Silent Service The Inside Story Of The Royal Navys Submarine Heroes:

The Silent Service John Parker, 2013-02-28 One of the great untold stories of the British services is that of the Royal Navy Submarine Service which entered the fray in World War I with 100 underwater craft Through World War II where submariners prospects of returning safely from a mission were only 50 50 the Falklands conflict and the sinking of the Belgrano to present day elite machines the Silent Service has played an enormous part in British defence John Parker s in depth investigation is very much personality led with diaries from the early part of the century to substantial first person testimony from survivors of wartime heroics when many VCs were won

The Royal Navy in the Falklands Conflict and the Gulf War Alastair Finlan, 2004 This book provides an insight into the relationship between the Royal Navy s institutional culture and modern warfare with specific reference to the Falklands Conflict and the Gulf War

Poseidon Steven R. Schwankert, 2013-10-01 Royal Navy submarine HMS Poseidon sank in collision with a freighter during routine exercises in 1931 off the Chinese coast Thirty of its fifty six man crew scrambled out of the hatches as it went down Of the twenty six who remained inside eight attempted to surface using an early form of diving equipment five of them made it safely to the surface in the first escape of this kind in submarine history and became heroes The incident was then forgotten eclipsed by the greater drama that followed in World War II until news emerged that for obscure reasons the Chinese government had salvaged the wrecked submarine in 1972 This lively account of the Poseidon incident tells the story of the accident and its aftermath and of the author s own quest to discover the shipwreck and its hidden history

King George V-Class Battleships Daniel Knowles, 2022-04-08 Following the First World War the major naval powers entered into an agreement restricting the construction of capital ships and limiting the numbers that signatories were allowed to maintain so numerous ships were scrapped or disposed of and the majority of planned vessel were either cancelled whilst being built or never laid down By the late 1920s the Royal Navy s battle force comprised of the two Nelson class ships the battlecruisers Hood Renown and Repulse and Revenge and Queen Elizabeth class ships all designed before the First World War In 1928 the Royal Navy began planning a new class of battleships which was put on hold with the signing of the Treaty of London In 1935 realising its battle fleet was becoming dated as other nations laid down new classes of battleships the Royal Navy recommenced planning capital ships within treaty limitations The result was the King George V class battleships Regarded by some as the worst new generation battleships in the Second World War the King George V class were Britain s most modern battleships during the conflict and saw action in some of the most famous engagements from the sinking of the Bismarck in 1941 to the surrender of Japan in 1945 This book charts the story of the King George V class from its conception and design through to the operational history of the ships in the class

Fremantle's Submarines Michael Sturma, 2015-09-15 From unpromising beginnings in March 1942 the Allied submarine base at Fremantle on the west coast of Australia became a vital part of the Allied offensive against Japan Pushed back from the Philippines and the Netherlands East Indies American submariners accompanied by a small group of Dutch forces retreated to Fremantle as a last resort. The location was chosen for its good harbor and the fact that it was outside the range of land-based Japanese aircraft. Unfortunately, the base was also far from their patrol areas and supply lines, and it was difficult to reinforce should the enemy attack. Thanks largely to a welcoming civilian population, morale quickly improved. The hospitality and sense of belonging fostered by Western Australians became legendary among Allied submariners and remains central to their wartime memories. Perhaps as a result of such a positive experience, the Allied forces became much more successful in combat. Intertwining social and military history, Fremantle's Submarines relates how courage, cooperation, and community made Fremantle arguably the most successful military outpost of World War II from the standpoint of troop morale. Death at a Distance Michael Sturma, 2013-07-31 Only seven U.S. submariners earned the Medal of Honor in World War II. Sam Dealey, the USS Harder's commander, was one of them. His honor was awarded posthumously after the entire crew was lost off Bataan during a depth charge attack in August 1944 by a Japanese convoy. The Harder's fighting spirit is legendary, and its record of sinking a total of eighteen enemy ships with a tonnage in excess of 55,000 made Dealey one of the top five submarine skippers in the war. During a single patrol, his crew sank five enemy destroyers in five short-range torpedo attacks, an unprecedented feat. In addition, the Harder played important roles in rescue missions, extracting secret operatives deep in enemy territory and saving downed pilots. Drawing on previously untapped sources, Michael Sturma, an Australian teaching at Murdoch University, details several daring missions, one that involved the heroic Australian commando Bill Jenkins, and puts the Harder's action in the context of the overall Pacific campaign. In doing so, the author adds not only significant information to the Harder's story but also provides a fresh perspective on the submarine war. The Oxford Handbook of Grand Strategy Thierry Balzacq, Ronald R. Krebs, 2021 The Oxford Handbook of Grand Strategy addresses the conceptual and historical foundations, production, evolution, and future of grand strategy from a wide range of standpoints. Task Force John Parker, 2013-02-28 The Royal Navy at the start of the twenty-first century had undergone the most remarkable transformation. The Fleet is today the smallest since the start of the Napoleonic wars, as surface vessels are no longer viable as a principal line of defence. That preserve is now in the hands of Britain's nuclear-armed submarine fleet, well chronicled in THE SILENT SERVICE, and the Air Force as outlined in STRIKE COMMAND. This book will complete the triangle of our essential military might, telling the story of today's sea-going, ultra-mobile, rapid-reaction missile and aircraft-carrying task force. John Parker includes personal interviews from the men and women who have served in the Senior Service to bring his story vividly to life. The Silent Service's First Hero Ryan C. Walker, 2024-11-30 A comprehensive microhistorical exploration of Henry Breault's life, celebrating his legacy as the first submariner to receive the Congressional Medal of Honor. Celebrating 100 years since the first submariner received the Congressional Medal of Honor, we dive into pre-World War II submarine history through the first comprehensive analytical investigation into the life and times of Henry Breault. From 1900-41, Breault's life is reconstructed.

as lived through his Official Military Personnel File census records newspaper clippings and connecting previous research Breault's childhood his enlistments in the Royal Navy Canadian Volunteer Reserve and the United States Navy are carefully reconstructed From there the conditions aboard the submarines he served on his relationship with friends and family his relationship to the women in his life and his concept of masculinity and material identity allow us to better understand his life in the context he likely understood them This book provides a new template for microhistorical observations into subjects whose primary sources are official military documentation to help better understand enlisted submariners
