Searching The Thames A Journey From The Source To The Sea:

Searching the Thames Denis Waugh, Priscilla Waugh, 1999 Through 80 photographs by the acclaimed Denis Waugh this book traces the Thames from its source in the Gloucestershire countryside to the wide marshland skies of its estuary Each photograph is accompanied by text exploring the river's past Water Library Basia Irland, 2007 Water Library is a tribute to ecology expressed through art Irland's art projects explore practical ways to conserve water through rain harvesting systems how to foster dialogue and cooperation along the entire length of a river and the dangerous impact of waterborne diseases on human health By offering thought provoking information presented poetically Water Library inspires in readers a broader appreciation of water's importance in their everyday lives Books Magazine, 1998 Finding-list of the Salem public library. July, 1889. [With] Salem Mass, publ. libr, 1889 Finding-list of the Salem Public Library Salem Public Library, 1889 The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 2000 First[-sixth] Supplement to the Finding List of the Salem Public Library, Salem, Mass., December 1889[-October, 1894] Salem Public Library, 1889 Travel and Tourism in Britain, 1700-1914 Vol 4 Susan Barton, Allan Brodie, 2021-12-16 The British led the way in holidaymaking This four volume primary resource collection brings together a diverse range of texts on the various forms of transport used by tourists the destinations they visited the role of entertainments and accommodation and how these affected the way that tourism evolved over two centuries Volume 4 Seaside Resorts The final volume presents case studies of four major seaside resorts Scarborough Margate Brighton and Blackpool Scarborough evolved from a spa town to a seaside resort Margate became a coastal resort from scratch and became one of the earliest sites of mass tourism Brighton had sea bathers by the 1730s and its early development followed a similar path to that of Margate but its royal connections allowed its rapid growth into a large town with high quality accommodation When the railway arrived at Blackpool in 1846 it was a large village Thirty years later it had two piers and a large hotel Its steady growth was due to the stream of working class visitors from the local hinterland of major industrial towns and cities Finding Lists of the Chicago Public Library, 1889-1895 Chicago Public Library, 1895 London in Cinema Charlotte Brunsdon, 2019-07-25 Charlotte Brunsdon's illuminating study explores the variety of cinematic Londons that appear in films made since 1945 Brunsdon traces the familiar ways that film makers establish that a film is set in London by use of recognisable landmarks and the city's shorthand iconography of red buses and black taxis as well as the ways in which these icons are avoided She looks at London weather fog and rain and everyday locations like the pub and the housing estate while also examining the recurring patterns of representation associated with films set in the East and West Ends of London from Spring in Park Lane 1948 to Mona Lisa 1986 and from Night and the City 1950 to From Hell 2001 Brunsdon provides a detailed analysis of a selection of films exploring their contribution to the cinematic geography of London and showing the ways in which feature films have responded to and created changing views of the city She traces London's transformation from imperial capital to global city through the different ways in which the local is imagined in films ranging from Ealing comedies to Pressure 1974 as well as through the shifting imagery of the River Thames and the Docks She addresses the role of cinematic genres such as horror and film noir in the constitution of the cinematic city as well as the recurrence of figures such as the cockney the gangster and the housewife Challenging the view that London is not a particularly cinematic city Brunsdon demonstrates that many London set films offer their own meditation on the complex relationships between the cinema and the city

Documenting Cityscapes Iván Villarrea

Álvarez,2015-05-12 While film studies has traditionally treated the presence of the city in film as an urban text operating inside of a cinematic one this approach has recently evolved into the study of cinema as a technology of place From this perspective Documenting Cityscapes explores the way the city has been depicted by nonfiction filmmakers since the late 1970s paying particular attention to three aesthetic tendencies documentary landscaping urban self portraits and metafilmic strategies Through the formal analysis of fifteen works from six different countries this volume investigates how the rise of subjectivity has helped to develop a kind of gaze that is closer to citizens than to the institutions and corporations responsible for recent major transformations Documenting Cityscapes therefore reveals the extent to which cinema has become an agent of urban change in which certain films not only challenge the most controversial policies of late capitalism but also are able to produce spatiality themselves

New Found Lands Peter Whitfield, 2015-12-22 First Published in 1998 An exploration narrative can be a tale of adventure and endurance a technical account of navigation and seamanship or a political history of the overseas empires that were built up in the wake of the explorers In New Found Lands Peter Whitfield takes a different approach By focusing on the maps that the explorers themselves used Whitfield reveals how the both the explorers and their patrons understood their expanding world and their place in it what they were seeking and how they thought they could achieve it and how they integrated new knowledge into their evolving world view The maps in New Found Lands present the geographical ideas of the time making plain the power that came with increasing technical and geographical knowledge They also serve as evocative and poignant reminders of the limited knowledge of these explorers For up until very recent times as these maps show there have been areas of the world remaining to be explored and new found lands to discover This lavishly illustrated book progresses chronologically starting with the explorers of the ancient world covering the East the New World the Pacific Australia and the Modern Era It will enrich our understanding of the voyages of discovery undertaken over the past 2000 years and will delight any map or history lover Also includes 150 color and black and white maps
