Lach, 2010-01-15 This is the second volume in a series that traces century by century the role of Asia in the making of Europe The rise to world dominance of the Western nations in modern times and the rapid industrial growth of the West which outpaced the East in technical and military achievements have led to a historical eclipse of the ancient and brilliant cultures of Asia Historian Donald F Lach in his influential scholarly work Asia in the Making of Europe points out that an eclipse is never permanent that this one was never total and that there was a period in early modern times when Asia and Europe were close rivals in brilliance and mutual influence To Kill a Text Ilinca Sarifopol-Johnston, 1995 Ilinca Zarifopol Johnston's book traces the covert manifestations of Hugo's romantic notion of the novel through later French and English realism arguing that the anachronistic traces of past literary periods are always at work defining the aims of the present no matter how radical a new departure it seems or tries to be Notre Dame de Paris Victor Hugo, 1889 The Grotesque in the Fiction of Charles Dickens and Other 19th-century European Novelists Isabelle Hervouet-Farrar, Max Vega-Ritter, 2015-01-12 This book provides an overview of the literary grotesque in 19th century Europe with special emphasis on Charles Dickens whose use of this complex aesthetic category is thus addressed in relation with other 19th century European writers The crossing of geographical boundaries allows an in depth study of the different modes of the grotesque found in 19th century fiction It provides a comprehensive analysis of the reasons behind the extensive use of such a favoured mode of expression Intertextuality and comparative or cultural analysis are thus used here to shed new light on Dickens's influences both given and received as well as to compare and contrast his use of the grotesque with that of key 19th century writers like Hugo Gogol Thackeray Hardy and a few others The essays of this volume examine the various forms taken by the grotesque in 19th century European fiction such as for example the fusion of the familiar and the uncanny or of the terrifying and the comic as well as the figures and narrative techniques best suited for the expression of a novelist's grotesque vision of the world These essays contribute to an assessment of the links between the grotesque the gothic and the fantastic and more generally the genres and aesthetic categories which the 19th century grotesque fed on like caricature the macabre and tragicomedy They also examine the novelists grotesque as contributing to the questioning of society in Victorian Britain and 19th century Europe echoing its raging conflicts and the shocks of scientific progress This study naturally adopts as its theoretical basis the works of key theorists and critics of the grotesque namely Victor Hugo Charles Baudelaire and John Ruskin in the 19th century and Mikhail Bakhtin Wolfgang Kayser Geoffrey Harpham and Elisheva Rosen in the 20th century     Newsweek ,1974     The Publishers' Trade List Annual ,1903     Natural History ,1977     Saturday Review ,1972     The Saturday Review ,1971     ARTnews ,1972     psychology today ,1972
