Western Cavaliers Albert Henry Redford,1876      Language Death in the Isle of Man George Broderick,2011-05-02 Language death is an aspect of language contact which has occupied the interest of linguists from the past twenty five years or so Although the phenomenon of language death is occurring all over the world very few instances of it have been dealt with both from a sociolinguistic and formal linguistic standpoint Those that spring to mind are the works of Nancy Dorian on East Sutherland Gaelic and Hans J rgen Sasse on the Albanian dialect of Arvan tika in Greece In both instances it is dialects of languages that are treated and not complete languages themselves The study of language death in the Isle of Man deals with the decline and extinction of Manx Gaelic as a community language and as a language in its own right After setting the scenario of language death this study then looks into the sociolinguistic reasons which led to the decline and death of Manx in Man There then follows a detailed look into the study of language and language use in Man from early observations to the present day This section includes a detailed description of phonetic and sound recordings made of Manx over the period This leads to an in depth study into the formal linguistic situation of Manx tracing the development in its phonology morphophonology morphology morphosyntax and syntax idiom and lexicon which ultimately led to its demise As language revival is in itself a facet of language death the study concludes with a short excursus into the various efforts at language revival and maintenance in Man from the latter part of the 19th century to the present day The appendices include Professor Carl Marstrander s diary of his visits to Man 1929 33 published for the first time The diary contains percipient observations of the state of Manx in its final phase In short this study looks in some detail into the mechanics of language death on a once thriving and vibrant community language      A Networked Self and Birth, Life, Death Zizi Papacharissi,2018-08-06 We are born live and die with technologies This book is about the role technology plays in sustaining narratives of living dying and coming to be Contributing authors examine how technologies connect disrupt or help us reorganize ways of parenting and nurturing life They further consider how technology sustains our ways of thinking and being hopefully reconciling the distance between who we are and who we aspire to be Finally they address the role technology plays in helping us come to terms with death looking at technologically enhanced memorials online rituals of mourning and patterns of grief enabled through technology Ultimately this volume is about using technology to reimagine the art of life      Howell's Annotated Statutes of the State of Michigan Michigan,Andrew Howell,1914      Maryland Digest Annotated, Covering All Reported and Many Unreported Decisions, from 1 Harris and McHenry to 123 Maryland ... Under the American Digest Classification Samuel Want,J. Mercer Garnett (Jr.),Daniel List Warner,1915      Ethical Dimensions of Geriatric Care S.F. Spicker,S.R. Ingman,Ian Lawson,1987-10-31 There is both a timeliness and a transcendent rightness in the fact that scholars clinicians and health professionals are beginning to examine the ethics based components of decision making in health care of the elderly Ethics as the discipline concerned with right or wrong conduct and moral duty pervades hospital rooms nursing home corridors physicians offices and the halls of Congress as decisions are made that concern the allocation of health related services to individuals and groups in need In particular care of older persons recently has received disproportionate attention in discussions of ethics and clinical care Age alone of course should not generate special focus on ill individuals about whom concerns arise based on value conflicts tacitly involved in the delivery of health care Having said that age is not the principal criterion for attention to ethics based concerns in health care it must be acknowledged that old people have a high prevalence of conditions that provoke interest and put them in harm's way if value conflicts are not identified and seriously addressed Issues that concern autonomy the allocation of scarce resources inter generational competition and conflict the withholding of treatment in treatable disease and substitute and proxy decision making for the cognitively impaired all have special relevance for older persons
