

A study was started on the possible "low consumption" alternative design for the big dipoles of the PCL.

Key aspects:

- To provide a "low consumption" design solution
- RELIABILITY is a key word for these magnets: they will be placed in a dumping tunnel, area very radioactive and interventions must be MINIMIZED.
- The magnets could be subjected to high doses of radiation (new simulation on-going)
- Assumptions are the following:
 - The most simple (and economic) cryogenic solution seems to take advantage of the cryo coolants available at the IP (Detector Solenoid). They will be at 4.5 K (LHe to the solenoid) or at 40-60 K (thermal shields). Distance from the PCL magnets: 35-100m (depending by the PCL versions considered).
 - In these condition the cost of the cryogenic system will consist in the cryogenic transfer line and the valve box for the distribution to the magnets. Other solution are also considered.
 - For the magnet COILS, several possibility are evaluated:
 - "Classic SC" solution (i.e. NbTi)
 - HTS (High Temperature Superconductor) (i.e. MgB₂, YBCO, etc.)

Each solution has advantages and disadvantages, trying to identify them to provide some first evaluations..

"Active" coil cross-section comparison for some different solutions.

Other aspect to be considered:

- Complexity/cost of the coil winding
- Complexity/cost of cryostats
- Operation
- Stability and radiation resistance

Fox, Nina K. Buchanan, 2017-05-01 The Wiley Handbook of School Choice presents a comprehensive collection of original essays addressing the wide range of alternatives to traditional public schools available in contemporary US society A comprehensive collection of the latest research findings on school choices in the US including charter schools magnet schools school vouchers home schooling private schools and virtual schools Viewpoints of both advocates and opponents of each school choice provide balanced examinations and opinions Perspectives drawn from both established researchers and practicing professionals in the U S and abroad and from across the educational spectrum gives a holistic outlook Includes thorough coverage of the history of traditional education in the US its current state and predictions for the future of each alternative school choice School Matters RoSusan D. Bartee, M. Christopher Brown, 2007 There are four types of capital economic human cultural and social The distribution of capital in home and school settings affects the types of educational outcomes and the quality of lifelong opportunities that individuals are able to enjoy Resource availability and accessibility influence the success levels at which teaching and learning is experienced Capital possession or acquisition impacts the ability to navigate the academic pipeline and to recognize the appropriate tools by which to do so Minimal attempts have been taken to address different perspectives related to economic human cultural and social capital This book identifies the various tenets of capital as having shared similarities and or differences as well as reveals how the distribution of capital impacts educational settings More specifically this book reveals that given the increases in the parental education or the cultural capital of African Americans no significant changes have occurred in the number of years that African American children attend schools This finding remains consistent in terms of the sort of cultural capital that they are able to gain In sum the research concludes that cultural capital does assume a significant role in the transfer of advantages that stem from middle and upper level socioeconomic backgrounds Student Guidance & Development Dode
