Silver Flood:

God Dominating All Realms Yuan Jing, 2019-11-21 If I were a god there would be no evil under the heavens If I become a demon I ll slaughter all the gods I am a Fiendgod There is no longer any difference between the heavens and the earth Stepping into the sky to become a god purgatory to become a devil all within a single thought Book of English Epithets, literal and figurative, with elementary remarks and minute references to authorities James JERMYN, 1849 Book of English Epithets, Literal and Figurative James Jermyn, 1840 The Poetical Works of Alexander Pope Alexander Pope, 1853 THE WORKS OF ALEXANDER POPE Alexander Pope, 2024-02-24 I am inclined to think that both the writers of books and the readers of them are generally not a little unreasonable in their expectations The first seem to fancy that the world must approve whatever they produce and the latter to imagine that authors are obliged to please them at any rate Methinks as on the one hand no single man is born with a right of controlling the opinions of all the rest so on the other the world has no title to demand that the whole care and time of any particular person should be sacrificed to its entertainment Therefore I cannot but believe that writers and readers are under equal obligations for as much fame or pleasure as each affords the other Every one acknowledges it would be a wild notion to expect perfection in any work of man and yet one would think the contrary was taken for granted by the judgment commonly passed upon poems A critic supposes he has done his part if he proves a writer to have failed in an expression or erred in any particular point and can it then be wondered at if the poets in general seem resolved not to own themselves in any error For as long as one side will make no allowances the other will be brought to no acknowledgments The Rape of the Lock, and Other Poems Alexander Pope, 1806 The First [-sixth] Part of Miscellany Poems John Dryden, 1727 The poetical works Alexander Pope, 1807 The Shorter Poems of Alexander Pope: Containing Pastorals, Elegy, Prologue to Cato ... to which is Prefixed a Sketch of the Author's Life Alexander Pope, 1797 Pt. 1-6. The First (-sixth) Part of Miscellany Poems ... Publish'd by Mr. Dryden. The Fourth Edition , 1727
