Sacred Objects in Secular Spaces Bruce M. Sullivan, 2015-10-22 We have long recognized that many objects in museums were originally on display in temples shrines or monasteries and were religiously significant to the communities that created and used them How though are such objects to be understood described exhibited and handled now that they are in museums Are they still sacred objects or formerly sacred objects that are now art objects or are they simultaneously objects of religious and artistic significance depending on who is viewing the object These objects not only raise questions about their own identities but also about the ways we understand the religious traditions in which these objects were created and which they represent in museums today Bringing together religious studies scholars and museum curators Sacred Objects in Secular Spaces is the first volume to focus on Asian religions in relation to these questions The contributors analyze an array of issues related to the exhibition in museums of objects of religious significance from Hindu Buddhist and Sikh traditions The lives of objects are considered along with the categories of sacred and profane religious and secular As interest in material manifestations of religious ideas and practices continues to grow Sacred Objects in Secular Spaces is a much needed contribution to religious and Asian studies anthropology of religion and museums studies

Sacred Sites, Sacred Places David L. Carmichael, Jane Hubert, Brian Reeves, Audhild Schanche, 2013-04-15 Sacred Sites Sacred Places explores the concept of sacred and what it means and implies to people in differing cultures It looks at why people regard some parts of the land as special and why this ascription remains constant in some cultures and changes in others Archaeologists legislators and those involved in heritage management sometimes encounter conflict with local populations over sacred sites With the aid of over 70 illustrations the book examines the extreme importance of such sacred places in all cultures and the necessity of accommodating those intimate beliefs which are such a vital part of ongoing cultural identity Sacred Sites Sacred Places therefore will be of help to those who wish to be non destructive in their conservation and excavation practices This book is unique in attempting to describe the belief systems surrounding the existence of sacred sites and at the same time bringing such beliefs and practices into relationship with the practical problems of everyday heritage management The geographical coverage of the book is exceptionally wide and its variety of contributors including indigenous peoples archaeologists and heritage professionals is unrivalled in any other publication

Religious Objects in Museums Crispin

Paine,2020-05-14 In the past museums often changed the meaning of icons or statues of deities from sacred to aesthetic or used them to declare the superiority of Western society or simply as cultural and historical evidence The last generation has seen faith groups demanding to control their objects and curators recognising that objects can only be understood within their original religious context In recent years there has been an explosion of interest in the role religion plays in museums with major exhibitions highlighting the religious as well as the historical nature of objects Using examples from all over the world Religious Objects in Museums is the first book to examine how religious objects are transformed when they enter the museum and how they affect curators and visitors It examines the full range of meanings that religious objects may bear as scientific specimen sacred icon work of art or historical record Showing how objects may be used to argue a point tell a story or promote a cause may be worshipped ignored or seen as dangerous or unlucky this highly accessible book is an essential introduction to the subject

Law and Religion in Europe Norman Doe,2011-08-04

Each state in Europe has its own national laws which affect religion and these are increasingly the subject of political and academic debate This book provides a detailed comparative introduction to these laws with particular reference to the states of the European Union A comparison of national laws on religion reveals profound similarities between them From these emerge principles of law on religion common to the states of Europe and the book articulates these for the first time It examines the constitutional postures of states towards religion religious freedom and discrimination and the legal position autonomy and ministers of religious organizations It also examines the protection of doctrine and worship the property and finances of religion religion education and public institutions and religion marriage and children as well as the fundamentals of the emergent European Union law on religion The existence of these principles challenges the standard view in modern scholarship that there is little commonality in the legal postures of European states towards religion it reveals that the dominant juridical model in Europe is that of cooperation between State and religion The book also analyses national laws in the context of international laws on religion particularly the European Convention on Human Rights It proposes that national laws go further than these in their treatment and protection of religion and that the principles of religion law common to the states of Europe may themselves represent a blueprint for the development of international norms in this field The book provides a wealth of legal materials for scholars and students The principles articulated in it also enable greater dialogue between law and disciplines beyond law such as the sociology of religion about the role of religion in Europe today The book also identifies areas for further research in this regard pointing the direction for future study

Sacred Space in Israel and Palestine Marshall J. Breger, Yitzhak Reiter, Leonard Hammer, 2013-06-19 Religion and religious nationalism have long played a central role in many ethnic and national conflicts and the importance of religion to national identity means that territorial disputes can often focus on the contestation of holy places and sacred territory Looking at the case of Israel and Palestine this book highlights the nexus between religion and politics through the process of classifying holy places giving them meaning and interpreting their standing in religious and civil law within governmental policy and within international and local communities Written by a team of renowned scholars from within and outside the region this book follows on from Holy Places in the Israeli Palestinian Conflict Confrontation and Co existence to provide an insightful look into the politics of religion and space Examining Jerusalem's holy basin from a variety of perspectives and disciplines it provides unique insights into the way Jewish Christian and Muslim authorities scholars and jurists regard sacred space and the processes grass roots and official by which spaces become holy in the eyes of particular communities Filling an important gap in the literature on Middle East peacemaking the book will be of interest to scholars and students of the Middle East conflict conflict resolution political science urban studies and history of religion

The Making of a Postsecular Society Massimo Rosati, 2016-03-03 Drawing on the thought of Durkheim this volume focuses on societal changes at the symbolic level to develop a new conceptualisation of the emergence of postsecular societies Neo Durkheimian categories are applied to the case of Turkey which in recent years has shifted from a strong Republican and Kemalist view of secularism to a more Anglo Saxon perspective Turkish society thus constitutes an interesting case that blurs modernist distinctions between the secular and the religious and which could be described as postsecular Presenting three symbolic case studies the enduring image of the founder of the Republic Atatürk the contested site of Ayasofia and the remembering and commemoration of the murdered journalist Hrant Dink The Making of a Postsecular Society analyses the cultural relationship that the modern Republic has always had with Europe considering the possible implications of the Turkish model of secularism for a specifically European self understanding of modernity Based on a rigorous construction of theoretical categories and on a close scrutiny of the common challenges confronting Europe and its Turkish neighbour long considered other with regard to the accommodation of religious difference this book sheds light on the possibilities for Europe to find new ways of arranging the relationship between the secular and the religious As such it will appeal to scholars of social theory the sociology of religion secularisation and religious difference and social change American Sacred Space David Chidester,Edward T. Linenthal,1995-11-22 In a series of pioneering studies this book examines the creation and the conflict behind the creation of sacred space in America The essays in this volume visit places in America where economic political and social forces clash over the sacred and the profane from wilderness areas in the American West to the Mall in Washington D C and they investigate visions of America as sacred space at home and abroad Here are the beginnings of a new American religious history told as the story of the contested spaces it has inhabited The contributors are David Chidester Matthew Glass Edward T Linenthal Colleen McDannell Robert S Michaelsen Rowland A Sherrill and Bron Taylor
