Nuclear Weapons And Arms Control In South Asia After The Test Ban:

Nuclear Weapons and Arms Control in South Asia After the Test Ban Eric H. Arnett,1998 As the nuclear weapon states continue to reduce their nuclear arsenals and international efforts to prevent the proliferation of nuclear weapons are reinvigorated South Asia remains a unique region almost entirely unencumbered by nuclear arms control Despite the recent popularity of the notion that nuclear deterrence is stabilizing the Indo Pakistani conflict there is good reason to believe that the risks of war and the use of nuclear weapons are not fully appreciated Nevertheless the prospects for negotiated measures to improve the situation are not good because of the domestic politics on both sides Nuclear Weapons and Arms Control in South Asia after the Test Ban sheds new light on the risks of the current stand off the hidden costs of the nuclear options and the domestic sources of the region s inertia bringing together Indian Pakistani and Chinese perspectives South Asian Security and International Nuclear Order Mario Esteban Carranza,2016-04-01 Mario Carranza studies in depth the linkages between Indo Pakistani nuclear relations and the International Nuclear Order He critically analyzes the de facto recognition by the United States of India and Pakistan as nuclear weapon states and looks at the impact of that recognition on the International Nuclear Order and its linchpin the Nuclear Non Proliferation Treaty NPT The book provides a critical analysis of the New International Nuclear Order sponsored by the United States after the September 11 terrorist attacks and the place of India and Pakistan in that order The author considers the survival of India and Pakistan in relation to a strategy of nuclear deterrence and debates the possibility of establishing a robust nuclear arms control regime in South Asia as part of a broader effort to revive global nuclear arms control and disarmament negotiations Nuclear Deterrence in Southern Asia Arpit Rajain,2005-05 This important and topical book examines the triangular relationship of China India and Pakistan through the prism of nuclear deterrence The author highlights the interplay and role of strategic culture nuclear weaponisation and deployment command and control arms control non state actors and foreign policy issues which affect relations between the three countries With two main purposes a conceptual investigation into the notion of deterrence and a study of the theory and practice of limited war this book addresses the strategic political and military dimensions of the role of nuclear weapons through examples of the only cases of nuclear weapon states having gone into armed conflict the Cuban missile crisis the Ussuri river clashes and the Kargil conflict discusses the various pressures exerted on decision makers in the context of the notions of deterrence the rational deterrence model and a limited war under a nuclear umbrella evaluates all three countries with regard to their strategic culture the role of nuclear weapons in their military strategy the nature of public opinion and political rhetoric responses to the various arms control treaties and foreign policy choices Based on a variety of sources including interviews with key individuals in various sector this is the first book length study of the triangular relationship between China India and Pakistan Nuclear Risk Reduction in South Asia Michael Krepon,2004-11-26 The essys in this collection explore and analyze how to reduce the risk of nuclear war in South Asia

Contributors work to introduce the theory and methodology of nuclear risk reduction to provide specific measures that might work best in the region and to consider the consequences of missile defense options for stability in Asia Much work is needed to recduce nuclear dangers between India and Pakistan While the fact that both countries possess nuclear weapons may prevent a full blown conventional or nuclear war the presence of these weapons in the region may also encourage the use of violence at lower levels expecting escalation to be contained by a mutual desire to avoid the nuclear threshold One only needs to look at the Kashmir conflict for confirmation of this paradox with serious crises coming more frequently with more severity since the nuclear tests of 1998 Sustained efforts along the line suggested by the contributors of this volume are a crucial step toward reducing nuclear risk on the Subcontinent Historical Dictionary of Arms Control and Disarmament Jeffrey A. Larsen,James M. Sridharan,2020-11-29 Conflict resolution and promotion of regional cooperation in South Asia has assumed a new urgency in the aftermath of the nuclear tests by India and Pakistan in 1998 and underlined by the outbreak of fighting in Kargil in 1999 full mobilization on the border during most of 2002 and continued low intensity warfare and terrorism in Jammu and Kashmir The stability of nuclear deterrence between the two countries is therefore a matter of great urgency and has found a place on the scholarly agenda of security studies in South Asia Several books have been written on India s nuclear programme but these have been mostly analytical histories The India Pakistan Nuclear Relationship is a new departure in that it is the first time that a group of scholars from the South Asian subcontinent have collectively tried to apply deterrence theory and international relations theory to South Asia Asian Yearbook of International Law, Volume 8 (1998-1999) B.S.
