Conceptualising Reflection In Teacher Development James Calderhead, Peter Gates, 2003-09-02 Reflection has become widely recognised as a crucial element in the professional growth of teachers Terms such as reflective teaching enquiry orientated teacher education teachers as researchers and reflective practitioner have become quite prolific in discussions of classroom practice and professional development It is frequently presumed that reflection is an intrinsically good and desirable aspect of teaching and teacher education and that teachers in becoming more reflective will in some sense be better teachers though such claims have been rarely subject to detailed scrutiny Each of the chapters in this book is concerned with exploring the concept of reflection and considering its contributions to teacher education The papers range across different stages of professional development some focusing in particular on pre service education others on in service or professional development generally Some of the papers are concerned with particular strategies for promoting reflection and how they might operate in a teacher education context others dwell more upon a theoretical appreciation of how reflection facilitates in the processes of professional development and how it relates to issues of quality in teacher education

The Reflective Museum Practitioner Laura Martin, Lynn Uyen Tran, Doris Ash, 2019-06-06 The Reflective Museum Practitioner explores a range of expansive and creative ways in which the concept of reflective practice has been applied in the informal STEM science technology engineering and mathematics learning environments of museums and zoos It seeks to demonstrate how such a process can inspire lifelong learning in practitioners to the benefit of practitioners and visitors alike Presenting six projects that employed reflective practice the contributors examine how each project has encouraged and sustained reflection and the outcomes thereof The projects cover a wide range of different practitioners including administrators scientists educators and other front line and back room staff who work at different junctures of their organizations Collectively they raise key questions about changing communities of practice in Informal Science Learning institutions The projects and concept of reflective practice are fully defined and contextualized by the editors who offer in depth analysis along with a cultural historical activity theory framework for understanding how changes in museum practice unfold in an institutional context The Reflective Museum Practitioner offers museum professionals insight into reflective practice as practiced by other institutions in their sector providing practical examples that can be adapted to their needs It will also be of interest to scholars and students focusing on science museums or professional practice development in museums

A Rhetoric of Reflection Kathleen Yancey, 2016-08-15 Reflection in writing studies is now entering a third generation Dating from the 1970s the first generation of reflection focused on identifying and describing internal cognitive processes assumed to be part of composing The second generation operating in both classroom and assessment scenes in the 1990s developed mechanisms for externalizing reflection making it visible and thus explicitly available to help writers Now a third generation of work in reflection is emerging As mapped by the contributors to A Rhetoric of Reflection this iteration of research and practice is taking up new questions in new sites of activity and with new theories It comprises attention to transfer of writing knowledge and practice teaching and assessment portfolios linguistic and cultural difference and various media including print and digital It conceptualizes conversation as a primary reflective medium both inside and outside the classroom and for individuals and collectives and articulates the role that different genres play in hosting reflection Perhaps most important in the work of this third generation is the identification and increasing appreciation of the epistemic value of reflection of its ability to help make new meanings and of its rhetorical power for both scholars and students Contributors Anne Beaufort Kara Taczak Liane Robertson Michael Neal Heather Ostman Cathy Leaker Bruce Horner Asao B Inoue Tyler Richmond J Elizabeth Clark Naomi Silver Christina Russell McDonald Pamela Flash Kevin Roozen Jeff Sommers Doug Hesse
