ambitious government programs meant to reinforce the country's identity as a modern sophisticated and autonomous nation. As well, it documents the demise of a singular notion of modern life and its replacement with a focus on personal identity and consumerism. Changes in the 1960s included the building of modern airports, first space satellite and new national symbols such as the maple leaf flag. Canadians embraced this heightened sense of individuality and demanded products that were equally individual. As a result, pop culture objects sat on cool furniture influenced by Scandinavian modernism while handmade crafts reflected a growing concern with environmental issues. Expo 67 was the turning point, one final expression of optimism before Canada was rocked by social change and varied struggles for identity. Made in Canada examines national dreams and expressions of individuality in thoughtful and illuminating essays. Contributors include Sandra Alföldy, NSCAD University; Paul Bourassa, Musée des beaux-arts de Québec; Brent Corder, designer and educator, Toronto; Douglas Coupland, artist and author, Vancouver; Bernard Flaman, Government of Saskatchewan; Rachel Gotlieb, freelance curator and writer, Toronto; Michael Large, Sheridan College; Institute of Technology and Advanced Learning; and Michael Prokopow, Design Exchange.
