Moving Targets Towards Monitoring Rural Decentralisation:

Decentralisation in Africa Gordon Crawford, Christof Hartmann, 2008 Decentralisation in Afrika is een sobere beoordeling van wat decentralisatie precies kan bereiken Decentralisatie van overheden in Afrikaanse landen en elders in de derde wereld krijgt de laatste tijd een impuls vaak gedreven door Multilaterale en bilaterale instanties de donoren Maar worden de voordelen hiervan wel gerealiseerd In dit boek worden vraagtekens gezet bij de kwestie of decentralisatie wel een gunstige uitweg biedt voor de armoede en het conflict in Afrika

Moving Targets Fon van Oosterhout, 2002 The theme of decentralization has for decades caught the interest of professionals in political science and public administration and to a lesser degree economists and development policy makers and more recently social development professionals and experts in institutional development In this book the focus is on democratic decentralization probably the most difficult form of decentralization because governments can best perform their roles in service delivery and building democracy covering issues such as participation accountability and the politics of choice This title draws attention to the crucial issues in decentralization and monitoring and analyzes the guiding principles for setting up the system It invites the reader to consider the advantages of a flexible approach in monitoring through the focus on plausible rather than real causal relationships using a mix of quantitative and qualitative indicators involving not only __experts__ but all stakeholders including the local communities and finally it prioritizes the learning aspects in monitoring

Global Monitoring Report 2013 World Bank, International Monetary Fund, 2013-05-02 Global Monitoring Report GMR 2013 provides an annual assessment of progress towards the Millennium Development Goals MDGs and addresses this year's theme of rural urban dynamics and the MDGs

Education for All Global Monitoring Report 2008 United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO), 2007-11-29 Working towards the 2015 millennium development goals this global report marks the midterm point and provides a rich evidence based assessment of the provision of education on a global scale Based on specialized commissions extensive consultations and multiple research sources the report provides an authoritative comparative reference

Sundaram, 1997 Africa's Infrastructure World Bank, 2009-12-01 Sustainable infrastructure development is vital for Africa's prosperity And now is the time to begin the transformation This volume is the culmination of an unprecedented effort to document analyze and interpret the full extent of the challenge in developing Sub Saharan Africa's infrastructure sectors As a result it represents the most comprehensive reference currently available on infrastructure in the region The book covers the five main economic infrastructure sectors information and communication technology irrigation power transport and water and sanitation Africa's Infrastructure A Time for Transformation reflects the collaboration of a wide array of African regional institutions and development partners under the auspices of the Infrastructure Consortium for Africa It presents the findings of the Africa Infrastructure Country Diagnostic AICD a project launched following a commitment in 2005 by the international community after the G8 summit at Gleneagles Scotland to scale up financial support for infrastructure development in Africa The lack of reliable information in this area made it difficult to evaluate the success of past interventions prioritize current allocations and provide benchmarks for measuring future progress hence the need for the AICD Africa's infrastructure sectors lag well behind those of the rest of the world and the gap is widening Some of the main policy relevant findings highlighted in the book include the following infrastructure in the region is exceptionally expensive with tariffs being many times higher than those found elsewhere Inadequate and expensive infrastructure is retarding growth by 2 percentage points each year Solving the problem will cost over US 90 billion per year which is more than twice what is being spent in Africa today However money alone is not the answer Prudent policies wise management and sound maintenance can improve efficiency thereby stretching the infrastructure dollar There is the potential to recover an additional US 17 billion a year from within the existing infrastructure resource envelope simply by improving efficiency For example improved revenue collection and utility management could generate US 3.3 billion per year Regional power trade could reduce annual costs by US 2 billion And deregulating the trucking industry could reduce freight costs by one half So raising more funds without also tackling inefficiencies would be like pouring water into a leaking bucket Finally the power sector and fragile states represent particular challenges Even if every efficiency in every infrastructure sector could be captured a substantial funding gap of 31 billion a year would remain Nevertheless the African people and economies cannot wait any longer Now is the time to begin the transformation to sustainable development
