Magnificent Milwaukee Architectural Treasures 1850-1920:

Magnificent Milwaukee H. Russell Zimmermann, 1987-01-01 Milwaukee in Stone and Clay Raymond

Wiggers, 2024-04-15 Milwaukee in Stone and Clay follows directly in the footsteps of Raymond Wiggers's previous award winning book Chicago in Stone and Clay. It offers a wide ranging look at the fascinating geology found in the building materials of Milwaukee County's architectural landmarks. And it reveals the intriguing and often surprising links between science, art, and engineering. Laid out in two main sections, the book first introduces the reader to the fundamentals of Milwaukee's geology and its amazing prehuman history, then provides a site by site tour guide. Written in an engaging informal style, this work presents the first in depth exploration of the interplay among the region's most architecturally significant sites, the materials they're made of, and the sediments and bedrock they're anchored in. Raymond Wiggers crafted Milwaukee in Stone and Clay as an informative and exciting overview of this city. His two decades of experience leading architectural geology tours have demonstrated the popularity of this approach and the subject matter. The Sandstone Architecture of the Lake Superior Region Kathryn Bishop Eckert, 2000 Eckert stresses the importance of the building materials as she explores the architectural history of a region whose builders wanted to reflect the local landscape.

Marble Palaces, Temples of Art Ingrid A. Steffensen-Bruce, 1998 The era from 1890 to 1930 constituted a building boom for American art museums designed in a monumental classical style. Both the proliferation of the buildings and the ubiquity of the style seem to indicate an architectural as well as a sociocultural phenomenon. The present work is an attempt to place the American art museum building of this period into its historical milieu and employs over one hundred illustrations and sociocultural analysis to explain the significance of both the institutions and the structures housing them to those who came into regular contact with them, including architects, patrons, journalists, and museum personnel. A Crowded Hour KEVIN ABING, 2017-06-25 The Wisconsin Magazine of History Milo Milton Quaife, Joseph Schafer, Edward Porter Alexander, 1986 Exclusively Yours, 1995 Architecture Series: Bibliography, 1988 America Restored Carol M. Highsmith, Ted Landphair, 1994 Here are represented recognizable and grand spaces such as Ellis Island in New York Harbor and the Chicago Theater, as well as small and intimate places such as the Dowse Sod House in Nebraska and Saint Philomena Church in Hawaii. And more than beautiful pictures are captured. Each site has a special story to tell. Grand schemes led to the creation of Chevalier Castle in Colorado while an especially creative solution to a space problem helped to establish the Custer County Art Center in Montana. One woman's determined and sturdy dedication brought about the Frontier Nursing Service in Kentucky which continues to serve mountain women in need. These and many other stories provide a moving and informative text that captures the human drama surrounding the restoration of these landmarks, some for a new use and others so they might continue as before. Uniform Trade List Annual, 1977
