Mr Noon D. H. Lawrence, 1987-05-21 This is an autobiographical novel more or less a sequel to Sons and Lovers The first part appeared as a short story in 1934 the second larger part was never published Mr Noon was first published in its entirety in 1984 and was widely hailed as a major literary event Mr Noon David Herbert Lawrence, Lindeth Vasey, 1984

Mr. Noon David Herbert Lawrence, 1986 Radicalizing Lawrence Robert Burden, 2021-12-28 In this study of D H Lawrence and critical theory Robert Burden pays particular attention to the critical formations that underpin the reception history of the main novels including the much maligned leadership novels because strong readings have always contested the meaning and significance of Lawrence and because there has been a persistent reluctance to approach his writing through post structuralist theory This study demonstrates in some detail that once Lawrence's texts are the objects of the newer critical paradigms their principles of coherence are understood differently and that older notions of textual unity are displaced by aesthetic structures of degrees of generic and linguistic destabilization This enables a radicalizing of Lawrence's fiction by drawing out its deconstructive effects on his myth making and essentialist notions of the self The sexual identities represented in the fiction are read as experiments or thought adventures as Lawrence himself characterized his work The different approaches to Lawrence's writing in this study lead to a radical reassessment of his relationship to Modernism especially in the light of the more elastic concept of Modernism in recent discussion and one which traditional Lawrence scholars have ignored What emerges is a more self deconstructive Lawrence with some surprising results To Protect

Lawrence's Australia David Game, 2016-03-09 The first full length account of D H Lawrence's rich engagement with a country he found both fascinating and frustrating D H Lawrence's Australia focuses on the philosophical anthropological and literary influences that informed the utopian and regenerative visions that characterise so much of Lawrence's work David Game gives particular attention to the four novels and one novella published between 1920 and 1925 what Game calls Lawrence's Australian period shedding new light on Lawrence's attitudes towards Australia in general and more specifically towards Australian Aborigines women and colonialism He revisits key aspects of Lawrence's development as a novelist and thinker including the influence of Darwin and Lawrence's rejection of eugenics Christianity psychoanalysis and science While Game concentrates on the Australian novels such as Kangaroo and The Boy in the Bush he also uncovers the Australian elements in a range of other works including Lawrence's last novel Lady Chatterley's Lover Lawrence lived in Australia for just three months but as Game shows it played a significant role in his quest for a way of life that would enable regeneration of the individual in the face of what Lawrence saw as the moral collapse of modern industrial civilisation after the outbreak of World War I *D.
