McBride,R. McCormick,M. Zagar,2007-01-22 Between 1890 and 1950 modernist art and culture set out to challenge century old notions of the individual and the community culture and politics morality and freedom placing into question the very foundations of Western civilization The essays in this volume present a novel assessment of various manifestations of modernism in Germany and Scandinavia by posing the question of its critical and political impact beyond traditional polarities such as right vs left illiberalism vs Enlightenment apolitical vs engaged In drawing on a wide range of disciplinary perspectives including literary studies art history film and visual studies urban studies musicology political theory and the history of science and technology the essays in this volume reexamine modernism s bold inquiry into areas such as the relation of art to technology and mass politics the limits of liberal democracy the reconceptualization of urban spaces and the realignment of traditional art forms following the rise of new media such as film The volume s contributors share a belief in the timeliness of modernism s critical impulse for a contemporary age confronted with ethical and political dilemmas that the modernists first articulated and to which they attempted to respond A World Art History and Its Objects David Carrier, 2008-11-28 Is writing a world art history possible Does the history of art as such even exist outside the Western tradition Is it possible to consider the history of art in a way that is not fundamentally Eurocentric In this highly readable and provocative book David Carrier a philosopher and art historian does not attempt to write a world art history himself Rather he asks the question of how an art history of all cultures could be written or whether it is even possible to do so He also engages the political and moral issues raised by the idea of a multicultural art history Focusing on a consideration of intersecting artistic traditions Carrier negotiates the way meaning and understanding shift or are altered when a visual object from one culture for example is inserted into the visual tradition of another culture A World Art History and Its Objects proposes the use of temporal narrative as a way to begin to understand a multicultural art history
