J. Low and F. S. Pulling* English history, 1897 Hollywood and History Jem Duducu, 2023-09-15 There is no shortage of Hollywood films about historical events but what do the movies actually get right and why do they get so much wrong Hollywood loves a story good guys versus bad guys heroes winning the day and the guy gets the girl But we all know real life isn't exactly like that and this is even more true when we look at history Rarely do the just prevail and the three act story cannot exist over continents and decades of human interaction So when Hollywood decides to exploit history for profit we end up with a wide array of films Some are comedies like Monty Python and the Holy Grail others are little more than action films playing dress up like Gladiator and many are Oscar contenders burdened with an enormous sense of self importance But very few are historically accurate From Cleopatra to Da 5 Bloods the reality is no matter what Hollywood's intentions are almost all historical films are an exaggeration or distortion of what really happened Sometimes the alterations are for the sake of brevity as watching a movie in real time about the Hundred Years War would literally kill you Other additions may be out of necessity since nobody thought to write down the everyday conversations between King Henry VIII and his second wife Anne Boleyn for The Other Boleyn Girl And some projects twist the facts to suit a more sinister purpose In Hollywood and History Jem Duducu takes readers through thousands of years of global history as immortalized and ultimately fictionalized by Hollywood exploring many facets of the representation of history in movies from the medieval times to the wild west and both World Wars Along the way readers will also better understand Hollywood's own history as it evolved from black and white silent shorts to the multiplex CGI epics of today As studios and audiences have matured through the years so too have their representations of history Armies will clash leaders will be slain empires will fall and a few historical inaccuracies will be pointed out along the way A must read for film and history fans alike Past and Present James Chapman,2005-09-23 This ground breaking book takes as its focal point director Ken Loach s view that The only reason to make films that are a reflection on history is to talk about the present In the first book to take on this major genre in all its complexity James Chapman argues that historical films say as much about the times in which they are made as about the past they purport to portray Through in depth case studies of fourteen key films spanning the 1930s up to the turn of the twenty first century from The Private Life of Henry VIII and Zulu to Chariots of Fire and Elizabeth Chapman examines the place of historical films in British cinema history and film culture Looking closely at the issues that they present from gender class and ethnicity to militarism and imperialism he also discusses controversies over historical accuracy and the ways in which devices such as voice overs title captions and visual references to photographs and paintings assert a sense of historical verisimilitude Exploring throughout the book the dialectical relationship between past and present Chapman reveals how such films promote British achievements but also sometimes question them and how they project images of Britishness to audiences both in the UK and internationally Universal biography John Lempriere,1808 Transatlantic Crossings Sarah Street,2002-01-01 Transatlantic Crossings is the first major study of the distribution and exhibition of British films in the USA Charting the cross cultural reception of many British films Sarah Street draws on a wide range of sources including studio records film posters press books and statistics While the relative strength of Hollywood made it difficult for films that crossed the Atlantic Streets research demonstrates that some strategies were more successful than others She considers which British films made an impact and analyzes conditions that facilitated a positive reception from critics censors exhibitors and audiences Case studies include Nell Gwyn 1926 The Private Life of Henry VIII 1933 The Ghost Goes West 1935 Henry V 1946 Black Narcissus 1947 The Red Shoes 1948 Ealing comedies The Horror of Dracula 1958 Tom Jones 1963 A Hard Days Night 1964 Goldfinger 1964 The Remains of the Day 1993 Four Weddings and a Funeral 1994 and Trainspotting 1996 Against a background of the economic history of the British and Hollywood film industries Transatlantic Crossings considers the many fascinating questions surrounding the history of British films in the USA their relevance to wider issues of Anglo American relations and to notions of Britishness on screen Cases of Intervention Marie Hologa,2013-08-19 Cases of Intervention offers new perspectives on the case study as a research tool with a long standing tradition in British cultural studies Despite this significance it has hardly ever been explicitly reflected upon as a method but in this volume it takes centre stage Scholars from interdisciplinary fields have written succinctly on diverse topics the eleven case studies are comprehensible and lucid applications of theoretical approaches to topics such as the British cup of tea CCTV and monarchs on film This book will give readers the opportunity to discover the broad spectrum of approaches that make British cultural studies an indispensable discipline for discourses in academia and beyond Each case study presented here illuminates the relationship between cultural practices and theory By choosing cases embedded in everyday life the focus of each contribution is on the potential of pragmatic intervention
