Seeing Writing:

Writing and Seeing Rui Manuel G. de Carvalho Homem, Maria de Fátima Lambert, 2006 The essays in this volume are informed by a variety of theoretical assumptions and of critical methodologies but they all share an interest in the intersections of word and image in a variety of media This unifying rationale secures the present collection's central position in the current critical context defined as it predominantly is by ways of reading that are based on a relational nexus The intertextual the intermedial the intersemiotic are indeed foregrounded and combined in these essays conceptually as much as in the critical practices favoured by the various contributions Studies of literature in its relation to pictorial genres enjoy a relative prominence in the volume but the range of media and of approaches considered is broad enough to include photography film video television comic strips animated film public art material culture The backgrounds of contributors are likewise diverse culturally academically linguistically The volume combines contributions by prominent scholars and critics with essays by younger scholars from a variety of backgrounds The resulting plurality of perspective is indeed a source of new insights into the relations between writing and seeing and it contributes to making this collection an exciting new contribution to word and image studies

Writing and Being G. Lynn Nelson, 2004 Writing is a doorway to our most creative spiritual self Writing and Being approaches writing at the source of the process and then with guided personal writing leads us outward to meaningful and authentic public writing With powerful practical step by step writing exercises and a plethora of examples Writing and Being demonstrates that journaling is the most profound way that we can discover our authentic selves But beyond mere diary writing the new found clarity through Nelson's journaling methods help us chart a path for a better future Nelson begins by providing tips for the logistics of journal keeping and includes suggestions for getting started He then explores the entire writing process and explains the distinctions between private writing and public writing By shedding light on the relationship between meditation and writing he shows the value of being nonjudgmental and having soft eyes and a beginner's mind Nelson also explains the biology behind the powerful experience of journaling by laying out recent discoveries of the human brain and shows how journaling can heal psychological and spiritual wounds Lastly he shows how journaling is not only a voyage of self discovery but through expanding the private writing process can become a means of sharing one's life

Writing for Theatre Kim Wiltshire, 2015-12-01 Writing for theatre is a unique art form different even from other kinds of scriptwriting Making theatre is a truly collaborative process which can be a tricky aspect to grasp when starting out This book will take you on a journey from the origins of theatre to what it means to write for the stage today It includes a series of interviews with writers directors and dramaturgs all of whom are making theatre now providing an unrivalled glimpse into the world of contemporary theatre making Kim Wiltshire explores the foundations traits and skills necessary for playwriting alongside the creative possibilities of writing theatre in the digital age Each part of the book ends with a series of exercises which students of the craft can use to practise their art and stretch their creativity

Reading

and Writing for Pleasure Teresa Cremin, Helen Hendry, Liz Chamberlain, Samantha Jayne Hulston, 2025-09-12 Reading and writing for pleasure represent issues of global concern and interest in policy research and practice underpinned by evidence illustrating their importance for young people's academic social and emotional experiences and outcomes In the face of a sustained decline in children's enjoyment in both reading and writing this highly significant book presents findings from a three year study of research and practice that nurtures young people's engagement as readers and writers The book offers a rich understanding of the study highlighting the commonalities and synergies identified from the research literature and diverse practice contexts It introduces a new and powerful Reading and Writing Framework for Practice for schools and charitable literacy programmes The authors offer practical strategies and recommendations throughout for practitioners researchers and policy makers who wish to advance this agenda in their own contexts Areas covered include The nature of reading and writing for pleasure Literate identities Motivating readers and writers Social interactions Role models and connected communities Future research practice and policy This field defining text is a key resource for all those committed to halting the decline in young people's engagement as volitional readers and writers

Writing from the Margins Carolyn Ericksen Hill, 1990 Michael Ondaatje: Haptic Aesthetics and Micropolitical Writing Milena Marinkova, 2011-07-14 This study of selected literary and cinematic works by Michael Ondaatje investigates the political potential of the Canadian author's aesthetics Contributing to current debates about affect and representation ideology critique and the artwork trauma and testimony this book uses the concept of the haptic to demonstrate how Ondaatje's multisensory fluid and historically inflected writing can forge an enabling relationship between audience author and text This is where Ondaatje's micropolitics often misconstrued as ideologically suspect aestheticism emerges a praxis that intimates how one can write and read politically with a difference

Writing Technology Christina Haas, 2013-11-05 Academic and practitioner journals in fields from electronics to business to language studies as well as the popular press have for over a decade been proclaiming the arrival of the computer revolution and making far reaching claims about the impact of computers on modern western culture Implicit in many arguments about the revolutionary power of computers is the assumption that communication language and words are intimately tied to culture that the computer s transformation of communication means a transformation a revolutionizing of culture Moving from a vague sense that writing is profoundly different with different material and technological tools to an understanding of how such tools can and will change writing writers written forms and writing s functions is not a simple matter Further the question of whether and how changes in individual writers experiences with new technologies translate into large scale cultural revolutions remains unresolved This book is about the relationship of writing to its technologies It uses history theory and empirical research to argue that the effects of computer technologies on literacy are complex always incomplete and far from unitary despite a great deal of popular and even scholarly discourse about the inevitability of the computer revolution The author argues that just as computers impact on discourse discourse itself impacts technology and explains how technology is used in educational settings and beyond

The Gelug/Kagyu Tradition of Mahamudra H.H. the Fourteenth Dalai Lama, Alexander Berzin, 1997-01-01 Mahamudra the great sealing nature refers to systems of meditation on both the conventional and ultimate natures of the mind These have been transmitted through the Kagyu Sakya and Gelug traditions of Tibetan Buddhism Within the Gelug Mahamudra teachings occur in a combined Gelug Kagyu tradition exemplified in the First Panchen Lama s Root Text for the Precious Gelug Kagyu Tradition of Mahamudra The work presented here contains two brilliant commentaries by the Dalai Lama The first is a teaching based directly on the First Panchen Lama s root text In the second His Holiness bases his discussion on the First Panchen Lama s own commentary to this text The book opens with an overview of Mahamudra by Alexander Berzin that discusses the relation of mind appearances and reality and offers practical techniques for overcoming problems of excessive worry anxiety and disturbing thoughts This treasury of practical instruction contains extensive teachings on the nature of mind the development of shamata sutra and tantra levels of Mahamudra and the compatibility of Dzogchen and Anuttarayoga Tantra
