Secured Credit Under English and American Law Gerard McCormack, 2004-06-14 Secured Credit drives economic activity Under English Law it is possible to create security over almost any asset but the law is widely considered to be unsatisfactory for several reasons including a cumbersome registration system a preoccupation with formalistic distinctions and the lack of clear and rationally determined priority rules Gerard McCormack examines the current state of English law highlighting its weaknesses He uses Article 9 of the American Uniform Commercial Code as a reference point this Article has successfully serviced the world's largest economy for over 40 years and is increasingly used as the basis for legislation by Commonwealth jurisdictions including Canada and New Zealand The Law Commission has suggested the enactment of similar legislation in England In addition McCormack considers if there really is a case for the priority of secured credit as well as if there are other international models to draw upon Contains the text of Article 9 Secured Credit in Europe Teemu Juutilainen, 2018-03-22 Winner of the 2016 2018 KG Idman Prize This monograph seeks the optimal way to promote compatibility between systems of proprietary security rights in Europe focusing on security rights over tangible movables and receivables Based on comparative research it proposes how best to tackle cross border problems impeding trade and finance notably uncertainty of enforceability and unexpected loss of security rights It offers an extensive analysis of the academic literature of more recent years that has appeared in English German the Scandinavian languages and Finnish The author organises the concrete means of promoting compatibility into a centralised substantive approach a centralised conflicts approach a local conflicts approach and a local substantive approach The centralised approaches develop EU law and the local approaches Member State laws The substantive approaches unify or harmonise substantive law while the conflicts approaches rely on private international law The author proposes determining the optimal way to promote compatibility by objective based division of labour between the four approaches The objectives developed for that purpose are derived from the economic functions of security rights the conditions for legal evolution and a transnational conception of justice This book is an important contribution to the future of secured transactions law in Europe and more widely It will be of interest to academics policymakers and legal practitioners involved in this field The Future of Secured Credit in Europe Horst Eidenmüller, Eva-Maria Kieninger, 2012-07-12 This volume contains the reports and discussions presented at the conference The Future of Secured Credit in Europe in Munich from July 12th to July 14th 2007 It aims at taking the debate to a new stage by exploring the need and possible avenues for creating a European law of security interests The first part examines from an economic and a community law perspective the case for European lawmaking on secured credit and the legislative approach to be taken The intention in the second and third part is to look in more detail at the choices European lawmakers will have to make in devising a European law of secured credit The second part focuses on secured transactions involving corporeal movables tangibles whereas the third part considers categories of collateral that may
