Shell Shock and the Modernist Imagination Wyatt Bonikowski, 2016-04-01 Looking closely at both case histories of shell shock and Modernist novels by Ford Madox Ford Rebecca West and Virginia Woolf Wyatt Bonikowski shows how the figure of the shell shocked soldier and the symptoms of war trauma were transformed by the literary imagination Situating his study with respect to Freud's concept of the death drive Bonikowski reads the repetitive symptoms of shell shocked soldiers as a resistance to representation and narrative In making this resistance part of their narratives Ford West and Woolf broaden our understanding of the traumatic effects of war exploring the possibility of a connection between the trauma of war and the trauma of sexuality Parade's End The Return of the Soldier and Mrs Dalloway are all structured around the relationship between the soldier who returns from war and the women who receive him but these novels offer no prospect for the healing effects of the union between men and women Instead the novels underscore the divisions within the home and the self drawing on the traumatic effects of shell shock to explore the link between the public events of history and the intimate traumas of the relations between self and other

Shock and Naturalization in Contemporary Japanese Literature Carl Cassegård, 2007-03-29 This study introduces the concepts of naturalization and naturalized modernity and uses them as tools for understanding the way modernity has been experienced and portrayed in Japanese literature since the end of the Second World War Special emphasis is given to four leading post war writers Kawabata Yasunari Abe Kobo Murakami Haruki and Murakami Ryu The author argues that notions of shock in modern city life in Japan as exemplified in the writings of Walter Benjamin and George Simmel while present in the work of older Japanese writers do not appear to hold true in much contemporary Japanese literature it is as if the shock impact of change has evolved as a naturalized or Japanized process The author focuses on the implications of this phenomenon both in the context of the theory of modernity and as an opportunity to reevaluate the works of his chosen writers
