HOW TO CITE THIS ARTICLE: Parasuraman, A. (2011) Some reflections on my career, publishing, and contributing significantly to a field. Innovar, 21(42), 5-19.

ABSTRACT: In this article the author provides an overview and a retrospective analysis of his, over three-decade-long academic career and the evolution of his research during the course of that career. Within the broad overview and analysis of his career, he singles out and elaborates on his fifteen-year collaborative research on service quality (with colleagues Volare Zetsumi and Len Berry), in order to illustrate the nature of a programmatic research stream on an important topic and the significant impact that such a research stream can have on a discipline's knowledge base and practice. The author also derives a number of personal lessons from his reflections about his career and research, and discusses the implications of those lessons for researchers. He concludes the article with some general observations and recommendations about making significant contributions to a field.

Introduction

The three primary categories of articles solicited and published by INNOVAR are Research Articles, Reflection Articles, and Review Articles (as per this journal's "Guidelines for Contributing Authors"). The present piece would fall under the reflection-article category. However, its scope and intent are broader than those implied in INNOVAR's guidelines for this type of article – namely, that reflection articles "present the results of research from an author's original source-based, analytical, interpretative, or critical perspective on a specific topic." Although my research stream over the last quarter century has focused on the topic of customer service, and while this article will allude to some key insights from that research stream, it is likely to be somewhat different from typical reflection articles appearing in this journal. The article's primary objectives are to (a) provide a critical analysis of my thirty-six year academic career; (b) discuss the personal lessons my career has taught me; and (c) draw on those lessons to offer suggestions to graduate students, researchers and other professionals for making significant contributions to their respective fields.

As a backdrop to what is to follow, I begin with a brief overview of my education and employment history. I obtained a Bachelor of Technology degree (in mechanical engineering) in 1970 from the Indian Institute of Technology-Madras and a Master of Business Administration degree (with a marketing concentration) in 1972 from the Indian Institute of Management-Ahmedabad. Among the various business fields to which I was introduced during the first year of my MBA program, I was most fascinated by

Reflections From A Publishing Career:

A.F. Reflections from a publishing career August Frugé,1977 Reflections from a Publishing Career Prepared by His Staff and Friends ,1977 Reflections from a Publishing Career August Frugé,1977 Publishing as a Creative Industry Stevie Marsden,2025-04-21 Book publishing is big business contributing significant employment in the creative industries and adding billions to the global economy Despite this the sector is often overlooked in the creative industries research tide This book remedies this gap in knowledge providing an examination of book publishing in the UK within the wider context of the creative industries and the existing academic discourse Balancing the tensions of art and commerce perhaps more than any other creative field this book considers the position of the book publishing industry within the contemporary cultural economy Through this focused analysis on the culture s and organisation s of book publishing in the UK the author demonstrates how this creative industry reflects and perpetuates many of the key issues and challenges including inequalities in representation cultural and economic dominance of global conglomerates and hierarchies of value already recognised as central within the creative industries in the UK and beyond This concise book will be essential reading for academics researchers and students with an interest in the publishing industry and its position within the UK Creative Industries and cultural economy The Scholar's Progress Alf Rehn,2006-06 Combining practical advice on how to get published in journals with theoretical essays on the research economy this book is meant for all those who wonder about their chance of surviving in academia Written by a tenured enfant terrible who never did anything the way you re supposed to the book makes a statement about being a scholar in contemporary academia surviving in the social sciences and the odd joy of getting paid for thinking and writing Through a series of essays the book argues for reflection in academic life and scholarship as a lifestyle The Role of Reflection in Managerial Learning Marilyn W. Daudelin,Kent W. Seibert,1999-09-30 Challenging work experiences are the richest source of learning for today s managers Yet lessons embedded in these experiences are not always obvious This comprehensive book describes a critical yet under researched element of how managers learn from these experiences reflection Today s workplace demands continual learning which in turn requires reflection While this book supports the prevailing view that reflection is central to experiential learning it challenges the traditional views that it is the same as contemplation that it is incompatible with management and that it is time consuming and unnatural for managers Original quantitative and qualitative research reported in this book indicates that two different yet complementary modes of managerial reflection exist active and proactive Active reflection is something that managers naturally engage in during challenging job experiences whereas managers must be prompted to engage in proactive reflection Both modes involve processes of intentional inquiry Different forces are necessary to stimulate each type of reflection Based on these findings the claim is made that the potential to learn from experience is greatest when managers intentionally engage in both modes Accordingly a holistic model that integrates active and proactive reflection is presented

This model has important implications for theorists and researchers of managerial learning by identifying previously unreported aspects of reflection. It is also relevant to practitioners and companies who desire to enhance what their managers learn from their workplace experience. Scholarly Publishing, 1978. A journal for authors and publishers.

Publishing in Journals on the Family Roma S. Hanks, Linda Matocha, Marvin B. Sussman, 1993. Here is a handy reference that helps beginning scholars learn the best strategies for getting published. Publishing in Journals on the Family contains varied perspectives from scholars at different career stages and from editors of major publication outlets. This combined knowledge from experts on both ends of publishing is invaluable to writers wishing to learn the ins and outs of getting published. The book provides readers with important information necessary to help them systematically plan a productive scholarly career while avoiding common publication pitfalls. Publishing in Journals on the Family includes the results of two surveys. The first presents the responses of productive scholars in the early or middle stages of their careers to questions about their choices of publication outlets. In the second survey, journal editors share information about publication criteria and changes in the focus of social science publications and give helpful hints to beginning authors. The book also contains articles by a number of senior scholars who discuss their academic publication histories, providing readers with real-life examples of successful publishing careers. A bibliography of sources for tips on writing and publishing concludes the volume. Although the voices in the book are varied, they are unified in their calling for careful scholarship, relevant research, and clear writing. Graduate students, professionals such as therapists, social workers, and consultants, and academicians including teachers and researchers will find this book extremely helpful in their publishing lives. Publishing from your Doctoral Research Janet Salmons, Helen Kara, 2019-11-27. Today's researchers have many opportunities for disseminating their work, including traditional and digital publications, written articles, podcasts, and other media such as zines and graphic books. But how do they decide which output is right for them and where to start? Publishing from your Doctoral Research provides methods and tools to help assess, identify, and adapt academic work for publication to support career aspirations. Discussing what publication can achieve in career terms, this book explains how to audit doctoral research and any associated materials to assess which elements are best suited for publication. Provides advice on how to determine what kind of publication is best suited to different types of research. Discusses journal articles, books, self-publishing online, and social media options and alternative methods of publishing. Considers each type of publication in light of career aspirations. Each chapter includes practical examples tailored to researchers interested in working in academia, industry, or business, a clinical or practical career, or self-employment. Providing key strategies and insights to secure knowledge and success, Publishing from your Doctoral Research is the ideal guide for anyone looking to develop their career through publication within or outside academia. The Insider Guides to Success in Academia offers support and practical advice to doctoral students and early-career researchers. Covering the topics that really matter but which often get overlooked, this indispensable series provides practical and realistic guidance to address many of the needs and challenges of trying to operate and remain in academia. These neat pocket guides fill specific and significant gaps in current literature. Each book offers insider perspectives on the often implicit rules of the game, the things you need to know but usually aren't told by institutional postgraduate support, researcher development units or supervisors, and will address a practical topic that is key to career progression. They are essential reading for doctoral students, early career researchers, supervisors, mentors, or anyone looking to launch or maintain their career in academia.

Doing Academic Careers Differently Sarah Robinson, Alexandra Bristow, Olivier Ratle, 2023-07-28

Should academic careers always unfold in exactly the same way? Is there one best way of being an academic? This book says no. Assumptions about who academics are and what they should do are becoming increasingly narrow and focused on achieving so-called excellence in teaching and research above anything else. This book problematises this and explores the scope for doing academic careers differently. Authors paint individual or group portraits of their academic careers, working with metaphors which challenge the dominant discourses of how academic careers should be led. From rejecting the pressure to focus on one big thing to prioritising nurture and care, transcending disciplinary boundaries, reshaping own daily practice, connecting with communities, and being academics outside academia, the chapters in this book offer those considering starting or developing an academic career a treasure trove of many alternative possibilities. Presented as a portrait gallery through which readers are encouraged to meander at will, this compilation of insights into alternative academic lives will help to inspire and encourage current academics to re-think and take ownership of their careers in their own terms, according to their own strengths, weaknesses, and circumstances.

Eventually, you will enormously discover a extra experience and finishing by spending more cash. nevertheless when? realize you put up with that you require to acquire those every needs gone having significantly cash? Why dont you try to get something basic in the beginning? Thats something that will lead you to understand even more around the globe, experience, some places, taking into consideration history, amusement, and a lot more?
