cultural heritage Intimacy, Performance, and the Lied in the Early Nineteenth Century Jennifer Ronyak, 2018-09-10 The German lied or art song is considered one of the most intimate of all musical genres often focused on the poetic speaker's inner world and best suited for private and semi private performance in the home or salon Yet problematically any sense of inwardness in lieder depends on outward expression through performance With this paradox at its heart Intimacy Performance and the Lied in the Early Nineteenth Century explores the relationships between early nineteenth century theories of the inward self the performance practices surrounding inward lyric poetry and song and the larger conventions determining the place of intimate poetry and song in the public concert hall Jennifer Ronyak studies the cultural practices surrounding lieder performances in northern and central Germany in the first quarter of the nineteenth century demonstrating how presentations of lieder during the formative years of the genre put pressure on their sense of interiority She examines how musicians responded to public concern that outward expression would leave the interiority of the poet the song or the performer unguarded and susceptible to danger Through this rich performative paradox Ronyak reveals how a song maintains its powerful intimacy even during its inherently public performance The Story of the Stone: The Warning Voice (Volume III) Cao Xueqin, 2012-08-30 The Story of the Stone c 1760 also known by the title of The Dream of the Red Chamber is the great novel of manners in Chinese literature Divided into five volumes of which The Warning Voice is the third it charts the glory and decline of the illustrious Jia family a story which closely accords with the fortunes of the author's own family The two main characters Bao yu and Dai yu are set against a rich tapestry of humour realistic detail and delicate poetry which accurately reflects the ritualized hurly burly of Chinese family life But over and above the novel hangs the constant reminder that there is another plane of existence a theme which affirms the Buddhist belief in a supernatural scheme of things
