the contributions of previous thinkers to Marxist literary theory.

Tillie Olsen and the Dialectical Philosophy of Proletarian Literature Anthony Dawahare, 2018-10-19 Contrary to previous studies of Tillie Olsen's writing, Tillie Olsen and the Dialectical Philosophy of Proletarian Literature analyzes the impact of one of the most important philosophies of the last century, dialectical materialism, on the form and content of Olsen's fiction. By revealing the unconceptualized dialectics of Olsen's work and its appreciation by scholars and casual readers, this study achieves a dialectical synthesis that incorporates and extends the insights of and about Olsen in terms of dialectical materialism. By foregrounding Olsen's dialectical approach, it explains and largely resolves apparent contradictions between her Marxism and feminism, her depictions of class, race, and gender, the literature of her earlier and later periods, and her use of realist and modernist literary forms and techniques. Consequently, this project makes a case for the importance of Olsen's Marxist education during the Red Decade of the 1930s and within the U.S. proletarian literary movement.
