New Transatlantic Agenda and the Future Joerg Monar, 1998-12-18 This book presents the results of an international conference on the New Transatlantic Agenda organized in Brussels in July 1996 by the Centre for European Politics and Institutions CEPI of the University of Leicester in cooperation with the Directorate General I of the European Commission and Kluwer Law International While most of its chapters are revised versions of papers presented at the conference some were commissioned afterwards in order to address several relevant issues which could not be covered adequately within the time limited framework of the conference The book provides an analysis both of the innovative elements of the New Transatlantic Agenda and of the main challenges that EU US relations will have to face at the turn of this century While the main focus is on whether the New Transatlantic Agenda constitutes an adequate response to these challenges this volume also explores the necessary conditions for a successful long term implementation of the Agenda and asks what lessons can be drawn in this respect from previous experiences in transatlantic cooperation Emphasis has been given to the consideration of justice and home affairs as matters of EU US cooperation not only because this is undoubtedly one of the most innovative areas of the New Transatlantic Agenda but because it is an area in which both governments are confronted with rapidly increasing challenges This volume aims to make a significant contribution to the discussion of the future of the transatlantic relationship whose quality is likely to depend on the capability of both sides to respond with new approaches such as those laid out in the New Transatlantic Agenda to inevitable changes in both the bilateral and global contexts

British Foreign Policy Under New Labour,

1997-2005 P. Williams, 2005-11-22 This important new study provides a critical analysis of the foreign policies conducted during the first two terms of Tony Blair's government. It focuses upon the government's key foreign policy commitments, three of its most important international relationships with the US, the European Union and Africa, and how Blair's government dealt with five fundamental policy issues: political economy, defence, international development, intervention, and Iraq. It argues that throughout this period Labour's foreign policies attempted to paper over some important contradictions.
