RED, WHITE, BLUE AND GOD BLESS YOU. ,1992 Translating Southwestern Landscapes Audrey Goodman, 2022-02-08 Winner of the Western Literature Association's Thomas J Lyon Award Whether as tourist's paradise, countercultural destination or site of native resistance, the American Southwest has functioned as an Anglo cultural fantasy for more than a century. In Translating Southwestern Landscapes Audrey Goodman excavates this fantasy to show how the Southwest emerged as a symbolic space from 1880 through the early decades of the twentieth century. Drawing on sources as diverse as regional magazines and modernist novels, Pueblo portraits and New York exhibits Goodman has crafted a wide-ranging history that explores the invention, translation, and representation of the Southwest. Its principal players include amateur ethnographer Charles Lummis, who conflated the critical work of cultural translation, pulp novelist Zane Grey whose bestselling novels defined the social meanings of the modern West, fashionable translator Mary Austin whose re-expressions of Indian song are contrasted with recent examples of ethnopoeitics, and modernist author Willa Cather who demonstrated an immaterial feeling for landscape from the Nebraska Plains to Acoma Pueblo. Goodman shows how these writers, as well as photographers such as Paul Strand, Ansel Adams, and Alex Harris, exhibit different phases of the struggle between an Anglo calling to document Native and Hispanic difference and America's larger drive toward imperial mastery. In critiquing photographic representations of the Southwest, she argues that commercial interests and eastern prejudices boiled down the experimental images of the late nineteenth century to a few visual myths: the persistence of wilderness, the innocence of early portraiture, and the purity of empty space. An ambitious synthesis of criticism and anthropology, art history, and geopolitical theory, Translating Southwestern Landscapes names the defining contradictions of America's most recently invented cultural space. It shows us that the Southwest of these early visitors is the only Southwest most of us have ever known. The Idea of Cuba ,2007 Alex Harris beautifully captures many archetypes of today's Cuba and Lillian Guerra's essay discusses what it means to be Cuban. History of Photography Laurent Roosens, Luc Salu, 1989-01-01 The fourth volume in a history of photography, this is a bibliography of books on the subject. Disappearing Witness Gretchen Garner, 2003-07-25 In documenting this transformation in American photography, Disappearing Witness forcefully rethinks the history of photography itself. The Camaro in the Pasture Robert B. Riley, 2015-04-13 Robert Riley has been a renowned figure in landscape studies for over fifty years, valued for his perceptive, learned, and highly entertaining articles, reviews, and essays. Much of Riley's work originally ran in Landscape, the pioneering magazine at which Riley succeeded the great geographer J. B.

Jackson as editor The Camaro in the Pasture is the first book to collect this compelling author's writing. With diverse topics ranging from science fiction fantasies to problems of academic design research, the essays in this volume cover an entire half century of Riley's observations on the American landscape. The essays, several of which are new or previously unpublished, interpret changing rationales for urban beautification, the evolution and transformation of the strip, the development of a global landscape of golf and resorts replacing an older search for exoticism, and the vernacular landscape as wallpaper rather than quilt. Ultimately, Riley envisions our future landscape as a rapidly fluctuating electronic net draped over the more slowly changing and familiar land and building-based system. Throughout, Riley emphasizes the vernacular landscape of contemporary America: how we have shaped and use it, what it is becoming, and above all, how we experience it. Where We Live Judith Keller, Anne Lacoste, 2006. This is a collection of more than 150 images from the Bruce and Nancy Berman Collection of contemporary photographs. These images concentrate on the American landscape and the people and structures to be found in it. The Utne Reader, 1993. Tradición Revista, 2003.
