Ugolini,2016-05-16 The history of the First World War continues to attract enormous interest However most attention remains concentrated on combatants creating a misleading picture of wartime Britain one might be forgiven for assuming that by 1918 the country had become virtually denuded of civilian men and particularly of middle class men who or so it seems volunteered en masse in the early months of war In fact the majority of middle class and other men did not enlist but we still know little about their wartime experiences Civvies thus takes a different approach to the history of the war and focuses on those middle class English men who did not join up not because of moral objections to war but for other much more common reasons notably age family responsibilities or physical unfitness In particular Civvies questions whether if servicemen were the apex of manliness were middle class civilian men inevitably condemned to second class unmanly status
