Colby, 2018-05-01 Since the release of the documentary Blackfish in 2013 millions around the world have focused on the plight of the orca the most profitable and controversial display animal in history Yet until now no historical account has explained how we came to care about killer whales in the first place Drawing on interviews official records private archives and his own family history Jason M Colby tells the exhilarating and often heartbreaking story of how people came to love the ocean s greatest predator Historically reviled as dangerous pests killer whales were dying by the hundreds even thousands by the 1950s the victims of whalers fishermen and even the US military In the Pacific Northwest fishermen shot them scientists harpooned them and the Canadian government mounted a machine gun to eliminate them But that all changed in 1965 when Seattle entrepreneur Ted Griffin became the first person to swim and perform with a captive killer whale The show proved wildly popular and he began capturing and selling others including Sea World's first Shamu. Over the following decade live display transformed views of Orcinus orca. The public embraced killer whales as charismatic and friendly while scientists enjoyed their first access to live orcas. In the Pacific Northwest these captive encounters reshaped regional values and helped drive environmental activism including Greenpeace's anti whaling campaigns. Yet even as Northwesterners taught the world to love whales they came to oppose their captivity and to fight for the freedom of a marine predator that had become a regional icon. This is the definitive history of how the feared and despised killer became the beloved orca and what that has meant for our relationship with the ocean and its creatures.

Death at SeaWorld David Kirby, 2012-07-17 From the New York Times bestselling author of Evidence of Harm and Animal Factory a groundbreaking scientific thriller that exposes the dark side of SeaWorld America's most beloved marine mammal park. Death at SeaWorld centers on the battle with the multimillion dollar marine park industry over the controversial and even lethal ramifications of keeping killer whales in captivity. Following the story of marine biologist and animal advocate at the Humane Society of the US Naomi Rose Kirby tells the gripping story of the two decade fight against PR savvy SeaWorld which came to a head with the tragic death of trainer Dawn Brancheau in 2010. Kirby puts that horrific animal on human attack in context. Brancheau's death was the most publicized among several brutal attacks that have occurred at Sea World and other marine mammal theme parks. Death at SeaWorld introduces real people taking part in this debate from former trainers turned animal rights activists to the men and women that champion SeaWorld and the captivity of whales. In section two the orcas act out. And as the story progresses and orca attacks on trainers become increasingly violent the warnings of Naomi Rose and other scientists fall on deaf ears only to be realized with the death of Dawn Brancheau. Finally he covers the media backlash the eyewitnesses who come forward to challenge SeaWorld's glossy image and the groundbreaking OSHA case that challenges the very idea of keeping killer whales in captivity and may spell the end of having trainers in the water with the ocean's top predators.

Swim Pretty Jennifer A. Kokai, 2017-06-28 Drawing on cultural associations with bodies of water the spectacle of pretty women and the appeal of the concept of family friendly productions performative aquatic spectacles portray water as an exotic fantasy environment exploitable for the purpose of entertainment. In Swim Pretty Jennifer A. Kokai reveals the influential role of aquatic spectacles in shaping cultural perceptions of aquatic ecosystems in the United States over the past century. Examining dramatic works in water and performances at four water parks Kokai shows that the evolution of these works and performances helps us better understand our ever changing relationship with the oceans and their inhabitants. Kokai sorts the regard for and harnessing of water in aquatic spectacles into three categories natural tamed and domesticated and discusses the ways in which these modes of water are engaged in the performances through an aesthetics of descension. Ultimately this study links the uncritical love of aquatic spectacles to a disregard for the rights of marine animals and lack of concern for the marine environment.
