Mother Tongue and Other Tongues Shula Wilson, Ali Zarbafi, 2021-07-28 We are living in times where the issue of identity and difference has taken on a more defensive hue The tide is turning towards an inward looking nostalgia of sameness based on fear rather than on understanding The experience of hearing another language the way it is spoken and being faced with the image of the other is now more complex imbued with projections of powerlessness fear terrorism and survival The issue of identity appears to have become even more complex All cultures are concerned with how we speak and communicate as this represents identity history and home Communication is also essential for survival both emotionally and socially The speaking person is an individual but also part of a culture or cultures with dense collective and individual shapes The issue of identity that feeling of belonging is essential full of possibility and at times very uncomfortable as it touches the tensions between who we are and who we are becoming This sits next to more complex historical experiences and memories of languages and cultures being changed or lost or banished due to the colonial imperial and regional moves of powerful nations in search of conquest and economic gain This collection addresses how language affects therapists and their patients and how it can be understood culturally and therapeutically Drawn from talks given at the Multi lingual Psychotherapy Centre MLPC the contributors not only bring a therapeutic slant but also their other roles as academics writers and artists These reflections memories and stories give a glimpse of the multilingual journey the MLPC has been exploring for over twenty years and leave much food for thought The book contains contributions from Cedric Bouet Willaumez Giselle China Patricia Gorringer Natsu Hattori Monique Morris Esti Rimmer and Edna Sovin

Globalization and Children Natalie Hevener Kaufman,Irene Rizzini,2007-05-08 ALLISON JAMES Globalization seems to be the word on everyone s lips with politicians as much as academics extolling its benefits as well as its contradictions For some globali tion means in practice that whether in Bangkok or Boston in London or Rio as travelers from wealthy countries they can be sure to find the beer the pizzas and the jeans that they can at home they can be both at home and away simulta ously For others though globalization has had rather different often less bene cial consequences In their everyday lives people have come to find themselves tied in albeit in often unseen ways into larger economic and political systems over which they have no control yet these systems cause radical changes often for the worse rather than the better in the pattern of their daily lives And it is those who have least voice whose lives are usually affected the most In this book attention is drawn systematically really for the first time to a consideration of how processes of globalization variously impact upon the lives of children Such an approach is not only most welcome in the field of childhood studies but also long overdue It will at last enable us to begin to contextualize in a broader framework some of the many issues to do with children's rights and participation which have long been discussed as separate and discrete issues within childhood studies

Jungian Analysts Working Across Cultures Catherine Crowther, Jan Wiener, 2021-05-31 Jungian Analysts Working Across Cultures From Tradition to Innovation gives a fascinating account of the wide variety of experiences of Jungian analysts working in different cultures across the world They describe and reflect on experiences of both offering and receiving training within these cross cultural partnerships This is a book not only about training but is also an enlightening cultural commentary for our times The powerful bi directionality of cultural influence and discovery is apparent in different ways in every chapter prompting a re appraisal of concepts essential to the core values of Jungian practice which show an outdated adherence to culture bound attitudes The publication of this book is a timely reminder that when Jungian analysis as we know it is floundering in some Western countries new projects in countries seeking to develop an analytic culture give hope for sustaining our professional practice

Psychoanalysis and Literature, Marilyn Charles, 2015-03-25 Psychoanalysis offers many concepts that are extremely useful clinically but not always accessible in the original In Psychoanalysis and Literature The Stories We Live Marilyn Charles pairs case vignettes with examples from literature to highlight the essential human struggles that play out in the consulting room This pairing depathologizes those struggles and offers a conceptual framework that can help the clinician facilitate these journeys of discovery Describing first how literature affords an opportunity for vicarious engagement with struggles endemic to the human condition she then focuses on trauma dreams and cultural collisions turning more explicitly to the developmental challenges of identity relatedness aging and generativity Psychoanalysis and Literature is accessible relevant and timely

Diversity, Discipline and Devotion in Psychoanalytic Psychotherapy Gertrud Mander, 2018-04-17 This book is a selection of papers written over 25 years of practising psychoanalytic psychotherapy of training and supervising psychotherapists psychodynamic counsellors and supervisors It reflects a preoccupation with the growth and diversification of counselling and psychotherapy with the imperatives of training supervision and regulation and with the significant changes in the profession due to the invention of brief time limited intermittent and recurrent psychotherapy An overall theme is the conviction that what patients and therapists share is vulnerability and that the therapist is a wounded healer whose reparative tendency informs his professional choice his therapeutic empathy and his capacity to bear the rigours of therapeutic work Thus an unconscious connection between the helper and the helped is the driving force of every therapeutic relationship for better and for worse Its responsible management requires thorough training ongoing supervision and a firm frame in order to contain the powerful forces operating when two strangers meet for the purpose of therapy
