Sheridan Le Fanu, 2004-09-01 Green Tea; Mr. Justice Harbottle Joseph Sheridan Le Fanu, 2022-07-15 This book has been considered important throughout the human history and so that this work is never forgotten we have made efforts in its preservation by republishing this book in a modern format for present and future generations This whole book has been reformatted retyped and designed These books are not made of scanned copies and hence the text is clear and readable Joseph Sheridan Le Fanu - Green Tea and Mr Justice Harbottle Joseph Sheridan Le Fanu, 2016-12-21 Joseph Thomas Sheridan Le Fanu was born on August 28th 1814 at 45 Lower Dominick Street Dublin into a literary family with Huguenot Irish and English roots The children were tutored but according to his brother William the tutor taught them little if anything Le Fanu was eager to learn and used his father s library to educate himself about the world He was a creative child and by fifteen had taken to writing poetry Accepted into Trinity College Dublin to study law he also benefited from the system used in Ireland that he did not have to live in Dublin to attend lectures but could study at home and take examinations at the university as and when necessary This enabled him to also write and by 1838 Le Fanu s first story The Ghost and the

Bonesetter was published in the Dublin University Magazine. Many of the short stories he wrote at the time were to form the basis for his future novels. Indeed throughout his career Le Fanu would constantly revise, cannibalise, embellish and re-publish his earlier works to use in his later efforts. Between 1838 and 1840 Le Fanu had written and published twelve stories which purported to be the literary remains of an 18th century Catholic priest called Father Purcell. Set mostly in Ireland, they include classic stories of gothic horror with grim shadowed castles as well as supernatural visitations from beyond the grave together with madness and suicide. One of the themes running through them is a sad nostalgia for the dispossessed Catholic aristocracy of Ireland whose ruined castles stand in mute salute and testament to this history. On 18 December 1844 Le Fanu married Susanna Bennett, the daughter of a leading Dublin barrister. The union would produce four children. Le Fanu was now stretching his talents across the length of a novel and his first was The Cock and Anchor published in 1845. A succession of works followed and his reputation grew as well as his income. Unfortunately a decade after his marriage it became an increasing source of difficulty. Susanna was prone to suffer from a range of neurotic symptoms including great anxiety after the deaths of several close relatives including her father two years before. In April 1858 she suffered an hysterical attack and died in circumstances that are still unclear. The anguish, profound guilt as well as overwhelming loss were channeled into Le Fanu's work. Working only by the light of two candles, he would write through the night and burnish his reputation as a major figure of 19th Century supernaturalism. His work challenged the focus on the external source of horror and instead he wrote about it from the perspective of the inward psychological potential to strike fear in the hearts of men. A series of books now came forth: Wylder's Hand 1864, Guy Deverell 1865, The Tenants of Malory 1867, The Green Tea 1869, The Haunted Baronet 1870, Mr Justice Harbottle 1872, The Room in the Dragon Volant 1872 and In a Glass Darkly 1872. But his life was drawing to a close. Joseph Thomas Sheridan Le Fanu died in Merrion Square in his native Dublin on February 7th 1873 at the age of 58.

supernatural and psychological horror The book contains two dark tales each rich with the elements of suspense and paranormal intrigue that define Le Fanu's style In Green Tea a man's mental deterioration is explored as he becomes haunted by a sinister spirit leading to a terrifying spiritual torment The story is marked by its eerie atmosphere and exploration of the effects of supernatural forces on the human psyche Mr Justice Harbottle on the other hand is a ghost story centered around the themes of sin retribution and morality where a corrupt judge faces the terrifying consequences of his past deeds Both stories exemplify 19th century Victorian literature's fascination with dark themes justice and the occult making them quintessential examples of Le Fanu's mastery in creating unease and fear

Green Tea and Mr. Justice Harbottle Joseph Sheridan Le Fanu, 2015-05-02 Green Tea and Mr Justice Harbottle from Joseph Sheridan Le Fanu Irish writer of Gothic tales and mystery novels 1814-1873 Green Tea; Mr. Justice Harbottle Joseph Sheridan Le Fanu, 2021-05-31 Green Tea Mr Justice Harbottle is a very good ghost stories book by Joseph Sheridan Le Fanu It is Fiction Mystery nearly five and thirty years my senior In Dr Martin Hesselius I found my master His knowledge was immense his grasp of a case was an intuition He was the very man to inspire a young enthusiast like me with awe and delight My admiration has stood the test of time and survived the separation of death I am sure it was well founded For nearly twenty years I acted as his medical secretary His immense collection of papers he has left in my care to be arranged indexed and bound His treatment of some of these cases is curious He writes in two distinct characters He describes what he saw and heard as an intelligent layman might and when in this style of narrative he had seen the patient either through his own hall door to the light of day or through the gates of darkness to the caverns of the dead he returns upon the narrative and in the terms of his art and with all the force and originality of genius proceeds to the work of analysis diagnosis and illustration Here and there a case strikes me as of a kind to amuse or horrify a lay reader with an interest quite different from the peculiar one which it may possess for an expert With slight modifications chiefly of language and of course a change of names I copy the following The narrator is Dr Martin Hesselius I find it among the voluminous notes of cases which he made during a tour in England about sixty four years ago It is related in series of letters to his friend Professor Van Loo of Leyden The professor was not a physician but a chemist and a man who read history and metaphysics and medicine and had in his day written a play The narrative is therefore if somewhat less valuable as a medical record necessarily written in a manner more likely to interest an unlearned reader These letters from a memorandum attached appear to have been returned on the death of the professor in 1819 to Dr Hesselius They are written some in English some in French but the greater part in German I am a faithful though I am conscious by no means a graceful translator and although here and there I omit some passages and shorten others and disguise names I have interpolated nothing

Mr. Justice Harbottle Joseph Sheridan Le Fanu, 2014-04-07 On this case Doctor Hesselius has inscribed nothing more than the words Harman's Report and a simple reference to his own extraordinary Essay on The Interior Sense and the Conditions of the Opening thereof The reference is to Vol I Section 317 Note ZA The note to which reference is thus made simply says There are two accounts of the remarkable case of the Honourable Mr Justice Harbottle one furnished to me by Mrs Trimmer of Tunbridge Wells June 1805 the other at a much later date by Anthony Harman Esq I much prefer the former in the first place because it is minute and detailed and written it seems to me with more caution and knowledge and in the next because the letters from Dr Hedstone which are embodied in it furnish matter of the highest value to a right apprehension of the nature of the case It was one of the best declared cases of an opening of the interior sense which I have met with It was affected too by the phenomenon which occurs so frequently as to indicate a law of these eccentric conditions that is to say it exhibited what I may term the contagious character of this sort of intrusion of the spirit world upon the proper domain of matter
