Losing Alexandria A Memoir:

Losing Alexandria Victoria Anna Thompson, 1998 This memoir interweaves fact myth and memory and deals with the author's childhood in Alexandria after WW1 and her subsequent life in Australia Describes her career as an actor and psychotherapist and her relationship with friends family lovers and husband

Losing Alexandria Victoria Thompson, 1998 Victoria Thompson fuses history mythology and autobiography to create a portrait of an unforgettable city and one of its rebellious daughters A world few of us know and fewer still have lived

Alexandrian Cosmopolitanism Hala Halim, 2013-09-19 Interrogating how Alexandria became enshrined as the exemplary cosmopolitan space in the Middle East this book mounts a radical critique of Eurocentric conceptions of cosmopolitanism The dominant account of Alexandrian cosmopolitanism elevates things European in the city's culture and simultaneously places things Egyptian under the sign of decline The book goes beyond this civilization barbarism binary to trace other modes of intercultural solidarity Halim presents a comparative study of literary representations addressing poetry fiction guidebooks and operettas among other genres She reappraises three writers C P Cavafy E M Forster and Lawrence Durrell who she maintains have been cast as the canon of Alexandria Attending to issues of genre gender ethnicity and class she refutes the view that these writers' representations are largely congruent and uncovers a variety of positions ranging from Orientalist to anticolonial The book then turns to Bernard de Zogheb a virtually unpublished writer and elicits his camp parodies of elite Levantine mores in operettas one of which centers on Cavafy Drawing on Arabic critical and historical texts as well as contemporary writers and filmmakers' engagement with the canonical triumvirate Halim orchestrates an Egyptian dialogue with the European representations

Historians in Cairo George T. Scanlon, 2002 There can be few if any historians working in the wide field of Middle East Studies and certainly none in the world of Islamic art and architecture who are unacquainted with historian and archaeologist George Scanlon At different times from the mid 1950s to the present day he has lived worked and studied in Egypt For a major part of that period he has been associated with the American University in Cairo where he is currently professor of Islamic art and architecture in the Department of Arabic Studies Although diverse in subject matter the essays collected here in his honor together present a composite picture of Cairo and more broadly of Islamic history and culture from early medieval times to the present day As such they provide a fitting tribute to one of the most eminent of scholars in the field Some contributors are one time students of Professor Scanlon others are colleagues who over the years have worked with him in Egypt the United States or Britain The essays themselves reflect the wide variety of sources contributors have drawn on from international Islamic collections and archives for topics that range broadly from medieval artifacts architecture and society to current issues of law literature philosophy and urban change

Kevin Kearney Brody T. Lorraine, 2007-09-17 Kevin Kearney Audio Artist Sound Designer Location Sound Recordist follows the growth of television television commercial production and filmmaking in Australia The extremely small population of Australia up to the seventies allowed a major crossover in the arts between poets musicians writers experimental filmmakers and entrepreneurs which in turn influenced the work of audio artists like Kearney in both their commercial and personal film work Moreover because there is a paucity of information and very few books available on such people as audio artists sound designers and location sound recordists this book and the following volume will be invaluable to those interested in analogue sound on film production period
