Relocating Television Jostein Gripsrud, 2012-07-26 For over half a century television has been the most central medium in Western democracies the political social and cultural centrepiece of the public sphere Television has therefore rarely been studied in isolation from its socio cultural and political context there is always something important at stake when the forms and functions of television are on the agenda The digitisation of television concerns the production contents distribution and reception of the medium but also its position in the overall largely digitised media system and public sphere where the internet plays a decisive role The articles in this comprehensive collection are written by some of the world s most prominent scholars in the field of media communication and cultural studies including critical film and television studies Relocating Television offers readers an insight into studying television alongside the internet participatory media and other technocultural phenomena such as DVDs user generated content and everyday digital media production It also focuses on more specific programmes and phenomena including The Wire MSN amateur footage in TV news Bollywoodization of TV news YouTube fan sites tied to e g Grey s Anatomy and X Factor Relocating Television will be highly beneficial to both students and academics across a wide range of undergraduate and postgraduate courses including media communication and cultural studies and television and film studies

A Handbook of Media and Communication Research Klaus Bruhn Jensen, 2013-04-15 A Handbook of Media and Communications Research presents qualitative as well as quantitative approaches to the analysis and interpretation of media covering perspectives from both the social sciences and the humanities The Handbook offers a comprehensive review of earlier research and a set of guidelines for how to think about plan and carry out studies of media in different social and cultural contexts Divided into sections on the history systematics and pragmatics of research and written by internationally acknowledged specialists in each area the Handbook will be a standard reference work for students and researchers

Empathy and the Aesthetic Mind Katerina Bantinaki,Efi Kyprianidou,Fotini Vassiliou,2025-06-26 Empathy is widely acknowledged as a central if not necessary mechanism for understanding works of art and even as the mode of engagement that mediates art s edifying effects Bringing together 15 essays by established scholars this volume probes the character and role of empathy in our engagement with different forms of art but also the value of such engagement for cognition our emotive life and our moral stance Opening with a historical reconstruction of the origins of the concept of empathy the volume develops in four parts that explore in turn our empathic engagement with fictional characters the cognitive value of such engagement its relevance for moral agency as well as the thorny issue of empathic engagement with the inanimate in art focusing on music and architecture With an interest in both aesthetics and philosophy of mind the volume provides an in depth discussion of these themes giving careful attention to historical systematic and interdisciplinary perspectives

Visual Environmental Communication Anders Hansen,David Machin,2016-03-17 In 2008 the editors published a well cited journal paper arguing that while scholarly work on media representations of environmental issues had made substantial progress in textual analysis there had been much less work on visual representations This is surprising given the increasingly visual nature of media and communication and in light of emerging evidence that the environment is visualized through the use of increasingly symbolic and iconic images Addressing these matters this volume marks out the present state of the field and contains chapters that represent fresh and exciting high quality scholarly work now emerging on visual environmental communication These include a range of fascinating and often alarming topics which draw on a variety of methods and forms of visual communication The book demonstrates that research needs to think much more widely about what we mean by the visual which plays a massive yet under researched role in the politics and ideology of public understanding and misunderstanding of and the environment and environmental problems The book is of relevance to students and researchers in media and communication studies cultural studies film and visual studies geography sociology politics and other disciplines with an interest in the politics of visual environmental communication This book was published as a special issue of Environmental Communication A Journal of Nature and Culture

Tamborini,2013 Moral psychology and media theory historical and emerging viewpoints by Allison Eden Matthew Grizzard and Robert J Lewis Universal morality mediated narratives and neural synchrony by Rene Weber Lucy Popova and J Michael Mangus A model of intuitive morality and exemplars by Ron Tamborini Morality subcultures and media production how Hollywood minds the morals of its audience by Dana Mastro et al The experience of elevation responses to media portrayals of moral beauty by Mary Beth Oliver Erin Ash and Julia K Woolley Moral disengagement during exposure to media violence would it feel right to shoot an innocent civilian in a video game by Tilo Hartmann Moral monitoring and emotionality in responding to fiction

sports and the news by Dolf Zillmann How we enjoy and why we seek out morally complex characters in media entertainment by Arthur A Raney and Sophie H Janicke The psychological functions of justice in mass media by Tobias Rothmund et al The effect of media on children's moral reasoning by Marina Krcmar Cinematic Chronotopes Pepita Hesselberth, 2014-06-19 The site of cinema is on the move The extent to which technologically mediated sounds and images continue to be experienced as cinematic today is largely dependent on the intensified sense of being here now and me that they convey This intensification is fundamentally rooted in the cinematic's potential to intensify our experience of time to convey time's thickening of which the sense of place and a sense of self presence are the correlatives In this study Pepita Hesselberth traces this thickening of time across four different spatio temporal configurations of the cinematic a multi media exhibition featuring the work of Andy Warhol 1928 1987 the handheld aesthetics of European art house films a large scale media installation by Rafael Lozano Hemmer and the usage of the trope of the flash forward in mainstream Hollywood cinema Only by juxtaposing these cases by looking at what they have in common this study argues can we grasp the complexity of the changes that the cinematic is currently undergoing Moving Images Jon Billsberry, Pauline Leonard, 2012-08-01 This book will inspire academics teachers and trainers to use film and television in their classrooms and to shows them how it might be done It brings together respected international scholars who recount their experiences of how they have used moving images in their classrooms defined widely to include distance learning with their explanations of why they chose this method of teaching and how they put their intentions into action The book also illustrates how particular subjects might be taught using film and television as an inspiration to demonstrate the range of opportunities that these media offer Finally this book considers some of the practical issues in using film and television in the classroom such as copyright technology and the representation of reality and drama in films This is a practical how to book that answers the questions of those people who have considered using film and television in their classroom but until now have shied away from doing so The opportunity to see how others have used film effectively breaks down psychological barriers and makes it seem both realistic and worthwhile Cinematic Narration and its Psychological Impact Peter Wuss, 2009-03-26 Film provides experience potential Contemporary cognitive psychology gives the opportunity to define this impact on the film spectators mind in regard to different aspects of cognition imagination and emotion Proceeding from these positions this book considers a number of practical issues of cinematic narration with which filmmakers theorists and cineastes are frequently confronted What is storytelling and how may we objectify the regularities to be found at work in different modes of narration in the fiction film among them structural principles of art cinema which are often experienced on a level beneath conscious reception What is the role of the element of conflict in the process of narration and what are the effects that the representation of conflict situations on the screen has on the viewers emotions How can we define cinematic tension and also suspense and how does each influence the disposition of the audience What constitutes a reality effect in fiction films and how can it vary in different modes of storytelling How are a given protagonists dreams fantasies and play behaviour integrated both into the course of narrative events and into the development of the spectator s imageries and ideas And finally How do film genres work on a psychological level Providing a theoretical framework for further empirical research the book outlines a differentiated model for analysing key devices of cinematic narration in view of their impact on the spectators mind

Realism and 'reality' in Film and Media Anne Jerslev,2002 The 2002 theme of Northern Lights is dedicated to the representation of reality in film TV and new media a question of new importance in modern film and media where a new wave of realism has dominated cinema and reality TV became a mass phenomena on both TV and the internet Eleven articles by Danish British and American film and media researchers focus on two sub themes Film and Realism deals theoretically with film realism and analyses classic films and modern Danish Dogma films Documentary Forms Reality TV and New Media treats new forms of non fiction film TV and on the internet in a both theoretical and historical perspective Mediated Memories in the Digital Age José van Dijck,2007 This book studies how our personal memory is transformed as a result of technological and cultural transformations digital photo cameras camcorders and multimedia computers inevitably change the way we remember and affect conventional forms of recollection Routledge Encyclopedia of Narrative Theory David Herman,Manfred Jahn,Marie-Laure Ryan,2010-06-10 The past several decades have seen an explosion of interest in narrative with this multifaceted object of inquiry becoming a central concern in a wide range of disciplinary fields and research contexts As accounts of what happened to particular people in particular circumstances and with specific consequences stories have come to be viewed as a basic human strategy for coming to terms with time process and change However the very predominance of narrative as a focus of interest across multiple disciplines makes it imperative for scholars teachers and students to have access to a comprehensive reference resource The Oxford Handbook of Entertainment Theory Peter Vorderer,Christoph Klimmt,2021-02-12 The proliferation of new digital technologies has given rise to an entirely changed media landscape and revolutionized how we seek entertainment Older entertainment media like novels radio and film have been joined by a host of digital media that smartphones allow us to carry almost anywhere and at all times from video games and social media to video on demand services This unprecedented ubiquity of entertainment media calls for new and more sophisticated theories that help us understand the fascination that different entertainment media exert on us and how they change the human experience The Oxford Handbook of Entertainment Theory surveys and furthers the most influential psychology driven research on media entertainment to illuminate how people are drawn into media experiences The 41 chapters in this Handbook not only offer fresh perspectives on established theories but also introduce emerging models and highlight the importance of considering the diverse backgrounds of media users when conducting research They also cover the motivations and reactions of media users in relationship to different types of media the trend towards interactive media such as video games and virtual reality and particularly popular media contents like sexuality violence sports and the news

As the most comprehensive overview of psychology based research on media entertainment available this Handbook is an invaluable resource for seasoned researchers and those beginning to learn about the field alike Animal Life and the Moving Image Michael Lawrence, Laura McMahon, 2019-07-25 From the proto cinematic sequencing of animal motion in the nineteenth century to the ubiquity of animal videos online the histories of animal life and the moving image are enigmatically interlocked Animal Life and the Moving Image is the first collection of essays to offer a sustained focus on the relations between screen cultures and non human animals The volume brings together some of the most important and influential writers working on the non human animal s significance for cultures and theories of the moving image It offers innovative analyses of the representation of animals across a wide range of documentary fiction mainstream and avant garde practices from early cinema to contemporary user generated media Individual chapters consider King Kong The Birds The Misfits The Cove Grizzly Man and Microcosmos the work of Sergei Eisenstein Robert Bresson Malcolm Le Grice Peter Greenaway Carolee Schneemann and Isabella Rossellini and YouTube stars Christian the lion and Maru the cat Screen Stories Carl Plantinga, 2018-04-06 The way we communicate with each other is vital to preserving the cultural ecology or wellbeing of a place and time Do we listen to each other Do we ask the right questions Do we speak about each other with respect or disdain The stories that we convey on screens or what author Carl Plantinga calls screen stories are one powerful and pervasive means by which we communicate with each other Screen Stories Emotion and the Ethics of Engagement argues that film and media studies needs to move toward an approach to ethics that is more appropriate for mass consumer culture and the lives of its citizens Primarily concerned with the relationship between media and viewers this book considers ethical criticism and the emotional power of screen stories that makes such criticism necessary The content we consume from television shows and movies to advertisements can significantly affect our welfare on a personal and societal level and thus this content is subject to praise and celebration or questioning and even condemnation The types of screen stories that circulate contribute to the cultural ecology of a time and place through shared attention they influence what individuals think and feel Plantinga develops a theory of the power of screen stories to affect both individuals and cultures asserting that we can better respond ethically to such media if we understand the sources of its influence on us Comedy and Cultural Critique in American Film Ryan Bishop, 2014-11-28 This book uses large scale social and cultural trends and major world events to analyse the American comedy film The Video Game Theory Reader Mark J.P. Wolf, Bernard Perron, 2013-10-08 In the early days of Pong and Pac Man video games appeared to be little more than an idle pastime Today video games make up a multi billion dollar industry that rivals television and film The Video Game Theory Reader brings together exciting new work on the many ways video games are reshaping the face of entertainment and our relationship with technology Drawing upon examples from widely popular games ranging from Space Invaders to Final Fantasy IX and Combat Flight Simulator 2 the contributors discuss the relationship between video games and other media the shift from third to first person games gamers and the gaming community and the important sociological cultural industrial and economic issues that surround gaming The Video Game Theory Reader is the essential introduction to a fascinating and rapidly expanding new field of media studies Cognitive Media Theory Ted Nannicelli, Paul Taberham, 2014-03-26 Across the academy scholars are debating the question of what bearing scientific inquiry has upon the humanities The latest addition to the AFI Film Readers series Cognitive Media Theory takes up this question in the context of film and media studies This collection of essays by internationally recognized researchers in film and media studies psychology and philosophy offers film and media scholars and advanced students an introduction to contemporary cognitive media theory an approach to the study of diverse media forms and content that draws upon both the methods and explanations of the sciences and the humanities Exploring topics that range from color perception to the moral appraisal of characters to our interactive engagement with videogames Cognitive Media Theory showcases the richness and diversity of cognitivist research This volume will be of interest not only to students and scholars of film and media but to anyone interested in the possibility of a productive relationship between the sciences and humanities A Companion to Motion Pictures and Public Value Mette Hjort, Ted Nannicelli, 2022-03-03 A singular collection of original essays exploring the varied intersections of motion pictures and public value A Companion to Motion Pictures and Public Value presents a cross disciplinary investigation of the past present and possible future contributions of the moving image to the public good This unique volume explores the direct and indirect public value developed through motion pictures of different types genres and screening sites Essays by world renowned scholars from diverse disciplines present original conceptual work philosophical arguments historical discussion empirical research and specific case studies Divided into seven thematically organized sections the Companion identifies the various kinds of values that motion pictures can deliver amongst them artistic ethical environmental cultural political cognitive and spiritual value Each section includes an introduction in which the editors outline main themes and highlight connections between individual chapters Throughout the text probing essays interrogate the issue of public value as it relates to the cinema and provide insight into how motion pictures play a positive role in human life and society Featuring original research essays on a pioneering topic this innovative reference text Brings together work by expert authors in disciplines such as Philosophy Political Science Cultural Studies Film Studies Sociology and Environmental Studies Discusses a variety of institutional landscapes policy formations and types and styles of filmmaking Provides wide and inclusive coverage of cinema s relation to public value in Africa Asia China Europe the Middle East and the Americas Explores the role of motion pictures in community formation nation building and the construction of good societies Covers new and emerging topics such as cinema based fields focused on health and wellbeing A Companion to Motion Pictures and Public Value is an ideal textbook for advanced undergraduate and graduate courses in Film Media and Cultural Studies and is a valuable resource for scholars across a variety of disciplines
