Long Term Care Decisions Ethical And Conceptual Dimensions:

Long-term Care Decisions Laurence B. McCullough, Nancy Lee Wilson, 1995 Physical mental or social changes in the life of an elderly person may result in a loss of self sufficiency Deciding how to compensate for changes a process that often involves family members tends or health professionals frequently leads to consideration of long term care Most of the existing literature on ethics and decision making however focuses on acute care and does not necessarily apply to issues involved in choosing long term care The SAGE Handbook of Social Gerontology Dale Dannefer, Chris Phillipson, 2010-08-13 This SAGE Handbook integrates basic research on social dimensions of aging It presents programmatic applications of research in areas not often seen in Handbooks including imprisonment technology and aging urban society aged and elderly migration The authors constitute a Who's Who of international gerontology and the focus on globalization and aging is unique among Handbooks today This Handbook should be in the library of every social gerontologist Vern L Bengtson Professor of Gerontology University of Southern California This volume reflects the emergence of ageing as a global concern including chapters by international scholars from Asia Australasia Europe and North America It provides a comprehensive overview of key trends and issues in the field drawing upon the full range of social science disciplines The Handbook is organized into five parts each exploring different aspects of research into social aspects of ageing Disciplinary overviews summaries of findings from key disciplinary areas within social gerontology Social relationships and social differences explores area like social inequality gender religion inter generational ties social networks and friendships Individual characteristics and change in later life examines different aspects of individual aging including self and identity cognitive processes and bio social interactions and their impact on physical and psychological aging Comparative perspectives and cultural innovations topics include ageing and development ageing in a global context migration and cross cultural perspectives on grandparenthood Policy issues covering policy concerns such as long term care technology and older people end of life issues work and retirement and the politics of old age This will be essential reading for all students researchers and policy makers concerned with the major issues influencing the lives of older people across the globe

Effective Management of Long-term Care Facilities Douglas A. Singh, 2005 This outstanding new text provides a clear understanding of how the ideal long term care facility should operate and how prospective as well as currently employed nursing home administrators can hone their skills to deliver quality services cost effectively Ethical Patient Care Mathy D. Mezey, Christine K. Cassel, Melissa M. Bottrell, Kathryn Hyer, Judith L. Howe, Terry T. Fulmer, 2003-04-29 The delivery of good medical care often involves professionals from various disciplines working together Interdisciplinary health care teams can be especially valuable in managing patients with complex medical and social needs such as older persons in hospital community or home settings Such teams however can also complicate or even create problems because of their diverse views and responsibilities Ethical Patient Care A Casebook for Geriatric Health Care Teams is designed to teach effective and responsible group decision making to clinicians working in teams to treat older patients The editors use the case study method to present ethical dilemmas that team members encounter in the management of geriatric patients Patients with multiple chronic conditions so often require the care of more than one medical specialist and in the introductory chapters the editors suggest ways to resolve conflicts among patients health care professionals and the institutions that support them including hospitals HMOs insurance companies and the government The book is then divided into four sections each dealing with one angle of the team care picture The first section treats the diverse ethical imperatives of various professionals conflicts among disciplinary approaches and and varying attitudes toward end of life decision making Section two focuses on the patient and covers patient confidentiality family decisionmaking and interaction with the healthcare team issues of patient and team nonadherence to the care plan and elder abuse and neglect Section three examines the emerging difficulties of decentralized health care in settings such as hospitals nursing homes and the home including clinician accountability and how ethical dilemmas differ across settings Section four discusses the problems arising from the increasing responsibility of clinicians to manage costs and serve the interests of hospitals and insurers Ethical Patient Care is a valuable resource for bioethicists gerontologists and the physicians nurses social workers and therapists who care for aging persons Effective Management of Long Term Care Facilities Douglas Singh, 2010-02-18 Effective Management of Long Term Care Facilities explores the complex operations of the long term care facility and offers critical skills to current and future nursing home administrators for delivering quality cost effective services The Second Edition has been thoroughly revised and reorganized to offer a more cohesive presentation of the material New chapters that have been added cover the long term care industry long term care policy and supportive case studies that incorporate management and patient care issues Long-Term Care in an Aging Society Graham D. Emerging Systems in Long-Term Care Paul R. Katz, MD, Robert L. Kane, MD, Mathy Mezey, EdD, RN,

FAAN,2004-01-01 The fourth volume in the prestigious Advances in Long Term Care Series continues to address the challenges of long term care with innovation and practical insight Highlighting the dynamic nature of long term care the authors share their practical insight and explore issues linked to the cost and process of delivering care to an increasing number of clients Topics include transitions between acute and long term care geriatric day hospitals subacute care and more Contributors from a range of gerontologic disciplines use new research as bases to develop care solutions under the mandates of managed care

Autonomy & Paternalism Thomas Nys,Yvonne Denier,Toon Vandeveld,2007 In recent years the triumph of autonomy has made paternalist interventions increasingly problematic The value of a patient s right to self determination and the practice of informed consent are considered supremely important in present day health care ethics In general the idea of doctor knows best has become more and more suspicious This has left us with a situation in which paternalist medicine seems difficult to reconcile with respect for patient autonomy This book offers a thorough reflection on the relationship between autonomy and paternalism and argues that from both theoretical and practical angles the tension between these concepts is not as acute as it might seem In long term care psychiatry and care for the severely handicapped the principle of respect for autonomy is particularly ill suited This however does not mean that such respect is totally irrelevant but that it should take a different shape Good care in those cases requires us to transcend the sharp dichotomy between autonomy and paternalism In Autonomy and Paternalism Reflections on the Theory and Practice of Health Care various acclaimed authors present their views on this interesting and extremely relevant debate

Productive Aging Nancy Morrow-Howell,James Hinterlong,Michael Sherraden,2003-05-01 Will 69 million baby boomers suddenly drop out of the workforce when they turn 65 It is difficult to imagine this generation with its talent education and experience idling away the last thirty years of life From the Foreword by Robert N Butler M D The Mount Sinai Medical Center Old age has been historically thought of as a period of frailty and dependence yet studies show that with the help of advances in health and medicine current populations will live longer and remain healthier than previous generations As average life expectancies rise traditional concepts of retirement need to be reconsidered on all levels from government policy to business practice to individual life planning In this volume leaders in the field of gerontology explore these changing conditions through the concept of productive aging which has been developed by leaders in the field to promote older adults contributions to society in social and economic capacities Productive Aging Concepts and Challenges treats the implications of productive aging for the discipline of gerontology and for society in general The first section defines the principles historical perspectives and conceptual frameworks for productive aging The second section takes a disciplinary approach treating the biomedical psychological sociological and economic implications of a more capable older generation The third section considers advances in theories of gerontology and the fourth section suggests future directions in practice theory and research Contributors W Andrew Achenbaum University of Houston Scott A Bass University of Maryland Baltimore Vern L

In general the history of virtue theory is well documented Sherman 1997 O'Neill 1996 Its relationship to medicine is also recorded in our work and in that of others Pellegrino and Thomasma 1993b 1996 Drane 1994 Ellos 1990 General publications stress the importance of training the young in virtuous practices Still the popularity of education in virtue is widely viewed as part of a conservative backlash to modern liberal society Given the authorship of some of these works by professional conservatives like William Bennett 1993 1995 this concern is authentic One might correspondingly fear that greater adoption of virtue theory in medicine will be accompanied by a corresponding backward looking social agenda Worse yet does reaffirmation of virtue theory lacquer over the many challenges of the postmodern world view as if these were not serious concerns After all recreating the past is the retro temptation of our times Searching for greater certitude than we can now obtain preoccupies most thinkers today One wishes for the old clarity and certitudes Engelhardt 1991 On the other hand the same thinkers who yearn for the past like Engelhardt sometimes seems to do might stress the unyielding gulf between past and present that creates the postmodern reaction to all systems of Enlightenment thought 1996 Consumer Voice and Choice in Long-Term Care Suzanne R. Kunkel, PhD, 2006-06-14 IMPROVE LONG TERM CARE WITH NEW CUSTOMER PARTICIPATION METHODS Providing clear guidance on how to apply new customer satisfaction models to the quality of long term care this collection reviews how consumers contribute to and assist in the management of their own long term care The latest issues and ideas are provided for the following aspects of research and management Development and Planning Strategies Consumer Satisfaction Measurement Models Consumer Satisfaction and Quality Improvement Models Development of Case Management Guidelines From reviewing the important factors and challenges that influence consumer choice to exploring the approaches required to evaluate needs preferences and perspectives this new and valuable resource is a must have reference for the improvement of long term care in both the institutional and community settings
