Reform Of Public Spending For Agriculture:

The Reform of Public Expenditures for Agriculture Bonni J. Van Blarcom, Odin Knudsen, John Nash, 1993-01-01

Reforming Agriculture Jacob Meerman, 1997-01-01 Evaluates the World Bank's experience with the fifty agricultural adjustment operations approved since 1979 and reflects the impact on Bank programming of a worldwide shift in the development paradigm

Public expenditure on food and agriculture in sub-Saharan Africa Pernechele, V., Fontes, F., Baborska, R., Nkuingoua, J., Pan, X., Tuyishime, C., 2021-05-07 Monitoring and analysing food and agriculture policies and their effects is crucial to support decision makers in developing countries to shape better policies that drive agricultural and food systems transformation This report is a technical analysis of government spending data on food and agriculture during 2004-2018 in 13 sub-Saharan African countries: Benin, Burkina Faso, Burundi, Ethiopia, Ghana, Kenya, Malawi, Mali, Mozambique, Rwanda, Senegal, Uganda, and the United Republic of Tanzania It analyses the level of public expenditure including budget execution, source of funding, and decentralized spending, as well as the composition of expenditure including on producer or consumer support, research and development, infrastructure, and more, to reveal the trends and challenges that countries are facing It also delves into the relationship between the composition of public expenditure and agricultural performance As a way forward for future policymaking, the report offers a set of recommendations to strengthen policy monitoring systems and data generation for effective public investments in food and agriculture The report is produced by the Monitoring and Analysing Food and Agricultural Policies (MAFAP) programme at FAO in collaboration with MAFAP country partners

Public Expenditures for Agricultural and Rural Development in Africa Tewodaj Mogues, Samuel Benin, 2012-03-15 Whereas there is plenty of work looking at the macroeconomic effect of public spending on growth and poverty in Africa, as well as studies of the impact of spending or investment in one economic sector on outcomes in that sector or on broader welfare measures, this book fills a much needed gap in the research looking how the composition of public spending affects key development outcomes in the region The book brings together recent analysis on the trends in and returns to public spending for agricultural growth and rural development in Africa Case studies of selected African countries provide insights on the contributions of different types of public expenditures for poverty, growth, and welfare outcomes, as well as insights into the constraints in gaining development mileage from investments in the agricultural sector

Agricultural Development in Brazil Antonio M. Buainain, Rodrigo Lanna, Zander Navarro, 2019-05-20 In the last few decades, Brazilian agriculture has experienced a seismic transformation, and its contradictory facets have fed different and opposing narratives regarding recent changes This book covers these changes, exploring the issues from several empirical and analytical angles, including the role of agriculture in the contemporary Brazilian economy, the dynamics of Brazilian agricultural value chains, environmental challenges, and the processes of social differentiation Brazilian agriculture continues to be viewed in the international literature either through the lenses of the past century or those of former problems relating to land use and land tenure or apologetically This collection of essays aims at updating the current interpretations providing objective accounting of the main transformations its determinants results contradictions and limitations As it covers the most relevant traits of Brazilian agricultural and rural development the book will provide the reader with an encompassing view of contemporary Brazilian agriculture including the positive and negative sides of the so called tropical agriculture revolution It highlights the tremendous economic potential as well as the continuing structural heterogeneity concentration of production and marginalization of millions of small farmers Written in an engaging and accessible style this book will be perfect for all those interested in learning about Brazilian agriculture It will be of particular interest to undergraduate and graduate students of economic development agricultural economics rural sociology comparative economic development rural development and agricultural policies

Strategic Reforms for Agricultural Growth in Pakistan Rashid Faruquee,1999 Future prospects for the agricultural sector in Pakistan depend on its ability to increase output and income of producers Agriculture remains the backbone of the Pakistani economy employing more than half the labor force and accounting for 70 per cent of export revenues However agriculture faces two sets of constraints in Pakistan resource constraints and policy distortions This volume deals with the major resource and policy constraints currently facing Pakistani agriculture Government involvement in Pakistan s agricultural sector has been excessive and often inappropriate and agricultural reforms are a key part of the adjustment program underway in Pakistan Some of the principal goals of the program are to ensure a sound and sustainable macroeconomic framework with sustainable internal and external balances to liberalize trade privatize government owned enterprises deregulate and eliminate public sector monopolies and to reform the financial sector The agricultural sector can contribute to the Pakistani economy and to the adjustment program Agriculture has the potential to make a larger contribution to total revenue and plays an important role in external balances A favorable climate gives Pakistan a strong comparative advantage in horticulture as indicated by the rapid growth of the subsector in the absence of policy interventions

Macroeconomic Policy Reforms and Agriculture Romeo M. Bautista,2002-01-01 This report investigates the income and equity effects of macroeconomic policy reforms in Zimbabwe emphasizing linkages between macroeconomic policies and agricultural performance and agriculture s influence on aggregate income and its distribution Analyses focus on reform of the foreign trade regime public expenditure and tax policy along with the potential benefits of combining these structural changes with various land reform scenarios The study uses a CGE model that provides a policy simulation laboratory in which exogenous policy changes are analyzed for their economywide income and equity effects The report highlights the need for policy complementarities in Zimbabwe that can contribute to equitable growth It should be of interest not only to those concerned with recent economic developments in Zimbabwe but also to those concerned with the broader issues of macroeconomic reform and its ultimate effects

Agriculture in Liberalizing Economies DINA L. UMALI,Charles Maguire,1995 Discusses ways in which the role of the state in promoting agricultural growth and development may be redefined This report presents the proceedings of the 14th World Bank Agricultural Symposium held in January 1994 The papers explore ways in which the role of the state in promoting agricultural growth and development may be redefined They also capitalize on important lessons emerging from experiences around the world The report suggests that changing the role of government from market domination towards the provision of a regulatory framework that facilitates private sector activity is an ongoing process rather than a one time occurrence The papers also illustrate the wide variety of issues and the different approaches in the various countries that are redefining the role of government in agricultural development
