World Nuala Finnegan, Dylan Brennan, 2016-05-05 Though primarily known for his haunting enigmatic novel Pedro Páramo and the unrelenting depictions of the failures of post-revolutionary Mexico in his short story collection El Llano en llamas Juan Rulfo also worked as scriptwriter on various collaborative film projects and his powerful interventions in the area of documentary photography ensure that he continues to inspire interest worldwide Bringing together some of the most significant names in Rulfo scholarship this anthology engages with the complexity and diversity of Rulfo's cultural production The essays in the collection bring the Rulfo texts into dialogues with other cultural traditions and techniques including the Japanese Noh or mask plays and modernist experimentation in the Irish language They also deploy diverse theoretical frameworks that range from Roland Barthes work on studium and punctum in photography to Henri Lefebvre's ideas on space and spatiality and the postmodern insights of Jean Baudrillard on the nature of the simulacrum and the hyperreal In this way innovative approaches are brought to bear on the Rulfo texts as a way of illuminating the rich tensions and anxieties they evoke about Mexico about history about art and about the human condition Tríptico para

Tomadas: Monsters and Metaphors on the Periphery of Latin American Literature and Media Carlos A. González, 2025-04-30 Casas Tomadas: Monsters and Metaphors on the Periphery of Latin American Literature and Media examines how Latin American writers, filmmakers, and artists use monstrosity to reflect on marginalization, identity, and social trauma. This volume brings together close analyses of literature, film, and visual art from across Latin America, exploring how the monstrous symbolizes resistance to cultural, political, and historical oppression. Organized into four sections: Night Lights, In the Grip of Monsters, Echoes in the Darkness, and Sinister Spaces, the book offers case studies on works by Mariana Enríquez, Samanta Schweblin, Issa López, and others. Each chapter reveals how monsters, from mythic figures to supernatural landscapes, serve as potent metaphors for issues like queer and feminist activism, postcolonial haunting, and socio-political violence. Contributors engage with genres from horror and the Gothic to speculative fiction, situating monstrosity within Latin American experiences of violence, trauma, and resilience. Distinct for its interdisciplinary approach, Casas Tomadas will serve as a key resource for students and researchers in Latin American Studies, Cultural Studies, and Gothic and Horror Studies. Its focused structure makes it ideal for classroom adoption, while its fresh perspectives on Latin American Gothic and the politics of monstrosity offer new insights for scholars in queer and postcolonial theory.

Ecological Crisis and Cultural Representation in Latin America Mark Anderson, Zélia M. Bora, 2016-10-04 Worldwide environmental crisis has become increasingly visible over the last few decades as the full scope of anthropogenic climate change manifests itself and large-scale natural resource extraction has expanded into formerly remote areas that seemed beyond the reach of industrialization. Scientists and popular culture alike have turned to the term Anthropocene to capture the global scale of environmental and even geological transformations that humans have carried out over the last two centuries. The chapters in Ecological Crisis and Cultural Representation in Latin America examine the dynamics and interplay between local cultures and the expansion of global capitalism in Latin America, emphasizing the role of art in bearing witness to and generating awareness of environmental and social crises but also its possibilities for formulating solutions. They take particular care to draw out the ways in which local environmental crises in Latin American nations are witnessed and imagined as part of a global system.

focusing on the problems of time scale and complexity as key terms in conceiving the dimensions of crisis At the same time they question the notion of the Anthropocene as a species wide human historical project making visible the coloniality of natural resource extraction in Latin America and its dire effects for local people cultures and environments Taking an ecocritical approach to Latin American cultural production including literature film performance and digital artwork the chapters in this volume develop a notion of ecological crisis that captures not only its documentary sense in the representation of environmental destruction the degradation of the oikos but also the crisis in the modern worldview logos that the acknowledgment of crisis provokes In this sense crisis is also the promise of a turning point of the possibilities for change Latin American representations of ecological crisis thus create the conditions for projects that decolonize environments developing new sustainable ways of conceiving of and relating to our world or returning to old ones

Cooptation, Complicity, and Representation Shigeko Mato, 2010 Is the affiliation between intellectuals and hegemony unbreakable When intellectuals attempt to retell history from its bottom side or when writers try to represent the so called marginalized subject are they not simply reinforcing the perspective and agenda of society's hegemonic currents Cooptation Complicity and Representation engages in a discussion of the problem of this potentially unbreakable affiliation between intellectuals and hegemony Through five twentieth century Mexican literary works Pedro Páramo 1955 Juan Rufo Hasta no verte Jesús mío 1969 Elena Poniatowska three short stories from Ciudad Real 1960 Rosario Castellanos Llanto Novelas imposibles 1992 Carmen Boullosa and Muertos in modos falta lo que falta 2005 Subcomandante Marcos and Paco Ignacio Taibo II this book attempts to examine the contradictory phenomenon that emerges when intellectuals desire to represent a marginalized subject or history clashes with their own limited ability to fully know the marginalized No critics have compiled these five seemingly unrelated Mexican texts in order to scrutinize such a contradictory tendency Cooptation Complicity and Representation provides an innovative way to connect the five texts by delineating within specific Mexican historical and geopolitical contexts how and why intellectuals have difficulty moving away from the reproduction of otherness when they attempt to represent a marginalized subject or history This book can be useful for those who are interested in the Spanish American boom literature twentieth century Mexican literature women writing testimonial writing subaltern studies postcolonial studies historical novels and cultural studies
