International Handbook of Rural Demography László J. Kulcsár, Katherine J. Curtis, 2011-12-15 This is the third in an essential series of Springer handbooks that explore key aspects of the nexus between demography and social science With an inclusive international perspective and founded on the principles of social demography this handbook shows how the rural population which recently dropped below 50 per cent of the world total remains a vital segment of society living in proximity to much needed developmental and amenity resources The rich diversity of rural areas shapes the capacity of resident communities to address far reaching social environmental and economic challenges Some will survive become sustainable and even thrive while others will suffer rapid depopulation

This handbook demonstrates how these future development trajectories will vary according to local characteristics including but not limited to population composition. The growing complexity of rural society is in part a product of significant international variations in population trends making this comparative and comprehensive study of rural demography all the more relevant. Collating the latest research on international rural demography, the handbook will be an invaluable aid to policy makers as they try to understand how demographic dynamics depend on the economic, social and environmental characteristics of rural areas. It will also aid researchers assessing the unique factors at play in the rural context and endeavoring to produce meaningful results that will advance policy and scholarship. Finally, the handbook is an ideal text for graduate students in a spread of disciplines from sociology to international development.

Reinventing Rural Gregory M. Fulkerson, Alexander R. Thomas, 2016-10-19. Reinventing Rural is a collection of original research papers that examine the ways in which rural people and places are changing in the context of an urbanizing world. This includes exploring the role of the environment, the economy and related issues such as tourism. While traditionally relying on primary sector work in agriculture, mining, natural resources and the like, rural areas are finding new ways to sustain themselves. This involves a new emphasis on environmental protection as one important strategy has been to capitalize on natural amenities to attract residents and tourists. Beyond improvements to the economy are general improvements to the quality of life in rural communities. Consistent with this, the volume focuses on the two cornerstones of education and health, considering current challenges and offering ideas for reinventing rural quality of life.

Postcolonial Lesbian Identities in Singapore Shawna Tang, 2016-10-04. Taking lesbians in Singapore as a case study, this book explores the possibility of a modern gay identity in a postcolonial society that is not dependent on Western queer norms. It looks at the core question of how this identity can be reconciled with local culture and how it relates to global modernities and dominant understandings of what it means to be queer. It engages with debates about globalization, post colonialism and sexuality while emphasising the specificity, diversity and interconnectedness of local lesbian sexualities.

Migration and Integration in Singapore Yap Mui Teng, Gillian Koh, Debbie Soon, 2014-10-30 Between 2000 and 2010 Singapore witnessed a huge influx of foreign migrants. The proportion of permanent residents in the total population increased from 7% to 11% while the share of non-resident foreigners has risen from 19% to 25%. This was as much the result of the spontaneous movement of labour to economic opportunities as it was of active policy direction by the Singapore government. The social impact, both beneficial and disruptive of this movement, was felt at all levels of society and brought other attending public policy issues to the fore. Taking a multi-disciplinary approach with a focus on policy and practice, this book examines the social, economic and political issues that have arisen with the influx of foreigners in Singapore since the turn of the 21st century. Drawing on empirical research, it documents the impact of increasing levels of immigration and provides an analysis of the longer-term implications of these trends, with each chapter covering a different aspect of socio-cultural, political or economic outcome arising from intercultural contact and adaptation. The contributors also provide policy suggestions to ensure Singapore continues to be a harmonious nation and a cosmopolitan and vibrant global city. Migration and Integration in Singapore: Policies and Practice will appeal to students and scholars of Southeast Asian studies, migration and social policy, as well as to practitioners and policy makers with an interest in migration in the region. Singapore Garry Rodan, 2017-07-12 This title was first published in 2001. A collection of valuable previously published essays analyzing the major social dynamics shaping the increasingly complex society, economy and polity of contemporary Singapore. Topics range from ideology and culture to the character of the state and its institutions and the possibilities for political reform. Managing Global Risks in the Urban Age Yee-Kuang Heng, 2016-03-03 The first full-length exposition of what it terms a global city/global risks nexus, this volume crosses disciplinary boundaries to draw upon research from Security Studies, Geography, Sociology and Urban Studies. Innovative in its approach, integrating theories about Global Cities with those positing a Global Risk Society, Yee-Kuang Heng positions this research in the midst of two concurrent global trends that will gain more significance in coming years. The world is experiencing the consequences of not only rapid globalisation but also urbanization. In 2008 the UN declared that more than half the world's population was now urban. At the same time, highly connected global cities like New York, London, Tokyo and

Singapore also face rapidly spreading global risks such as pandemics and financial crises Unique in developing a typology of global risks that threaten a global city like Singapore beyond its Asian focus the book also draws out thematic and policy lessons pertinent to other global cities Global cities do not simply materialize They are dependent on a range of stakeholders at various levels that produce and re produce its command and control capabilities in the face of global risks Singapore s experiences managing global risks in the financial aviation and maritime domains are common concerns shared by many countries and cities that have or aspire to develop similar critical infrastructure The Handbook of Practice and Research in Study Abroad Ross Lewin,2010-11-24 Co published with the Association for American Colleges and Universities AAC U The Handbook of Practice and Research in Study Abroad is a comprehensive survey of the field Each chapter eloquently conveys an enthusiasm for study abroad alongside a critical assessment of the most up to date research theory and practice

Non-State Actors and Foreign Policy Agency Marianna Charountaki, Christos Kourtelis, Daniela Irrera, 2024-03-19 This edited volume discusses non state actors as agents of foreign policy It questions whether non state actors can act as foreign policy makers and if the contemporary role of non state actors constitutes a theoretical challenge to foreign policy Chapters demonstrate the impact of non state entities through the lenses of their direct role as decision makers with examples drawn from the African continent the Middle East Europe and Asia Arguing for the necessity of approaching foreign policy in a broader frame beyond the scope of the state and the individual the book fills a gap in the literature and creates a closer nexus between area studies and foreign policy This volume will be of interest to both academics and practitioners across the fields of international relations foreign policy analysis and area studies

Tamils, Social Capital and Educational Marginalization in Singapore Lavanya Balachandran, 2021-07-29 Labouring to Learn examines academic mobility pathways among ethnic minority Tamil youths in public secondary schools and vocational institutions in Singapore This book qualitatively examines the interactive effects of race and class on the educational performance of these youths through the lens of social capital Despite their numerical majoritarian position within the Indian population in Singapore the foreclosed access for Tamils to diverse class networks within the ethnic community as well as limited inter ethnic interactions has historically truncated the means to resources and opportunities for social mobility In schools the narratives shared by Tamil boys and girls from the lower academic streams and economically disadvantaged backgrounds reveal that they typically experience exclusion on account of racial economic and academic marginalisation in their everyday lives Turning to bonding ties among peers and family members provides social support resources that offer some respite from marginalisation On the flipside articulations of resistance ensue among Tamil youths that tangibly take time away from learning and run the danger of strengthening the cultural deficit rhetoric for mainstream society to explain the poor academic performance among ethnic minorities This account of educational marginalisation amongst Singaporean Tamil youths contributes towards understanding social inequality in a non liberal multicultural context where marginalisation is differentially experienced across ethnic minority groups and traced to broader socio historical contexts of migration assimilation and minority majority relations Furthermore it also articulates the utility of a social capital framework in historically revealing how educational inequality emerged and continues to be sustained in a postcolonial context
