Reading With A Smile:

How to Read a Person Like a Book Gerard I. Nierenberg, Henry H. Calero, 1994 This unique program teaches listeners how to decode and reply to non verbal signals from friends and business associates when those signals are often vague and thus frequently ignored

"I Hate Reading" Justin M. Stygles, 2022-09-19 It can take a lifetime to eradicate a reader's shame or it can take one great teacher. Shame-bound readers want someone to notice them. It's true. But then what does a teacher do to help students? Justin Stygles found fresh answers in Gershen Kaufman's seminal research on shame and applied it to his teaching. The results proved to him and now us that building relationships and taking deliberate actions to alleviate shame is crucial. With this remarkable book Stygles shows us how to build an interpersonal bridge with students and make vulnerability okay. But make no mistake: disengaged readers need to feel competent before they fully buy in, and so the author packs the book with powerful instructional ideas. Learn to Spot all the distress signals including withdrawal, perfectionism, and compliance. Help students see that they are not permanently locked out of a reading life. Use assessment instruments to note and celebrate incremental change. Plan mini units that develop skills in concert with engagement. Design small group experiences that are free of levels and other shame-inducing labels. Pump up independent reading with scaffolding and sociability. Harness writing about reading to convince students of their uniqueness. The shame factor is real. It's time we meet it head-on with innovation and the best thinking from multiple research fields. I Hate Reading is the tool that does just that.

Using Content-area Graphic Texts for Learning Meryl Jaffe, Katie Monnin, 2013 What counts as literacy has been redefined in today's classrooms. Teachers must address what it means to read and live in a multi-literate world that includes both print text and image text. Focused specifically on young adult graphic novels in the four primary content areas: math, language arts, social studies, and science. Using Content Area Graphic Texts for Learning: A Guide for Middle Level Educators by Dr. Meryl Jaffe and Dr. Katie Monnin empowers twenty-first century middle school educators to not only better understand content area graphic novels but also teach them. Like their print counterparts, graphic texts reinforce traditional content area thinking skills like memory, attention, cognition, language learning, and sequencing. Unlike print texts, however, comics and graphic novels reach out to diverse types of literacy learners and their particular reading strengths, making them the perfect high-quality literary level texts for core content area classrooms. Using Content Area Graphic Texts for Learning begins with the building blocks of graphic novel terminology. 101 moves into a detailed look at how graphic texts specifically help and empower different types of learners and then branches off into specific chapters for each of four content areas: math, language arts social studies and science Each of these content area chapters includes an overview of how graphic novels help students tackle integrate and enhance content area material two content area lesson plans each utilizing graphic novels in different ways a demonstration of what that lesson plan is asking students to do focusing on five learning skills attention memory language sequencing and cognition and how the lesson aligns with the appropriate content area s Common Core Standards a discussion on how graphic novels help different types of learners succeed in the content area classrooms and a list of suggested graphic novels for each content area classroom Jaffe and Monnin more than make the case for using graphic novels as valid young adult literary texts that engage students and meet Common Core State Standards within the content area classroom Expression ,1915 Music and the Road Gordon E.
