Et Al (Symposia Studies Series : 1 ,1959 Africa's Development Impasse Stefan Andreasson,2010-02-11 Orthodox strategies for socio economic development have failed spectacularly in Southern Africa Neither the developmental state nor neoliberal reform seems able to provide a solution to Africa's problems. In Africa's Development Impasse, Stefan Andreasson analyses this failure and explores the potential for post-development alternatives. Examining the post-independence trajectories of Botswana, Zimbabwe and South Africa, the book shows three different examples of this failure to overcome a debilitating colonial legacy. Andreasson then argues that it is now time to resuscitate post-development theory's challenge to conventional development. In doing this, he claims, we face the enormous challenge of translating post-development into actual politics for a socially and politically sustainable future and using it as a dialogue about what the aims and aspirations of post-colonial societies might become. This important fusion of theory with empirical case studies will be essential reading for students of development politics and Africa.

Political Economy of Colonial Relations and Crisis of Contemporary African Diplomacy Kelechi Johnmary Ani, 2023-07-25 The book presents a historical account of the colonial foundation of African economy and diplomacy. It reveals how the colonial companies and their agents penetrated different parts of Africa and entrenched Western colonialism and imperialism. Ironically, the arrival of these colonial companies became a driver of colonial labour migration as the educated and few privileged African people have to move towards the location of the colonial companies in order to eke out improved standard of living. It presents the dynamics of import and export trade as promoted by the colonial companies. Consequently, the second part of the book raised the nature of relations amongst some independent African states. First, it reveals the deep-rooted challenge of poverty, migration problem, xenophobia in South Africa and resource conflicts within sovereign border areas of Nigeria and Cameroon as well as the Ethiopian dam crisis with Egypt as some negative effects of colonialism on some African states. Secondly, it advocated for the advancement of African sports diplomacy, balancing of Chinese-African trade diplomacy and improved labour migration within Africa as some paths to sustainable diplomacy in the continent.

Understanding the Political Economy of Contemporary Africa - Samir Amin - Abstract, 1 2014 The Theoretical Model of Capital Accumulation in the Contemporary World. The aim of this study is to show that there is a basic difference between the model of the accumulation of capital and economic and social development that is characteristic of an autocentric system and that of a system in the periphery. As we have shown, this adjustment, which indeed corresponds to the history of the accumulation of the industrial revolution at the time of the 1930 crisis, a history marked by the economic cycle, is now more complex because the influence of this secondary effect in wage variations on the choice of techniques is responsible for the suboptimal character of the economic system. This is not the place to develop the history of the shaping of the periphery to the requirements of the centre.

The integration into the world system of countries that have become under developed is at the origin of a specific contradiction of the system that tends to become its main contradiction on the one hand it created the objective conditions of a need for development which is felt as such by the peoples of the periphery but on the other hand it blocks the road for these countries to achieve a full A surplus could here be extracted from the labour of the peasants and from the wealth offered by nature without investments of modernisation no machines or fertilizer without genuinely paying for the labour reproducing itself in the framework of the traditional self sufficiency without even guaranteeing the maintenance of the natural conditions of reproduction of wealth pillage of the agrar

“Pan” Africa Rising Rita Kiki Edozie, 2017-09-08 This book uses Nigeria s Afri capitalist and South Africa s Ubuntu Business models as case studies that reconcile the tension between Africa Rising and Pan African economics presenting their convergence as Africa s viable Third Way route to global development In presenting Afri capitalism and Ubuntu Business as national business sector manifestations of a new Pan Africanism the author explores Africa s culturalist path in engaging the international political economy This is an African customized engagement that parallels the alternative models of China s market socialism and Latin America s 21st C Socialism All present alternatives to realist liberal and structuralist standpoints inclining instead toward constructivist political economies derived from the perspectives and subject conditions of African economic histories socio cultures alternative modernities and agent led initiatives

Contemporary South Africa and the Political Economy of Regional Development Methembe Mdlalose, Isaac Khambule, Nene Ernest Khalema, 2025-02-21 South Africa s struggle in balancing its domestic needs while playing a dynamic developmental role in the African region and global context exposes a complex web of relations shaped by its geostrategic location on the continent and the world and the staggering legacies of colonialism and apartheid As such understanding the complexities of the global economy and of South Africa s place in it is of great importance This book builds upon an existing body of literature which has demonstrated that while the post apartheid South African state has recast its nation building goals with advances having been made notably in the area of a stellar post apartheid constitution policy directives and democratic political integration economic integration and policy implementation presents a projection of captured interests where big business concerns are entrenched in the post apartheid state s apparent neo liberal turn The main focus of the book is to contextualise issues relating to three main trends in global discourses on development which are significant for South Africa and indeed for the study of the political economy of regional development in the country from the prism of South Africa as a global capitalist state These trends include the impact of globalisation regionalisation and the marginalisation of South Africa and indeed the African continent in the global economy thus unpacking the possible role that South Africa might play in regional development This volume will be a valuable resource to academics researchers and students in the fields of regional studies economics and political theory as well as policymakers planners and local economic development practitioners
