Inner Experiences: Theory, Measurement, Frequency, Content, and Functions Alain Morin, Thomas M.

Brinthaup, Jason D. Runyan, 2016-02-26 One fundamental topic of scientific inquiry in psychology is the study of what William James called the stream of consciousness our ongoing experience of the world and ourselves from within our inner experiences These internal states aka stimulus independent thoughts include inner speech mental imagery feelings sensory awareness internally produced sounds or music unsymbolized thinking and mentalizing thinking about others mental states They may occur automatically during mind wandering daydreaming and resting state episodes and may focus on one s past present or future mental time travel e g autoautonoetic consciousness Inner experiences also may take the form of intrusive or ruminative thoughts The types characteristics frequency content and functions of inner experiences have been studied using a variety of traditional methods among which questionnaires thought listing procedures i e open ended self reports thinking aloud techniques and daily dairies Another approach articulatory suppression consists in blocking participants use of verbal thinking while completing a given task deficits indicate that inner speech plays a causal role in normal task completion Various thought sampling approaches have also been developed in an effort to gather more ecologically valid data Previous thought sampling studies have relied on beepers that signal participants to report aspects of their inner experiences at random intervals More recent studies are exploiting smartphone technology to easily and reliably probe randomly occurring inner experiences in large samples of participants These various measures have allowed researchers to learn some fundamental facts about inner experiences To illustrate it is becoming increasingly clear that prospection future oriented thinking greatly depends on access to autobiographical memory past oriented thinking where recollection of past scenes is used as a template to formulate plausible future scenarios The main goal of the present Research Topic was to offer a scientific platform for the dissemination of current high quality research pertaining to inner experiences Although data on all forms of inner experiences were welcome reports on recent advances in inner speech research were particularly encouraged Here are some examples of topics of interest 1 description and validation of new scales inventories questionnaires measuring any form of inner experience 2 novel uses or improvements of existing measures of inner experiences 3 development of new smartphone technology facilitating or broadening the use of cell phones to sample inner experiences 4 frequency content and functions of various inner experience 5 correlations between personality or cognitive variables and any aspects of inner experiences 6 philosophical or theoretical considerations pertaining to inner experiences and 7 inner experience changes with age

The "Other" Psychology of Julian Jaynes Brian J. McVeigh, 2018-01-17 In his provocative but critically acclaimed theory about the origin of introspectable mentality Julian Jaynes argued that until the late second millennium people possessed a different psychology a two chambered bicameral neurocultural arrangement in which a commanding god guided admonished and ordered about a listening mortal via voices visions and visitations Out of the cauldron of civilizational collapse and chaos an adaptive self reflexive consciousness emerged better suited to the pressures of larger more complex sociopolitical systems Though often described as boldly iconoclastic and far ahead of its time Jaynes's thinking actually resonates with a second or other psychological tradition that explores the cultural historical evolution of psyche Brian J McVeigh a student of Jaynes points out the blind spots of mainstream establishment psychology by providing empirical support for Jaynes's ideas on sociohistorical shifts in cognition He argues that from around 3500 to 1000 BCE the archaeological and historical record reveals features of hallucinatory super religiosity in every known civilization As social pressures eroded the god centered authority of bicamerality an upgraded psychology of interiorized self awareness arose during the Late Bronze Age Collapse A key explanatory component of Jaynes's theorizing was how metaphors constructed a mental landscape populated with I's and me's that replaced a declining worldview dominated by gods ancestors and spirits McVeigh statistically substantiates how linguistic conceptual changes reflected psychohistorical developments because supernatural entities functioned in place of our inner selves vocabularies for psychological terms were strikingly limited in ancient languages McVeigh also demonstrates the surprising ubiquity of hearing voices in modern times contending that hallucinations are bicameral vestiges and that mental imagery a controllable semi hallucinatory experience is the successor to the divine hallucinations that once held societies together This thought provoking work will appeal to anyone interested in the transformative power of metaphors the development of mental lexicons and the adaptive role of hallucinations

Reflections on Self Psychology (Psychology Revivals) Joseph Lichtenberg, Samuel Kaplan, 2014-01-27 Originally published in 1983 Reflections on Self Psychology records the development of a powerful initiative to alter psychoanalytic theory and practice and an evaluative questioning of this initiative. It presents a dialogue that developed at the Boston Symposium of 1980 between vigorous proponents of self psychology equally energetic critics and many participants between these polar positions. This book attempts to capture within its pages not only the content of what was presented, explored and evaluated in Boston but also a sense of the people about 1 000 strong who exchanged their ideas on and off the podium and the remarkable spirit of open inquiry that invigorated these proceedings. The book as was the meeting is organized to explore four subjects: the development of the self, infant research, the implications of self psychology for psychoanalytic practice, self psychology and psychotherapy, and the implications of self psychology for psychoanalytic theory. The final section of the book is devoted to an essay by Heinz Kohut that provides an integrated response to the issues and criticisms raised in the course of the symposium. This essay, while based on extemporaneous responses by Kohut during different phases of the meeting, is in its written version a cohesive, carefully revised and edited statement prepared in the mellowing period following the meeting and before Kohut's untimely death.

The Search for the Self Heinz Kohut, 2018-05-08. The re-issuing of the four volumes of the author's writings is a major publishing event for psychoanalysts who are interested in both the theoretical and the therapeutic aspects of psychoanalysis. These volumes contain the author's pre-self psychology essays as well as those he wrote in order to continue to expand on his groundbreaking ideas which he presented in The Analysis of the Self, The Restoration of the Self and in How Does Analysis Cure? These volumes of The Search for the Self permit the reader to understand not only the above three basic texts of psychoanalytic self psychology more profoundly but also to appreciate the author's sustained openness to further changes to dare to present his self psychology as in continued flux, influenced by newly emerging empirical data of actual clinical practice. The current re-issue of the four volumes of The Search for the Self would assure that the younger generation of psychoanalysts would be exposed to a clinical theory that could contribute greatly to solving the therapeutic dilemmas facing psychoanalysis today. This is Volume one. A History of Psychology George Sidney Brett, 1912. Empathy II

(Psychology Revivals) Joseph Lichtenberg, Melvin Bornstein, Donald Silver, 2014-01-27. When the late Heinz Kohut defined psychoanalysis as the science of empathy and introspection, he sparked a debate that has animated psychoanalytic discourse ever since. What is the relationship of empathy to psychoanalysis? Is it a constituent of analytical technique, an integral aspect of the therapeutic action of analysis, or simply a metaphor for a mode of observation better understood via classical theory and terminology? The dialogue about empathy, which is really a dialogue about the nature of the analytic process, continues in this two-volume set originally published in 1984. In Volume I, several illuminating attempts to define empathy are followed by Kohut's essay Introspection, Empathy and the Semicircle of Mental Health. Kohut's paper in turn ushers in a series of original contributions on Empathy as a Perspective in Psychoanalysis. The volume ends with five papers which strive to demarcate an empathic approach to various areas of artistic endeavour, including the appreciation of visual art. Volume II continues the dialogue with a series of developmental studies which explore the role of empathy in early child care at the same time as they chart the emergence of the young child's capacity to empathize. In the concluding section Empathy in Psychoanalytic Work contributors and discussants return to the arena of technique. They not only theorize about empathy in relation to analytic understanding and communication but address issues of nosology considering how the empathic vantage point may be utilized in the treatment of patients with borderline and schizophrenic pathology. In their critical attention to the many dimensions of empathy philosophical developmental therapeutic artistic the contributors collectively bear witness to the fact that Kohut has helped to shape new questions but not set limits to the search for answers. The product of their efforts is an anatomical exploration of a topic whose relevance for psychoanalysis and psychotherapy is only beginning to be understood.

A Text-book in Psychology Johann Friedrich Herbart, 1891 Tourist Experience and Fulfilment Sebastian Filep, Philip Pearce, 2013-07-31 What makes life worth living? Many people would argue that it is fulfilling experiences. These experiences are characterised by feelings of joy and pleasure, positive relationships and a sense of engagement, meaning and achievement. Tourism is arguably one of the largest self-initiated commercial interventions to promote well-being and happiness on the global scale but yet there is an absence in the literature on the topic of fulfilling tourist experiences from psychological perspectives. Drawing on insights and theories from the research field of positive psychology the study of well-being this is the first edited book to evaluate tourist experiences from positive psychology perspectives. The volume addresses the important topic of fulfilment through the lens of the world's largest social global phenomenon, tourism. In doing so the book refreshes and challenges some aspects of tourist behaviour research. The chapters are grouped under three broad sections which reflect a range of positive psychological outcomes that personal holiday experiences can produce, namely happiness and humour, meaning and self-actualisation and health and restoration. The book critically explores these fulfilling experiences from interdisciplinary perspectives and includes research studies from a wide range of geographical regions. By analysing the contemporary fulfilling tourist experiences the book will provide further understanding of tourist behaviour and experience. Written by leading academics this significant volume will appeal to those interested in Tourism and Positive Psychology.

Recent Religious Psychology Albert Rudolph Uren, 1928 Progress in Self Psychology, V. 8 Arnold I. Goldberg, 2013-05-13 New Therapeutic Visions begins with Lachmann and Beebe's developmental perspectives on representational and self-object transferences followed by commentaries. In Section II the self psychological approach is brought to bear on the clinical treatment of an adolescent girl incest survivors, addictive personalities, patients exhibiting codependency and a case of desomatization. Section III on applied self psychology contains chapters on the theory of creativity, subjectivism, relativism and realism in psychoanalysis and quantum physics and self psychology. The final section offers two critical review essays on major contributions to the self psychology literature by Wolf by Bacal and Newman and by Lichtenberg. Stolorow's chronicle of his personal odyssey into self psychology and intersubjectivity theory rounds out
