Metaphor Wars Raymond W. Gibbs, Jr, 2017-05-04 The study of metaphor is now firmly established as a central topic within cognitive science and the humanities We marvel at the creative dexterity of gifted speakers and writers for their special talents in both thinking about certain ideas in new ways and communicating these thoughts in vivid poetic forms Yet metaphors may not only be special communicative devices but a fundamental part of everyday cognition in the form of conceptual metaphors An enormous body of empirical evidence from cognitive linguistics and related disciplines has emerged detailing how conceptual metaphors underlie significant aspects of language thought cultural and expressive action Despite its influence and popularity there have been major criticisms of conceptual metaphor This book offers an evaluation of the arguments and empirical evidence for and against conceptual metaphors much of which scholars on both sides of the wars fail to properly acknowledge

United States Law and Policy on Transitional Justice Zachary D. Kaufman, 2017 In United States Law and Policy on Transitional Justice Principles Politics and Pragmatics Zachary D Kaufman explores the U S government's support for or opposition to certain transitional justice institutions By first presenting an overview of possible responses to atrocities such as war crimes tribunals and then analyzing six historical case studies Kaufman evaluates why and how the United States has pursued particular transitional justice options since World War II This book challenges the legalist paradigm which postulates that liberal states pursue war crimes tribunals because their decision makers hold a principled commitment to the rule of law Kaufman develops an alternative theory prudentialism which contends that any state liberal or illiberal may support bona fide war crimes tribunals More generally prudentialism proposes that states pursue transitional justice options not out of strict adherence to certain principles but as a result of a case specific balancing of politics pragmatics and normative beliefs Kaufman tests these two competing theories through the U S experience in six contexts Germany and Japan after World War II the 1988 bombing of Pan Am flight 103 the 1990 1991 Iraqi offenses against Kuwaitis the atrocities in the former Yugoslavia in the 1990s and the 1994 Rwandan genocide Kaufman demonstrates that political and pragmatic factors featured as or more prominently in U S transitional justice policy than did U S government officials normative beliefs Kaufman thus concludes that at least for the United States prudentialism is superior to legalism as an explanatory theory in transitional justice policymaking
