Fraser on the Fatal Shore Leonard Ward, 1971      Constructions of Colonialism Ian J. McNiven, 1999-01-01 One of the most famous shipwreck sagas of the 19th century took place on the tropical coast of north east Australia In 1836 the Stirling Castle was wrecked off the Queensland coast and many of the crew together with the captain s wife Eliza Fraser were marooned on Fraser Island Early sensationalized accounts represent Mrs Fraser as an innocent white victim of colonialism and her Aboriginal captors as barbarous savages These first contact narratives of the white woman and her Aboriginal captors impacted significantly on England and the politics of Empire at an early stage in Australia s colonial history The text critically examines the Eliza Fraser episode by bringing together an interdisciplinary team of authors artists members of the Fraser Island Aboriginal community and academics in the areas of cultural and women s studies literature history anthropology archaeology the visual and creative arts This book Essays include feminist analyses of the incident investigations of textual and visual representations of Aboriginal people and considerations of the role played by Eliza Fraser as creative inspiration for the arts The text explores the constructions of Empire colonialism identity femininity savagery otherness captivity and survival      The Fatal Shore , 1986      From the Ruins of Colonialism Chris Healy, 1997-03-27 This book throws fresh light on the history of memory forgetting and colonialism It considers key moments of historical imagination and analyses the strange ensemble of elements that constitute Australian History It is an innovative and stimulating investigation of historical cultures and narratives      In the Wake of First Contact Kay Schaffer, 1995 In this book colonialism race and gender are explored through the cultural representations of an episode of Australian history

Intimacies of Violence in the Settler Colony Penelope Edmonds, Amanda Nettelbeck, 2018-05-25 Violence and intimacy were critically intertwined at all stages of the settler colonial encounter and yet we know surprisingly little of how they were connected in the shaping of colonial economies Extending a reading of economies as labour relations into new arenas this innovative collection of essays examines new understandings of the nexus between violence and intimacy in settler colonial economies of the British Pacific Rim The sites it explores include cross cultural exchange in sealing and maritime communities labour relations on the frontier inside the pastoral station and in the colonial home and the material and emotional economies of exploration Following the curious mobility of texts objects and frameworks of knowledge this volume teases out the diversity of ways in which violence and intimacy were expressed in the economies of everyday encounters on the ground In doing so it broadens the horizon of debate about the nature of colonial economies and the intercultural encounters that were enmeshed within them

The Reef Iain McCalman, 2014-05-20 Stretching 1 400 miles along the Australian coast and visible from space the Great Barrier Reef is home to three thousand individual reefs more than nine hundred islands and thousands of marine species and has alternately been viewed as a deadly maze an economic bounty a scientific frontier and a precarious World Heritage site Now the historian and explorer Iain McCalman takes us on a new adventure into the reef to reveal how our shifting perceptions of the natural world have shaped this extraordinary seascape Showcasing the lives of twenty individuals spanning more than two centuries The Reef highlights our profound desire to conquer understand embrace and ultimately save the world's most complex ocean ecosystem Opening with the story of Captain James Cook who sailed unknowingly into the southwest entrance of this vast network of coral outcroppings McCalman shows how Cook spent months navigating this treacherous underwater labyrinth struggling to keep his crew alive and his ship afloat sparring with deceptive shoals and wary native islanders Through a series of dramatic tales from intrepid explorers unwitting castaways inquisitive naturalists enchanted artists and impassioned environmentalists who have collectively shaped our ideas about the Great Barrier Reef McCalman demonstrates how this grand natural wonder of the world was built as much by human imagination as by the industrious beautiful creatures of the sea A romantic historically significant book and a deeply personal journey into the heart of a marine environment in peril The Reef powerfully captures the delicate relationship between humanity and the natural world

The Explorer in English Fiction Peter Knox-Shaw, 1986-12-03

Finding Eliza Larissa Behrendt, Fiona Foley, 2024-06-04 Aboriginal lawyer writer and filmmaker Larissa Behrendt has long been fascinated by the story of Eliza Fraser who was purportedly captured by the Butchulla people after she was shipwrecked on their island off the Queensland coast in 1836 In this deeply personal book Behrendt uses Eliza

s tale as a starting point to interrogate how Aboriginal people and indigenous people of other countries have been portrayed in their colonisers stories Exploring works as diverse as Robinson Crusoe and Coonardoo Behrendt looks at the stereotypes embedded in these accounts including the assumption of cannibalism and the myth of the noble savage Ultimately Finding Eliza shows how these stories not only reflect the values of their storytellers but also reinforce those values and how in Australia this has contributed to a complex racial divide

The Pirate Queen Barbara Sjöholm, 2015-04-07 The Pirate Queen begins in Ireland with the infamous Grace O Malley a ruthless pirate and scourge to the most powerful fleets of sixteenth century Europe This Irish clan chieftain sea captain and pirate queen was a contemporary of Elizabeth I a figure whose life is the stuff of myth Regularly raiding English ships caught off Ireland's west coast O Malley was purported to have fought the Spanish armada just hours after giving birth to her son She had several husbands in her lifetime and acquired lands and castles that still dot the Irish coastline today But Grace O Malley was not alone Since ancient times women have rowed and sailed commanded and fished built boats and owned fleets As pirate captain's wives lighthouse keepers and sailors in disguise they've explored coastlines and set off alone across unknown seas Yet their incredible contributions have been nearly erased from the history books In The Pirate Queen Barbara Sjöholm brings some of these extraordinary women back to life taking the reader on an unforgettable journey from the wild Irish coast to the haunting Scandinavian fjords in this meticulously researched colorfully written and truly original work

Writing Architectures Hélène Frichot, Naomi Stead, 2020-10-29 Architects and fiction writers share the same ambition to imagine new worlds into being Every architectural proposition is a kind of fiction before it becomes a built fact likewise every written fiction relies on the construction of a context in which a story can take place This collection of essays explores what happens when fiction experimental writing and criticism are combined and applied to architectural projects and problems It begins with ficto criticism an experimental and often feminist mode of writing which fuses the forms and genres of essay critique and story and extends it into the domain of architecture challenging assumptions about our contemporary social and political realities and placing architecture in contact with such disciplines as cultural studies literary theory and ethnography These sixteen newly written pieces have been selected for this volume to show how ficto critical writing can be a powerful vehicle for creative architectural practice providing new opportunities to explore modes of writing about architecture both within and beyond the discipline The collection represents a broad range of geographical and cultural positions including indigenous and non Western contexts and includes a foreword and afterword by important thinkers in the domains of architectural criticism Jane Rendell and cultural studies ethnography Stephen Muecke

Cannibalism and Common Law Brian Simpson, 2003-08-02 Cannibalism and the Common Law is an enthralling classic of legal history It tells the tragic story of the yacht Mignonette which foundered on its way from England to Australia in 1884 The killing and eating of one of the crew Richard Parker led to the leading case in the defence of necessity R v Dudley and Stephens It resulted in their being convicted and sentenced to death a sentence subsequently commuted In this tour de force Brian Simpson sets the legal proceedings in their broadest historical context providing a detailed account of the events and characters involved and of life at sea in the time of sail Cannibalism and the Common Law is a demonstration that legal history can be written in human terms and can be compulsive reading This brilliant and fascinating book a marvelous example of careful historical detection and first class legal history written by a master      Writing the Nation Cynthia Vanden Driesen, 2009-01-01 The time for new approaches to White's work is overdue Central to the present study are Edward Said's ideas about the role of the intellectual and the writer of speaking truth to power and also the importance of tracing the affiliations of a text and its embeddedness in the world This approach is not incompatible with Jung's theory of the great artist and his capacity to answer the deep seated psychic needs of his people White's work has contributed in many different ways to the writing of the nation The spiritual needs of a young nation such as Australia must also comprehend its continual urge towards self definition Explored here is one important aspect of that challenge white Australia's dealings with the indigenous people of the land tracing the significance of the Aboriginal presence in three texts selected from the oeuvre of Patrick White Voss 1957 Riders in the Chariot 1961 and A Fringe of Leaves 1976 Each of these texts interrogates European culture's denigration of the non European Other as embedded in the discourse of orientalism One central merit of White's commanding perspective is the constant close attention he pays to European hubris and to the paramount autonomy of indigenous culture There is evidence even of a project which can be articulated as a search for the possibility of white indigeneity the potential for the white settler's belonging within the land as does the indigene      Gothic Images of Race in Nineteenth-Century England Howard L. Malchow, 1996 In pursuing the sources for late eighteenth and nineteenth century demonization of racial and cultural difference this book moves back and forth between the imagined world of literature and the real world of historical experience between fictional romance and what has been called the parallel fictions of the human sciences of anthropology and biology The author argues that the gothic genre and its various permutations offered a language that could be appropriated consciously or not by racists in a powerful and obsessively reiterated evocation of terror disgust and alienation But he shows that the gothic itself also evolved in the context of the brutal progress of European nationalism and imperialism and absorbed much from them This book explores both the gothicization of race and the racialization of the gothic as inseparable processes      Coterminous Worlds, 2020-10-12 The present collection of essays endeavours to furnish informed responses to central questions posed by the editors Is the fact that the marvellous coexists with the factual and never resolves itself into the supernatural an indication that the whole literary project of magical realism is an instrumental and representational form which can be regarded as particularly suitable for reconciling dichotomies and oppositions otherwise experienced as intolerable Was magical realism an explosive process in cultural dynamics taking place at intersections of heterogeneous cultures most favourable to the efflorescence of this type of literature The authors of the various essays on

Patrick White and David Malouf Ben Okri Syl Cheney Coker Robert Kroetsch Gwendolyn MacEwan Jack Hodgins Salman Rushdie Janet Frame Wilson Harris and others provide a dynamic focus on the reality at stake beneath the surface representations of magical realism in post colonial literatures      In the Eye of the Beholder Barbara Dawson, 2014-11-19

This book offers a fresh perspective in the debate on settler perceptions of Indigenous Australians It draws together a suite of little known colonial women apart from Eliza Fraser and investigates their writings for what they reveal about their attitudes to views on and beliefs about Aboriginal people as presented in their published works The way that reader expectations and publishers requirements slanted their representations forms part of this analysis All six women write of their first hand experiences on Australian frontiers of settlement The division into adventurers Eliza Fraser Eliza Davies and Emily Cowl and longer term settlers Katherine Kirkland Mary McConnel and Rose Scott Cowen allows interrogation into the differing representations between those with a transitory knowledge of Indigenous people and those who had a close and more permanent relationship with Indigenous women even encompassing individual friendship More pertinently the book strives to reveal the aspects largely overlooked in colonial narratives of Indigenous agency authority and individuality
