Revisiting the Frankfurt School David Berry, 2016-04-08 What has become known as the Frankfurt School is often reduced to a small number of theorists in media communication and cultural studies Challenging this limitation Revisiting The Frankfurt School introduces a wider theoretical perspective by introducing critical assessments on a number of writers associated with the school that have been mostly marginalized from debate This book therefore expands our understanding by addressing the writings of intellectuals who were either members of the school or were closely associated with it but often neglected It thus brings together the latest research of an international team of experts to examine the work of figures such as the social psychologist Erich Fromm the philosophy of Siegfried Kracauer the writer on media and communication Leo Lowenthal introducing Hans Magnus Enzenberger to the debate whilst also shedding new light on the work of Max Horkheimer Theodor Adorno Herbert Marcuse Walter Benjamin and Jürgen Habermas A critical reassessment of the contributions of the Frankfurt School and its associates to cultural media and communication studies as well as to our modern understanding of new media technology and debate within the public sphere this book will appeal to those with interests in sociology philosophy social psychology social theory media and communication and cultural studies

Red Kant: Aesthetics, Marxism and the Third Critique Michael Wayne, 2014-09-25 Is Kant really the bourgeois philosopher that his advocates and opponents take him to be In this bold and original re thinking of Kant Michael Wayne argues that with his aesthetic turn in the Third Critique Kant broke significantly from the problematic philosophical structure of the Critique of Pure Reason Through his philosophy of the aesthetic Kant begins to circumnavigate the dualities in his thought In so doing he shows us today how the aesthetic is a powerful means for imagining our way past the apparent universality of contemporary capitalism Here is an unfamiliar Kant his concepts of beauty and the sublime are reinterpreted as attempts to socialise the aesthetic while Wayne reconstructs the usually hidden genealogy between Kant and important Marxist concepts such as totality dialectics mediation and even production In materialising Kant's philosophy this book simultaneously offers a Marxist defence of creativity and imagination grounded in our power to think metaphorically and in Kant's concept of reflective judgment Wayne also critiques aspects of Marxist cultural theory that have not accorded the aesthetic the relative autonomy and specificity which it is due Discussing such thinkers as Adorno Bourdieu Colletti Eagleton Lukács Rancière and others Red Kant: Aesthetics, Marxism and the Third Critique presents a new reading of Kant's Third Critique that challenges Marxist and mainstream assessments of Kant alike

England's Discontents Mike Wayne, 2018-10-20 England's Discontents unpacks the genealogy of British identities over the last two hundred years as they have been shaped by the main political cultures and their interactions with cultural politics Conservatism social liberalism economic liberalism social democracy and socialism in partnership and conflict have forged different models of national belonging and identity Wayne draws on Gramsci's work to reassess debates about Britishness and renew Gramsci's relevance to understanding our contemporary discontents In doing so he reveals that England's enduring attachment to economic liberalism is in danger of eroding all other political cultures even conservatism liberalism and the British state

Neoliberalism and Global Cinema Jyotsna Kapur, Keith Wagner, 2011-05-09 In cinema studies today rarely do we find a direct investigation into the culture of capitalism and how it has been refracted and fabricated in global cinema production under neoliberalism However the current economic crisis and the subsequent Wall Street bailout in 2008 have brought about a worldwide skepticism regarding the last four decades of economic restructuring and the culture that has accompanied it In this edited volume an international ensemble of scholars looks at neoliberalism both as culture and political economy in the various cinemas of the world In essays encompassing the cinemas of Asia Africa Latin America Europe and the United States the authors outline how the culture and subjectivities engendered by neoliberalism have been variously performed contested and reinforced in these cinemas The premise of this book is that the cultural and economic logic of neoliberalism i e the radical financialization and market driven calculations of all facets of society are symptoms best understood by Marxist theory and its analysis of the central antagonisms and contradictions of capital Taking a variety of approaches ranging from political economy ideological critique the intersection of aesthetics and politics social history and critical cultural theory this volume offers a fresh broad based Marxist analysis of contemporary film media Topics include the global albeit antagonistic nature of neoliberal culture the search for a new aesthetic and documentary language the contestation between labor and capital in cultural production the political economy of hollywood and questions of gender sexuality and the nation state in relation to neoliberalism Global

Christophers,2009-04-16 Envisioning Media Power develops an original geographical perspective on the nature and exercise of power in the international television economy It uses theories of political economy as the basis for a comparative empirical examination of the UK and New Zealand television markets while closely considering these markets respective relationships with the US market and its globally influential media corporations In fleshing out this geographical perspective the book critically addresses the power to produce reproduce and extract profit from territorialized media markets To understand such powers the book examines processes of creation and dissemination of industry knowledge structures of industry governance and the locational characteristics of television s operational economy Through its rigorous and creative combination of conceptual insights with empirical substance Envisioning Media Power both illuminates the fabric of television s international space economy and ultimately offers a unique theoretic argument suggesting that power knowledge and geography are inseparable not only from one another but from the process of accumulation of media capital Media synonymous with mass media or news media but may refer to a single medium used to communicate any data for any purpose. The word medium comes from the Latin word medius. The beginning of human communication through designed channels, i.e. not vocalization or gestures, dates back to ancient cave paintings, drawn maps, and writing. The Persian Empire, centered around present-day Iran and Afghanistan, played an important role in the field of communication. It devised what might be described as the first real mail or postal system, which is said to have been developed by the Persian emperor Cyrus the Great c. 550 BC, after his conquest of Media. The role of the system as an intelligence-gathering apparatus is well documented, and the service was called angariae, a term that in time turned to indicate a tax system. Mass media are diversified media technologies that are intended to reach a large audience by mass communication. The technologies through which this communication takes place vary. Broadcast media, such as radio, recorded music, film, and television, transmit their information electronically. Print media use physical objects, such as a newspaper, books, pamphlets, or comics, to distribute their information. Outdoor media is a form of mass media that comprises billboards, signs, or placards placed inside and outside of commercial buildings, sports stadiums, shops, and buses. Other outdoor media include flying billboards, blimps, and skywriting. The present book deals with all the important dimensions of this subject. It is a valuable reference source for all those concerned with this subject.

Contents: Uses and Gratifications of Mass Communication; Diffusion of Innovations in Mass Media; Media Audience Research and its Social Imaginaries; Communication Theory; Uses and Gratifications; Redefining Development Journalism; Democracy Development; Peace and Communication; International Experience; Government Communication and Media; Weblog and Emergent Democracy; Media and Community Development.

The Contradictions of Media Power Des Freedman, 2014-09-25. Media power is a crucial, although often taken for granted, concept. We assume, for example, that the media are powerful; if they were not, why would there be so many controversies over the regulation, control, and impact of communicative institutions and processes? Further, we assume that this power is somehow problematic: audiences are often treated as highly susceptible to media influence, and too much power in the hands of one organization or individual is seen as risky and potentially dangerous. These concerns have been at the heart of recent controversies involving the relationships between media moguls and political elites, the consequences of phone hacking in the UK, and the emerging influence of social media as vital gatekeepers. Yet it is still not clear what we mean by media power or how effective it is. This book evaluates contrasting definitions of media power and looks at the key sites in which power is negotiated, concentrated, and resisted politically, technologically, and economically. Combining an evaluation of both previous literature and new research, the book seeks to establish an understanding of media power which does justice to the complexities and contradictions of the contemporary social world. It will be important reading for undergraduates, postgraduates, researchers, and activists alike.
